Saint Charles Borromeo was born on October 2, 1538 at the castle of Arona on Lake Maggiore near Milan. At the age of 12, the young Count Charles Borromeo dedicated himself to a life of service to the Church. The young count suffered from a speech impediment that made him appear slow to those who did not know him. Despite this challenge, he performed well and impressed his teachers. In 1554 his father passed away and the responsibility for his household fell to him. Charles continued in his studies and earned a doctorate in canon and civil law. Life sped up for the young count after his uncle, Cardinal Giovanni Angelo Medici became Pope Pius IV on December 25, 1559. The new pope asked his nephew to come to Rome and appointed him as a cardinal-deacon. A month later, Pope Pius IV made his nephew a cardinal. The young Borromeo used his leadership role in the Vatican to promote learning and he established a literary academy. He wrote of some of the lessons and lectures in the book, Noctes Vaticanae. Borromeo was appointed administrator of the Archdiocese of Milan in 1560. In 1561.His strategy was to provide education to many clergy he saw as ignorant. In 1583, Archbishop Borromeo traveled to Switzerland and began work suppressing heresy there. He founded the Collegium Helveticum to serve and educate Swiss Catholics. In 1584, he became ill with a fever. When it was obvious he would die, he was given his last Sacraments. He died on November 3, at the age of 46. He was beatified on May 12, 1602 by Pope Paul V. He was subsequently canonized by Pope Paul V on November 1, 1610.
