32th Sunday in Ordinary Time

In today's Gospel we find that God is a God of the living, and he is the cause of our hope. Jesus has risen from the dead and has given us hope for the future. We sometimes confuse optimism for hope. Optimism is a human quality, like thinking that the Packers might start to win football games again. Hope is more of a spiritual quality. Hope guides us in making good decisions. Hope guards us in making good choices.

When you donate furniture, household items, clothing and money to St. Vincent de Paul, you give hope to your neighbors who have so little hope. Thank you!

PERSEQUI = Latin for Pursuit

Guy's! Join me in my pursuit - your first question should be, What is Don Patz in pursuit of? First - the definition: pursuit is the action of following someone or something. I am here by giving action to my pursuit (hands on hips and cape flapping in the wind). Pursuit of what you may ask? NOT Pursuit of fame, money or status. What else is there to pursue? So...Whom shall I pursue?! Not the Wife, friends or family.... You guessed it GOD!!! PERSEQUI will be open to all men - we are all starting out as beginners - no experience needed - high school men through men with many years under their belts will be welcomed....Along our way in this journey of our persequi, you will expect to find that you are able to identify the fingerprints of God, catch a glimpse of God's presence and find that your desire to pursue God is being fulfilled moment by moment. To lay our groundwork and invite the guys to get the first book "Plan of Life" Roger J Landry.

1st and 3rd Thursday of the month from 7:00 to 8:00 pm in the Parish hall. (subject to change due to parish events and life).

Men! Please join me! Don Patz.

Dear Parish Family,

This Sunday we begin National Vocations Awareness week. I totally support the promotion of vocations, and as you know, we pray for holy vocations at every Mass. We currently have two traveling chalices going home with families who pray a rosary every day for more holy vocations. My humble opinion is that we don't have vocations to the priesthood, religious life, or holy and virtuous marriages because most people are "unaware" of these vocations. Those who come to Mass every day or every weekend are well aware that we don't have many vocations, and that our priests and religious are spread too thin. Every married couple trying their best to remain faithful to God is often ridiculed or mocked by the secular society, and sadly, even by some members of the Church.

I honestly believe that the lack of vocations is coming from the fact that we've forgotten what faith is all about. We have forgotten that we are pilgrims on a journey towards heaven, and that it is not a "given" that all end up there. Somewhere in the past someone lied to us that everyone ends up in heaven, and because of that lie, we get the idea that sin doesn't matter. If there are no eternal consequences for our sins, then everyone does whatever they want. Our society is so far from God, and in some cases, trying to actively get rid of Him. Some parishes have very few penitents or Confession times. Mass has become a way to serve our own needs; to be entertained, to "get something out of it," to be seen or to see others. If this is the case, why would a young person be willing to give his or her life to the Lord in a sacrificial way, when so many people don't feel there's even a need for this sacrifice?

So what is faith all about? Why are we in such a struggle for vocations to serve God? A huge part of the struggle is the fact that, for the most part, we as a people have forgotten (or don't know how) to embrace and live our faith. The example of the seven brothers in today's first reading is that they were willing to die and be tortured for the faith of their fathers. Courage, bravery, and zeal for God moved them to be faithful in what God commanded. This is why St. Paul encouraged his people by reminding them that God is faithful; "he will strengthen you and guard you from the evil one..." (2 Thes 2:16-3:5). The evil one has led us to live lukewarm lives in the faith. To seek first the things of this world, then family, and then God – if there is anything left. The scandals in the Church, the huge moral problems in society, and the lack of true identity in our humanity are the logical results of this way of thinking. Who of us would be willing to die rather than to offend or betray God? When we let God be the center of our lives, there will be a tremendous number of vocations, because those young people will know that giving their lives is all about God, and not about some selfish desires. Everything we do must be for the sake of God. Everything that the priests and religious do is an effort to worship God and lead others to our merciful Father in heaven! Vocations will flow when we live our faith like all the saints have embraced it and lived it. O God, pour the gifts of faith and courage upon our hearts, that we may respond generously to Your call!

