30th SUNDAY in ordinary time

Jesus told him, "Go your way; your faith has saved you." Immediately he received his sight and followed him on the way. - Mk 10:52

Excerpts from the Lectionary for Mass ©2001, 1998, 1970 CCD.

Jerry's Journal

Why don't we hear fire and brimstone, give them hell sermons anymore? That's a question frequently asked by a lot of sincere religious people who worry too many priests and deacons have gone soft on sin and are overly-generous in speaking about God's mercy. Their belief is more people would come to church and more people would obey the commandments if we preached the pure, raw truth about the consequences of mortal sin. God's wrath, and the danger of eternal damnation in Hell, could serve as a powerful motivator. The truth will set you free, those who are of this opinion assert, and yes, there is no denying there are real and eternal consequences for sin. The gate to Heaven is narrow and the road the Hell is wide. So why aren't we preaching more about the dangers of perpetual torment and agony?

To some degree, the kind of preaching being asked for can be effective. Threats work. How many people grow up subjected to this type of preaching and upbringing admit it had a real effect on their behavior? Admittedly, it can scare the bejabbers out of folks, but it also can lead someone into being religiously and emotionally crippled in some very deep ways. Simply stated, it's difficult to be intimate friends with a God who frightens you to no end.

So why not preach fear, if not all the time, at least on a more regular basis? Because it's wrong, pure and simple. Brainwashing and intimidation are effective, but fear is not the proper fuel for love. You don't enter into a love relationship because you feel threatened or afraid. You enter a love relationship because you feel drawn there by love.

More importantly, preaching divine threats dishonors the God in whom we believe in. The God whom Jesus incarnates and reveals is not a God who puts sincere, good-hearted people into Hell on the basis of one moral lapse. I believe God looks at the totality of our lives and then, in His divine wisdom, God takes all that into account, and then makes the perfect decision because, after all, God is God and God is perfect. God always makes the right call.

What kind of God would not give a good and sincere person a second-chance, a third-chance or seventy-seven times seven more chances if that person remains sincere? Jesus says as much in the Gospel (Matthew 18:21).

A healthy theology of God demands we stop teaching that Hell can be a nasty surprise awaiting an essentially good person. The God we believe in as Catholics is infinite understanding, infinite compassion, and infinite forgiveness. God's love far exceeds and is far deeper than what we could ever hope to have, even on the best days of our lives. God's love can see the goodness in us despite our lapses and weaknesses. We have nothing to fear from God. Or do we?

The scriptures tell us that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. How does that stand up to not being afraid of God?

To start with, there are different kinds of fears, some of which are healthy, some of which are not. When the scriptures tell us that the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom, the kind of fear it is talking about is not contingent with feeling threatened, anxious or bullied into doing something. There is however a healthy fear that is present when we love someone. When we genuinely love someone we fear ever losing them.

The scriptures tell us that when God appears in our lives, generally the first words we hear are "Do not be afraid!" That's because God is not a judgmental tyrant, but a loving, forgiving and compassionate supreme deity.

We honor God not by living in fear, but in spending our life making the love of God known to others. God is not a law to be obeyed as much as God is a loving Father who calls us to live in relationship as one with Him and to value that relationship over and above all else.

CHILDREN'S CHRISTMAS CHOIR

This year we would like to have a Children's Christmas Choir sing at the 4:00 pm Christmas Eve Mass.

The ages for this group will be 1st through 5th Grade. We will have 6 rehearsal times, and they will all take place before either Religious Education sessions or Home Teach sessions. The dates of the rehearsals are as follows:

- Home Teach: November 10 and December 1 at 5:45 pm.
- Religious Ed: November 29, 30, and December 6, and 7 at 5:30 pm.

Rehearsals are 30 minutes, and attendance at two rehearsals is mandatory. A sign-in sheet will be made available at each rehearsal. If a child misses a rehearsal on their regular CCD night, they may attend one of the other rehearsals and sign-in on the attendance sheet for that evening. On December 24 they will sing at the 4:00 pm Mass, and they must be in church ready to sing by 3:30 pm. We hope that your child will be excited to participate in Music Ministry that day! Watch for more information and details as we get closer to the first rehearsal date, November 10th.

So we see, in today's gospel that we get to meet Bartimaeus who happened to be blind and who was found begging along the roadside. Jesus is travelling by and Bartimaeus cries out to Jesus for help. Jesus responds by calling Bartimaeus over to him. Jesus asks Bartimaeus, "What do you want me to do for you?" Bartimaeus responds, "I want to see." Jesus tells him, "Go on your way your faith has saved you." Bartimaeus' sight is fully restored, instantly, and he began a new journey with Jesus, as he follows him on the way.

Bartimaeus was truly, physically, blind and didn't just have his eyes closed, that is, he was not turning a "blind eye" to others and the issues around him. Bartimaeus wasn't blinded by worldly distractions either.

I'm sure that we realize that there are many forms of blindness beyond physical blindness. I'm writing about other types, such as emotional blindness; like getting so angry we see "red." There can be spiritual blindness, blindness caused by greed, envy, pity, or perhaps prejudice. People can fall prey to one or more of these types of blindness. Some may even be interwoven. All of these are the types of blindness's we need to avoid if we want to follow Jesus.

