MULL-ING THINGS OVER

Advent arrives this weekend. Once again, we hear the call of the Church, quiet down, take a deep breath, the excitement of pre-Christmas is here – but so too is Advent. There is always a quiet type of conflict which arrives with Advent. On the one hand there is much to do – write those Christmas cards, decorate the house, do the Christmas shopping, go to the parties, and make Christmas happen. On the other hand, there is the Church's call to quiet down, remember the real reason we celebrate Christmas, pray and get caught up in the mystery of the Christmas Feast. The Church wants us to be joyful and happy but also wants us to deepen our awareness of where we come from and where we are going. Advent is a wonderful time of year for us as it adds depth to our life's meaning and all that we do.

I am sure you have noticed the changing of the season. Our wonderful October/November weather is at an end. Those sunny warm days colored with beautiful trees changing colors, and all the beautiful scenery updates New York has to offer has given birth to stone-grey trees naked of leaves, summer/fall flowers no longer blooming, cold wind blowing and winter scenes soon approaching. The seasons are changing and Advent reminds us we are changing. What we were last Christmas we are not this Christmas. The hopes and dreams have been slightly colored by health events, family events, society changes and life in general. But guess what, God has not changed. One of the essential messages of the Advent Season is the constancy of God. God is always there for us.

Mother Nature herself calls us to take a moment and appreciate all that is happening around us. In homes we have an Advent Wreath. It is circular to reflect the on-going nature of God, no beginning no end. It is made of evergreen to remind us of the permanence of God. We have four candles ready to be lit. We light one each week to signal one step closer to Christmas. While we light the candle, we remember our ancestors who waited for the Savior. They did not know when He was coming, they did not know where He was coming from. God said, however, I will send a Savior and God told the truth!

While we light the Advent Wreath, we pray for ourselves, our family and our friends. We should also pray for other families, people we don't know, people who are less fortunate, as well as the people who are receiving gifts from the Giving Tree. Jesus came into this world for all of us. God loves all of us and we are God's family, and he wants us to love each other. Advent prepares us to pray for each other so that we can celebrate the holiday as one big family. Then one day we become the huge eternal family. A blessed Advent to you all, I am praying for you!

BLESSING AND LIGHTING OF THE FIRST CANDLE OF ADVENT

(As the family gathers around the Advent Wreath for the first time) Bless, O lord, (+) this wreath of evergreen. May it remind us of the freshness of God and his everlasting love for us. It is Advent, Christmas will soon be here.

(As the first candle is lighted)

As we light this first candle of Advent may we be reminded that God gave us light to guide us in darkness. God gave us light to brighten our world. God gave us light to remind us that we are called to be "Light of the World." May we light up these Advent days for everyone with whom we have contact. We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Stewardship Reflection

"Be watchful! Be Alert! You do not know when the time will come." (Mark 13:33)

We all take things for granted. In particular, we take time for granted. We make our lives too busy. We plan our days, weeks, months, even years in advance. Remember, our time on earth is a gift. None of us knows how long we will be here. Start living stewardship by thanking God for each and every day. Take time in silence, every day, and listen to how God is calling you right now to help build His kingdom on earth.

Mission Statement

We profess our belief that Christ sent His Spirit to bestow gifts on His followers according to their part in car- rying out His mission. We are committed to be visible signs to each other, and to our community, of Christ's Presence among us: proclaiming and evangelizing the Gospel, witnessing to God's love according to the Roman Catholic Church's teaching; ministering to the needs of all; and, fostering the spiritual life and growth among parishioners.

From Father George:

This week, we'll take a look at mental prayer. As I mentioned before, mental prayer is distinguished from vocal prayer in that vocal prayer involves speaking to God with words (whether out loud or silently), whereas mental prayer is more like simply lifting your mind to the Lord. With mental prayer, we acknowledge that our relationship with the Lord should not simply involve us speaking to Him but should also include time just to be with Him. Mental prayer can be divided into two kinds: meditation and contemplation.

While mental prayer does not involve reciting words, meditation still involves active effort on our part. Simply put, Christian meditation involves thinking about the truths of the faith in search of a deeper understanding of God and how His revelation applies to our own lives. Note that Christian meditation is not the same as Eastern meditation. Eastern meditation often involves attempting to empty the mind of all thought, with the goal of losing self-awareness. This is actually unnatural and precisely the opposite of what Christian meditation tries to accomplish. Although Christians might take a moment at the beginning of meditation to calm our mind and let go of any distractions we might be carrying with us, that is only so we can fill our mind with thoughts of God.

A common form of Christian meditation is called lectio divina, which is Latin for divine reading. It works like this: you take a short passage of Scripture (the Gospel reading from the Mass for the day is often a good option), and you read it very slowly, almost one word at a time. If at any point something seems to jump out at you, stop and reflect. Think about what the Lord might be trying to say to you. After a moment, start reading the passage again. Something different might jump at you this time (or perhaps the same thing again). If that happens, stop and reflect again. The typical advice is to do this a total of three times. However, that's not a requirement. If one pass through the Scripture gives you enough to reflect on, that's totally fine. Or, if you feel called to read through the passage more than three times, that's fine too. Also, if you get through the whole passage without anything jumping out at you, just pick something to reflect on. It's all God's Word, so He can speak to us through any of it.

