FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Fifth Sunday In Ordinary Time—February 8, 2026

Dear Parishioners,

I recently reflected about my first pastorate at St. Clotilde (1993-1999) located at 84th and Calumet Avenue in Chicago's Chatham neighborhood, when I read about the 50th Anniversary of Mahalia Jackson's death. Mrs. Jackson lived down the block from the church at 8358 South Indiana Avenue until her death in 1972.

The gospel legend purchased a seven-room, brick ranch-style house in 1956, becoming one of the first African Americans to move into the area, which led, I was told, to significant racial harassment at the time.

Former Senator Roland Burris now resides there.

During my time as pastor, I was invited by Judge George N. Leighton (1912–2018) to his home, again a few blocks from the church for a drink. Along with his wife, Virginia Quivers Leighton, they were active in the different ministries of the parish in their younger days. She died in 1992, shortly before I was made pastor. The judge told me that evening we were together that he served on the Archdiocesan Finance Committee having been invited by then Cardinal Joseph Bernardin, Archbishop of Chicago.

He was a distinguished Black federal judge and civil rights advocate in Chicago, Appointed by President Nixon to the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois in 1976. He was a pioneering jurist who fought to desegregate juries and schools, and served until 1987.

Judge Leighton was the first African-American to serve on the Illinois Appellate Court (1969) before his appointment to the federal bench in 1976.

After he left the bench, he continued practicing law until 2011. He passed away in 2018 at the age of 105. In 2012, Chicago's main criminal courthouse, located at 22nd and California, became the Honorable George N. Leighton Criminal Court Building.

You may ask who else made up the parish community? It was mostly African-American school principals, teachers, City of Chicago Police and Fire Officers, a few police commanders and fire chiefs, City Department Heads, bankers (Northern Trust V.P.), small business owners, and regular folk from various backgrounds. Some were born and raised Catholic (mostly Creole from Louisiana), and others were recent Baptist converts which made it complicated to please various styles of worship on Sunday Morning.

For example: The church sacristan's husband was a pharmacist who used to own a Drug Store in Bronzeville before his death. The Superintendent of the Police for the City of Chicago was Terry Hillard, who was appointed by Mayor Richard M. Daley. His home was another one I visited during my time.

By the way, one of the biggest fundraisers of the year was the Holy Name Seafood Gumbo Dinner.

Some may ask, "Was it a safe neighborhood? I would say it was safe during the day, seniors by the hundreds would walk the track at the Nat King Cole Park a half a block away. I would regularly jog to the Chicago State University and back. I would jog through Jackson Park and swim off the point and at the Stony Island YMCA. Around the church proper was very safe, but as you moved further away, a mile or two, you could run into trouble.

We had a school of 220 by the time I left after arriving with an enrollment of 170. There was deferred maintenance, like in most parishes in which there was a leaking roof and rotten school windows to name a few of the items that needed attention, and so there was a need for major fundraisers. It was certainly a very challenging time for me to live and work in the community for the first time of my life, especially as an inexperienced pastor. But, after awhile, we came together to make parish life grow in so many ways.

I have fond memories of my time there. In fact, I met my lake swimming buddy Mick at St. Clotilde. We would swim off the point at 55th street. Just recently, I reconnected with John, the young man who was the Community Organizer at the time, and who later got his PHD from the University of Chicago and is a professor at Brown University.

Deacon Greg Kandra wrote this reflection about Mahalia Jackson in the January Edition of "Give us This Day," which prompted my trip down memory Lane. Below, are some interesting facts on the late Mahalia Jackson:

Blessed Among Us — Mahalia Jackson, Gospel Singer (1911-1972)

Mahalia Jackson, known as the "Queen of Gospel," died fifty years ago today on January 27, 1972. Born to a poor family in New Orleans, she fund her calling at Mount Mariah Baptist Church, where she began singing in the choir. After moving to Chicago, she met the famous Gospel choir leader Thomas Dorsey and began to tour. Gradually her reputation spread throughout the country, and indeed the world. She became the first Gospel singer to perform at Carnegie Hall.

Despite her fame, she constantly confronted prejudice. In the 1950s, Martin Luther king Jr. invited her to help raise money for the Montgomery Bus boycott. From that time on, she was always available whenever King called. Sometimes, when feeling low, he would ask her to sing his favorite song, "Take My Hand, Precious Lord," a song she would later sing at his funeral. She hoped her music would "break down some of the hate and fear that divide the white and black people of this country."

In Fact, Jackson played a significant role in King's most famous oration. She was at his side in 1963, performing on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial during the famous March on Washington. As King approached the conclusion of his written speech, Jackson called out "Tell them about the dream, Martin." At this point, King departed fro his speech to deliver the historic lines that became a signature of his legacy.

"After you sing the blues, you still have the blues. I sing God's music because it makes me feel free."

—Mahalia Jackson

Hymnal Dedication Form

The time has come for St. Patricia Parish to purchase new hymnals. Our current hymnals are over 30 years old and since the implementation of Revised Order of Mass in 2010, large sections of our hymnals are out of date. We have made do until now with printouts for our cantors to lead parishioners, but the time has come to eliminate the clutter, add some exciting new music to our parish repertoire, and update our well-worn hymnals.

We invite parishioners to take part in a lasting dedication that will serve St. Patricia Parish for generations to come. We will be purchasing 500 hymnals for the pews, along with choir books and accompaniment editions for our instrumentalists. This renewal of books will be fulfilled by the end of the Lenten season. Parishioners are invited to dedicate each one in memory of a loved one or in honor of family and friends. We ask for a donation of $35/Dedication. These hymnals will become a permanent part of our parish's worship life—for decades to follow—making this a significant opportunity to leave an enduring mark on the prayer and song of our community.
