Pope Francis words

Today's Gospel passage (Mk 6:30-34) tells us that after their first mission, the Apostles returned to Jesus and told him "all that they had done and taught" (v. 30). After the experience of the mission, which was undoubtedly thrilling but also arduous, they needed to rest. And understanding this well, Jesus wished to give them some relief and said to them, "Come away by yourselves to a lonely place, and rest for a while" (v. 31). But Jesus' intention could not be fulfilled this time because the crowd, guessing the location of the lonely place where he would take the disciples by boat, ran there and got there ahead of them.

The same can happen today. At times we are not able to complete our projects because something urgent and unexpected occurs, disrupting our plans and [this] requires flexibility and being available to the needs of others.

In these situations, we are called to imitate what Jesus did: "As he landed he saw a great throng, and he had compassion on them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd; and he began to teach them many things" (v. 34). With this brief sentence, the Evangelist offers us a flash of singular intensity, taking a snapshot of the eyes of the divine Master and his teaching. Let us observe the three verbs in this frame: to see, to have compassion, to teach. We can call them the Shepherd's verbs. The gaze of Jesus is not a neutral one — or worse, a cold and detached one because Jesus always looks with the eyes of the heart. And his heart is so tender and filled with compassion, that he is able to understand even the most hidden needs of people. Moreover, his compassion does not simply suggest an emotional response toward people in situations of distress. It is much more. It is God's attitude and predisposition toward mankind and its history. Jesus appears as the fulfillment of God's concern and care for his people.

Because Jesus was moved when he saw all those people in need of guidance and help, we would now expect him to perform some miracles. Instead, he began teaching them many things. This is the first bread that the Messiah offers to the starving and lost crowd; the bread of the Word. We all need the Word of truth to guide and illuminate our way. Without the truth which is Christ himself, it is not possible to find the right direction in life. When we distance ourselves from Jesus and his love, we become lost and life is transformed into disappointment and dissatisfaction. With Jesus by our side, we can proceed with confidence and overcome all trials, advancing in love toward God and neighbor. Jesus gave himself for others, thus becoming an example of love and service for each of us.

May Mary Most Holy help us to bear the problems, suffering and difficulties of our neighbors with an attitude of sharing and service.

El Papa Francisco nos habla

El Evangelio de hoy (cf. Marcos 6, 30-34) nos narra que los apóstoles, tras su primera misión, regresaron donde estaba Jesús y le contaron «todo lo que habían hecho y lo que habían enseñado» (v. 30). Después de la experiencia de la misión, ciertamente entusiasta pero también agotadora, tenían necesidad de descanso. Jesús, lleno de comprensión, se preocupa de asegurarles un poco de alivio y dice: «Venid también vosotros aparte, a un lugar solitario, para descansar un poco» (v. 31). Pero esta vez la intención de Jesús no se puede realizar, porque la multitud, intuyendo el lugar solitario hacia donde se dirigía con la barca junto con sus discípulos, corrió hacia allí antes de su llegada. Eso mismo también puede suceder hoy. A veces no logramos realizar nuestros proyectos porque surge un imprevisto urgente que modifica nuestros programas y que exige parte y disponibilidad hacia las necesidades de los demás.

En estas circunstancias estamos llamados a imitar todo lo que hizo Jesús: «Al desembarcar, vio mucha gente, sintió compasión de ellos, pues estaban como ovejas que no tienen pastor, y se puso a enseñarles muchas cosas» (v. 34). En esta breve frase, el evangelista nos ofrece un flash de especial intensidad, fotografiando los ojos del divino Maestro y su actitud. Observemos los tres verbos de este fotograma: ver, tener compasión, enseñar. Los podemos llamar los verbos del Pastor. La mirada de Jesús no es una mirada neutra, o peor, fría o alejada, porque Jesús mira siempre con los ojos del corazón. Y su corazón es tan tierno y está tan lleno de compasión, que sabe acoger las necesidades de las personas que permanecen incluso más escondidas. Además, su compasión no indica simplemente una reacción emotiva frente a una situación de malestar de la gente, sino que va más allá: es la actitud y la predisposición de Dios hacia el hombre y su historia. Jesús aparece como la preocupación y el cuidado de Dios por su pueblo.

Dado que Jesús se conmovió al ver a toda aquella gente necesitada de guía y de ayuda, podríamos esperar de Él que obrara algún milagro. Sin embargo, se puso a enseñarles muchas cosas. He aquí el primer pan que el Mesías ofrece a la multitud hambrienta y perdida: el pan de la Palabra. Todos nosotros tenemos necesidad de palabras de verdad que nos guíen y que iluminen nuestro camino. Sin la verdad, que es Cristo mismo, no es posible encontrar la orientación correcta en la vida.

Cuando nos alejamos de Jesús y de su amor, nos perdemos y la existencia se transforma en desilusión e insatisfacción. Con Jesús al lado, se puede proceder con seguridad, se pueden superar las pruebas, avanzar en el amor hacia Dios y hacia el prójimo. Jesús se hizo don para los demás, convirtiéndose así en modelo de amor y de servicio para cada uno de nosotros.

Que María Santísima nos ayude a hacernos cargo de los problemas, de los sufrimientos y de las dificultades de nuestro prójimo, por medio de una actitud de compartir y de servicio.
