Why Forgive? It's Good for Your Health

Although I have always believed that it is important to forgive others, even if it is 70 times x 70, I never thought of forgiveness as a way to improve my health. After all, who hasn't been hurt by the words or actions of another? Being hurt can cause us to feel angry, become anxious and depressed, withdraw from others, and become so wrapped up in the wrong we are suffering that it seems impossible to enjoy the present. Holding a grudge often brings anger and bitterness into our relationships and new experiences.

Dr. Loren Toussaint, Ph.D., a professor of psychology at Luter College in Decorah, Iowa authored a study of 'unforgiveness', and here is what he found. Subjects who chose to continue holding a grudge had heightened levels of cortisol (the stress hormone) which lead to a number of mental and physical health problems. They also were more depressed, had elevated blood pressure readings, a weaker immune system, and low esteem. The individual who chooses not to forgive may be the one who pays most dearly for holding a grudge.

Forgiveness means different things to different people. However, it generally involves a decision to let go of the resentment and hurt inflicted. Forgiveness does not mean forgetting or excusing the actions of the person (or persons) who caused the hurt, but forgiveness provides peace of mind and a way to improved health!

Although forgiveness does not guarantee reconciliation, re-establishment of the broken relationship, or a change in the other person's behavior, it takes away the power that the other person may wield in your life. One does not have to be 'present' to the other person to forgive. As I have scrolled through the incidents of my life, I have forgiven many by just telling God that I forgive them and asking that God bless them. If you have ever held an object so tightly that your hand cramped and locked, forgiving another is akin to opening your hand to relax the muscles that cramped and remove the object you held.

Forgiving someone does not necessarily mean you have to reconcile with them or continue a relationship with them. "Forgiveness is experienced inside one's skin," writes Toussaint. "It is the cleansing of your sense of resentment and allowing you to heal."

As I close this Pastoral Scene, I cannot help but be reminded of the many times Jesus healed others physically, with the opening statement, "Your sins are forgiven." Is it any wonder that medicine today sees the value of forgiveness in our lives? We feel its effects in Confession no matter how long we have been away from the healing touch of Jesus's words and His blessing through the hands of the priest. So, go and be healed!

Forgiving others, and also myself,
Sister Helene

Entrance Chant 818 Here I Am, Lord

First Reading 1 Samuel 3:3b-10, 19

Samuel was sleeping in the temple of the LORD where the ark of God was. The LORD called to Samuel, who answered, "Here I am." Samuel ran to Eli and said, "Here I am. You called me." "I did not call you," Eli said. "Go back to sleep." So he went back to sleep. Again the LORD called Samuel, who rose and went to Eli. "Here I am," he said. "You called me." But Eli answered, "I did not call you, my son. Go back to sleep."

At that time Samuel was not familiar with the LORD, because the LORD had not revealed anything to him as yet. The LORD called Samuel again, for the third time. Getting up and going to Eli, he said, "Here I am. You called me." Then Eli understood that the LORD was calling the youth. So he said to Samuel, "Go to sleep, and if you are called, reply, Speak, LORD, for your servant is listening." When Samuel went to sleep in his place, the LORD came and revealed his presence, calling out as before, "Samuel, Samuel!" Samuel answered, "Speak, for your servant is listening."

Samuel grew up, and the LORD was with him, not permitting any word of his to be without effect.

The Responsorial Psalm Psalm 40:2, 4, 7-10

R. Here am I, Lord; I come to do your will.

I have waited, waited for the LORD,
and he stooped toward me and heard my cry.
And he put a new song into my mouth,
a hymn to our God.

R. Here am I, Lord; I come to do your will.

Sacrifice or offering you wished not,
but ears open to obedience you gave me.
Holocausts or sin-offerings you sought not;
then said I, "Behold I come."

R. Here am I, Lord; I come to do your will.

"In the written scroll it is prescribed for me,
to do your will, O my God, is my delight,
and your law is within my heart!"

R. Here am I, Lord; I come to do your will.

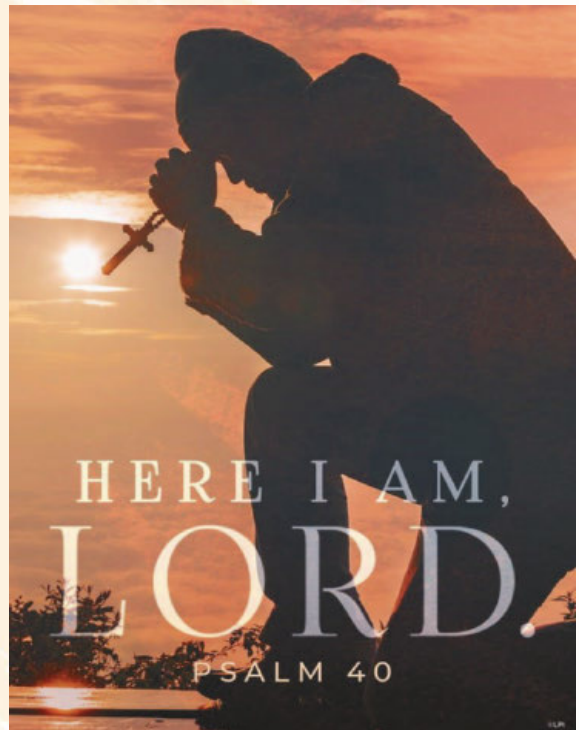

I announced your justice in the vast assembly;
I did not restrain my lips, as you, O LORD, know.

R. Here am I, Lord; I come to do your will.

Second Reading 1 Corinthians 6:13c-15a, 17-20

Brothers and sisters: The body is not for immorality, but for the Lord, and the Lord is for the body; God raised the Lord and will also raise us by his power.

Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? But whoever is joined to the Lord becomes one Spirit with him. Avoid immorality. Every other sin a person commits is outside the body, but the immoral person sins against his own body. Do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God, and that you are not your own? For you have been purchased at a price. Therefore glorify God in your body.

READINGS & SONGS

Gospel John 1:35-42

John was standing with two of his disciples, and as he watched Jesus walk by, he said, "Behold, the Lamb of God." The two disciples heard what he said and followed Jesus. Jesus turned and saw them following him and said to them, "What are you looking for?" They said to him, "Rabbi" — which translated means Teacher —, "where are you staying?" He said to them, "Come, and you will see." So they went and saw where Jesus was staying, and they stayed with him that day. It was about four in the afternoon. Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, was one of the two who heard John and followed Jesus. He first found his own brother Simon and told him, "We have found the Messiah" — which is translated Christ —. Then he brought him to Jesus. Jesus looked at him and said, "You are Simon the son of John; you will be called Cephas" — which is translated Peter.
