My Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Today's feast is the Baptism of the Lord. It's the last day of the Christmas season for the Church. So if you haven't taken down your decorations yet, today is the day!

The place where most Scripture scholars and biblical archaeologists believe Jesus was baptized is called today Qasr el Yahud. It's just above the Dead Sea, which is quite the barren place with no plants, fish or visible signs of life. It's located 1,412 feet below sea level, the lowest elevation on the planet. Does that mean something? Perhaps. I like to think that this spot where Jesus was baptized reveals that he meets the human race at the lowest point of our earthly existence. Amid this lifeless scene, Jesus stands underneath the Father's loving watch and assures us he's with us from our very highs to our very lows.

From the lowest places of our lives, God also invites us as well to stand with Jesus, under God's love and mercy. When we really dare to come close to this unapproachable light, however, we often don't think of ourselves as worthy, and our fear and perhaps shame would have us believe that we don't deserve the washing away of our sins. Today's readings remind us that God loves us not because we are good but because God is good. Jesus came not for the righteous but for sinners like you and me. Living out our baptism means living out our lives knowing that we are loved without reservation and condition. The best way to respond to this is to love others as God loves us.

Jesus descends to the lowest point on earth so that we might know the heights and depths of God's mercy. May we center our lives around this and live out our own baptism by making more visible the invisible heart of God.

Father Brian

GOSPEL MEDITATION

January 9, 2022
The Baptism of the Lord

"We are called to live our baptism every day, as new creatures, clothed in Christ."
— Pope Francis

What reference point do you use when making decisions? Many times, impulse takes control and decisions are made based solely on emotion and desire. We all know that these types of decisions can often get us into trouble. When a person has a confident sense of who they are and a real understanding of what is important and of value, the likelihood of kneejerk impulsive choices diminishes. Baptism gives us what we need to make well informed and purposeful decisions. By this simple gesture, God claims us as His own and provides us with the identity and purpose we need to properly live life.

It is tremendously reassuring, when we truly embrace this revelation and realize that we no longer have to wonder about the purpose of our lives or struggle to find our way. The answer of who we are in God has been given to us. We no longer have to fumble around, trip over ourselves or walk aimlessly about. Issues surrounding the sacredness of life, the meaning of death, the protection of those most vulnerable, care for the weak and the poor, offering hospitality to those in search of a home, the purpose and proper place of work, how to create a just social order, caring for creation, and understanding our roles as heralds and stewards are just a few of the wonderful gifts baptism brings. When we make decisions based on things such as these core Gospel truths we really act as Christ himself, revealing to others the new creations that we are. This is how we live our baptism.

It is difficult to walk against the tide. Yet, that is precisely what baptism calls us to do. Although we are sinners, in need of mercy and far from perfection we are called to order our life and make decisions based upon the wisdom and guidance of Almighty God. He alone is the one who can claim us as His sons and daughters. Standing up for our principles will not make us popular. But who ever said Christianity is a popularity contest? Baptism calls us to stand up for that which goes against the grain of secularism. Standing in line with other sinners, we have our anchor to steady us in the tempests of life and God is very pleased. Forge ahead. There is nothing to fear. ©LPi