Contemplation is a more passive form of mental prayer. The most important thing to know about contemplation is that it is a grace and a pure gift from God. In contemplation, God suspends our intellect, so to speak, and fixes our mind's eye on Himself. It involves simply sitting in the silent, loving awareness of the Lord's presence, which He has granted us in a way that is deeper than anything we could achieve on our own. As St. Alphonsus Liguori puts it, "In meditation, God is sought after by a discursive effort; in contemplation there is no effort of this kind, as God has been found and is gazed at. Moreover, in meditation the soul acts through the operations of its own faculties; in contemplation, God acts, and the soul merely receives, accepting the gifts infused into it by grace without doing anything itself. For the very divine light and love with which she is then filled render her lovingly attentive to contemplating the goodness of her God, who thus bestows His favor upon her." Usually, God lifts a soul to contemplation after it has already sought Him through meditation. In any event, contemplation requires a soul receptive to God's movements within it.

Christmas / Los Tres Reyes Magos Giving Trees and Tags

Our Giving Trees will be up in the churches from November 28-29 and December 05-06, with all gifts due at the trees by Sunday, December 06 or in the Parish Office by Tuesday, December 08. This allows our partner agencies to meet their respective distribution timelines. There will be trees at both churches with tags on them for senior citizen recipients from UR Medicine Finger Lakes Health Living Center North and South and Seneca Lake Terrace, as well as for children from the Agri-Business Child Development (ABCD), OLP Latino families, and area Farm and Agriculture locations, and our extended parish community.

Please take a tag from the tree. Affix the tag to your package, as this ensures that your gift will be delivered to the correct recipient. Kindly return your wrapped gift to the tree from which you took the tag by Sunday, December 06 or before OR to the Parish Office no later than Tuesday, December 08.

We welcome donations of new and newly-created by our knitters and crocheters hats, gloves, mittens, and scarves, which can be left unwrapped at the trees. These will be given to area residents in need, young and old.

Thank you in advance for your generous blessing and care of our Giving Trees recipients!

Del Padre George:

Esta semana hablaremos de la oración mental. Como mencioné anteriormente, la oración mental se distingue de la oración vocal en que esta última implica hablarle a Dios con palabras (ya sea en voz alta o en silencio), mientras que la oración mental se asemeja más a simplemente elevar nuestra mente hacia el Señor. Con la oración mental, reconocemos que nuestra relación con el Señor no debe limitarse a hablarle, sino que también debe incluir un tiempo para sencillamente estar con Él. La oración mental se puede dividir en dos tipos: meditación y contemplación.

Si bien la oración mental no implica recitar palabras, la meditación sí requiere un esfuerzo activo de nuestra parte. En pocas palabras, la meditación cristiana consiste en reflexionar sobre las verdades de la fe para llegar a comprender más profundamente a Dios y de cómo Su revelación se aplica a nuestras propias vidas. Cabe señalar que la meditación cristiana no es lo mismo que la meditación oriental. La meditación oriental a menudo implica intentar vaciar la mente de todo pensamiento, con el objetivo de perder la conciencia de sí mismo. En realidad, esto es antinatural y precisamente lo opuesto a lo que la meditación cristiana busca lograr. Aunque los cristianos podemos tomarnos un momento al inicio de la meditación para calmar nuestra mente y desprendernos de cualquier distracción que llevemos con nosotros, eso es solo para poder llenar nuestra mente con pensamientos sobre Dios.

Una forma común de meditación cristiana se llama lectio divina, que en latín significa lectura divina. Funciona así: toma un pasaje breve de las Escrituras (la lectura del Evangelio de la misa del día suele ser una buena opción) y lo lee muy lentamente, casi palabra por palabra. Si en algún momento algo te llama la atención, detente y reflexiona. Piensa en lo que el Señor podría estar tratando de decirte. Después de un momento, vuelve a leer el pasaje. Es posible que esta vez te llame la atención algo diferente (o tal vez lo mismo otra vez). Si eso ocurre, detente y reflexiona de nuevo. El consejo habitual es hacerlo tres veces en total. Sin embargo, eso no es un requisito. Si una sola lectura del pasaje de las Escrituras te da suficiente material para reflexionar, está perfectamente bien. O, si te sientes llamado a leer el pasaje más de tres veces, también está bien. Además, si terminas de leer todo el pasaje sin que nada te llame la atención, simplemente elige algo sobre lo que reflexionar. Todo es la Palabra de Dios, así que Él puede hablarnos a través de cualquier parte de ella.

La contemplación es una forma más pasiva de oración mental. Lo más importante que hay que saber sobre la contemplación es que es una gracia y un puro regalo de Dios. En la contemplación, Dios suspende nuestro intelecto, por así decirlo, y fija la mirada de nuestra mente en Él mismo. Consiste simplemente en permanecer sentados conscientes, en silencio y con amor, de la presencia del Señor, que Él nos permite experimentar de una manera más profunda de lo que podríamos alcanzar por nosotros mismos. Como lo expresa San Alfonso de Ligorio: “En la meditación se busca a Dios mediante el esfuerzo del discurso; en la contemplación no hay esfuerzo de esta índole, pues Dios ya ha sido encontrado y es contemplado. Además, en la meditación el alma obra mediante los actos de sus propias potencias; en la contemplación obra Dios, y el alma solamente recibe los dones que le son infundidos por la gracia, sin que ella obre cosa alguna. Pues la misma luz y el amor divinos de los que entonces se ve colmada la hacen estar amorosamente atenta a contemplar la bondad de su Dios, que de este modo la favorece”. Por lo general, Dios eleva un alma a la contemplación después de que ya lo haya buscado a través de la meditación. En cualquier caso, la contemplación requiere que el alma esté abierta a la acción de Dios en su interior.