KIDS Corner

Mission of the Week:

I will pray for the
vocations around the world

Prayer:

Dear God I thank you for this new
day. I thank you that you love me and are with me today.

Estimada Familia Parroquial,

Este domingo comenzamos la semana de Concientización Vocacional Nacional. Apoyo totalmente la promoción de las vocaciones y, como saben, rezamos por vocaciones en cada misa. Actualmente tenemos dos cálices viajeros que van a casa con familias que rezan un rosario todos los días por vocaciones. Mi humilde opinión es que no tenemos vocaciones al sacerdocio, a la vida religiosa, ni a los matrimonios santos y virtuosos porque la mayoría de la gente "desconoce" estas vocaciones. Los que vienen a Misa todos los días o todos los fines de semana saben muy bien que no tenemos muchas vocaciones, y que nuestros sacerdotes y religiosos están demasiado estirados. Cada matrimonio que hace todo lo posible por permanecer fiel a Dios a menudo es ridiculizada por la sociedad secular y, lamentablemente, incluso por algunos miembros de la Iglesia. Sinceramente, creo que la falta de vocaciones viene del hecho de que nos hemos olvidado de qué se trata la fe. Hemos olvidado que somos peregrinos en un camino hacia el cielo, y que no es un "hecho" que todos terminen allí. En algún lugar del pasado alguien nos mintió que todos terminan en el cielo, y debido a esa mentira, tenemos la idea de que el pecado no importa. Si no hay consecuencias eternas por nuestros pecados, entonces cada uno hace lo que quiere. Nuestra sociedad está tan lejos de Dios y, en algunos casos, está tratando activamente de deshacerse de Él. Algunas parroquias tienen muy pocos penitentes o tiempos de confesión. La misa se ha convertido en una forma de un egocentrismo humano; entretenerse, "sacar algo de ello", ser visto o ver a los demás. Si este es el caso, ¿por qué un joven estaría dispuesto a dar su vida al Señor de manera sacrificial, cuando tanta gente no siente que haya necesidad de este sacrificio?

Entonces, ¿de qué se trata la fe? ¿Por qué tanta escasez por las vocaciones para servir a Dios? Una gran parte del estrago es el hecho de que, en su mayor parte, nosotros como pueblo hemos olvidado (o no sabemos cómo) abrazar y vivir nuestra fe. El ejemplo de los siete hermanos en la primera lectura de hoy es que estuvieron dispuestos a morir y ser torturados por la fe de sus padres. El coraje, la valentía y el celo de Dios los movían a ser fieles en lo que Dios mandaba. Por eso san Pablo animaba a su pueblo recordándoles que Dios es fiel; "él los fortalecerá y los guardará del mal..." (2 Tes 2,16-3,5). El maligno nos ha llevado a vivir vidas tibias en la fe. Buscar primero las cosas de este mundo, luego la familia y luego a Dios, si es que queda algo de tiempo. Los escándalos en la Iglesia, los enormes problemas morales en la sociedad y la falta de verdadera identidad en nuestra humanidad son los resultados lógicos de esta forma de pensar. ¿Quién de nosotros estaría dispuesto a morir antes que ofender o traicionar a Dios? Cuando dejamos que Dios sea el centro de nuestra vida, habrá un tremendo número de vocaciones, porque esos jóvenes sabrán que dar la vida tiene que ver con Dios, y no con deseos egoístas. Todo lo que hacemos debe ser por el bien de Dios. ¡Todo lo que hacen los sacerdotes y religiosos es un esfuerzo para adorar a Dios y llevar a otros a nuestro Padre misericordioso en el cielo! Las vocaciones fluirán cuando vivamos nuestra fe como todos los santos la han abrazado y vivido. ¡Oh Dios, derrama los dones de la fe y del coraje en nuestros corazones, para que podamos responder con generosidad a Tu llamada!

En Su Sacratísimo Corazón,

Padre José