For now I'm going to focus on spiritual blindness, because spiritual blindness can lead us to experience other types of blindness. We can easily become spiritually blind when things don't seem to go right for us. We get blinded by distractions and stresses at work, at home, even by preoccupation with things and events. Do theses things get in the way of us seeing Jesus. Do we let our prejudices blind us? Can we see Jesus in those who do not look like, act like, or talk like us? Do we let the Holy Spirit guide us and illuminate our way so that we can see properly? Do we allow ourselves to see what the Spirit wants and needs to show us? Do other "colors" blur or cloud our vision: Green or Gold of excessive attachment to money, the Silver of stardom or notoriety, The Red of anger that blocks our ability to reason, the Darkness or black of evil that takes us down wrong paths? Jesus, with the Holy Spirit, can enlighten us and brighten our path by opening our eyes. All we need is faith and determination!

Sometimes I think that people who are physically blind see better than those blessed with 20/20 vision. I also think that ALL of us are blind to a certain extent. That's just part of our human condition. We can't use that as an excuse though. We need to see with the heart of Jesus and open our eyes to Christ's presence in everything we say, do, and see. If we can make the effort to keep our eyes open to the work of the Holy Spirit in us and in the world around us we will be able to see God's...

Peace, Love and Blessings,

Deacon Marc

BECAUSE WE CARE

Are You Burned Out

Feeling stressed at work could lead to burnout. A new study suggests that the reverse may be true as well. Researchers looked at studies on the topic and noticed a trend. Feeling burned out at work led people to feel more stressed in other ways, possibly because everyday tasks became harder to complete or seemed more daunting. Constantly feeling this way can take a toll on your mental and physical health. Check in with yourself: Common signs of burnout include exhaustion from which you can't recover in a night or a weekend. Cynicism reduced performance, and alienation from coworkers are a few more. If you are having these feelings or want to keep them at bay try these tools. BREATHE, close your eyes and take 10 slow deep breaths. This affects you on a biological level. Your brain gets the message that it is ok to disengage the flight or fight response triggered by stress. You will feel relief almost instantly.

UNPLUG: Research shows that spending too much time in front of digital devices can amplify stress and anxiety and decrease happiness. Reverse this by taking a digital break every day. Start with one hour maybe during dinner or before bed. Don't go near your phone, TV or computer. ENGAGE YOUR SENSES. Savor the first bite of food, light a scented candle or dance to a favorite song. Mindfully appreciating these types of moments can help you feel calm.

RECOGNIZE GOD IN ORDINARY MOMENTS

Giving as God does

Ask yourself this question — what would you pray for if you really believed God could and would do anything for you? In my experience, we all have something. We all have that miracle we're afraid to request, afraid we will be disappointed.

Do we doubt God's readiness to give because we ourselves have such an imperfect understanding of charity and love? Maybe if we had better faith in God we would be more ready to give of ourselves — and maybe if we were more ready to give of ourselves, we would understand more clearly the ways of God.

Because we're not really afraid that God can't do something. We know He can do anything. What we're afraid of is that He will do what He always does: give us what we need, not what we want.

Have you ever had a friend in need and you just wanted to give them something — a meal, a phone call, a text? Not because you knew it would help, but simply because you wanted to reach out. And have they ever said to you: It wasn't so much what you gave, but the fact that you did. You gave them what they needed even if it wasn't what they specifically asked for.

When we give in this manner, we are giving as God does. Sometimes we are afraid to ask because we don't want to be disappointed. But remember, the blind man on the road got what he asked for, but he would have gotten what he needed even if his answer had been the opposite. God's generosity is always reckless, and it's always perfect.

YOUTH MINISTRY UPDATE

Faith

Friends

Fun

Weren't able to make the Youth Group Meeting? Here's what you missed:

- We decided to help with Trunk or Treat next Sunday, 10-24-21 at 2 p.m. Costumes optional. This will be our weekly gathering, so no meeting at 5 p.m.
- We will not meet on Halloween, 10-31-21.
- Our next meeting will be 11-7-21 from 5-6 p.m. We will be having a bonfire at the Triner house. Come hungry for hot dogs and s'mores!!
- Topic for discussion was Heaven and Hell. We decided that, as a matter of faith, we believe they exist. Heaven is perfect unity with God and Hell is separation from God. God doesn't condemn people to Hell. Some people choose to separate themselves from God. We do not want to be those people. We cannot earn our way into Heaven, but we can live and love as Jesus taught us and, by the grace of God, we will spend eternity in Heaven. We can receive God's grace through the sacraments.

I know there are lot of demands on your time: family, friends, school, work, social life. You are smart and you know there's more to life than those things. But what? You have questions that can't be googled. But answering them now can change your life.

You may say, "My life is fine. Why change it?" You can live your life angry, frustrated, confused, bored, content, happy or joyful. Where are you? And where do you want to be? Now is the time to rise to the next level, or all the way to the top. Will you invest 1 hour a week in yourself?

Hope to see you at Trunk or Treat! If you can't make it, plan to come to the bonfire!
