Feast of the Holy Family
December 26, 2021

It was the best of times, and it was the worst of times. Our families can bring out the best and the worst in us. This is true of our families of origin, the current family of which we are a part, the family of our church, our society, and the like. In all of our family experiences, what stands out as our most challenging memory? Everything human can be found on the pages of family life. But there is also a Divine story to be discovered as well. When life gets difficult and perplexing, today's Feast of the Holy Family stands to remind us that it is not just by human effort that we tread treacherous waters. We have to remember and learn from the Divine effort too. We need this perspective if our love lessons are going to be learned completely and well. We are all works in progress, and we all come from homes that are broken by imperfection. In whatever life brings us and in whatever family we find ourselves, may the promptings we feel toward faith and hope lead us to greater love. ©LPI

Did You Know???

How can we model the Holy Family's virtues in our own families?

Pray together – First and foremost, as a Christian family, our goal should be to draw each other closer to Christ. What better way to do so than through prayer? For instance, when we go to church each week to worship God and pray, we are modeling the example of the Holy Family. Likewise, sharing a family meal together and saying grace before eating is modeling the virtues of faithfulness of the Holy Family. And praying before bedtime and giving thanks for our blessings are examples too.

Be Faithful to Your Vocation – Jesus, Mary and Joseph showed faithfulness to their vocation. We can do the same. To illustrate, if you're a mom, offer up your daily chores such as cooking, cleaning, or doing laundry, to the Lord. Above all, try doing your duties without grumbling or complaining. As married couples, we can model faithfulness by showing affection to one another, scheduling alone time, or by praying together. By doing so, we are being faithful to our marriage vocation and honoring the marriage covenant.

Accept Each Other – Oh how harmonious our family life could be if we learn to accept our family members without trying to change them! Just like the Holy Family. And we all have our own unique personalities. Similarly, God has a unique plan and purpose for each member of our family. So, not only do we need to accept God's plan for our own life, but we need to accept that plan for others too.

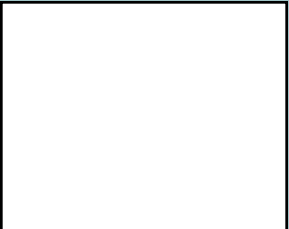

Be Present in Communication – The Holy Family certainly didn't have as many distractions when it comes to communicating as we do today. It's ironic that the very devices we use to communicate, such as cell phones, computers, and tablets, get in the way of us being present in our communication to one another. To emulate the Holy Family's means of communicating, we can take simple steps like looking each other in the eye when we speak; Putting aside our cell phones or an activity when someone is talking to us. To emphasize this point, on the Feast of the Holy Family this year, Pope Francis challenged all families to put their cell phones away during family mealtime encouraging us to communicate just like the Holy Family did.
