“Jesus, you are my King, Lord, and Savior. May these gifts honor and glorify you!”

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL REFLECTION

Today we celebrate the feast of the Epiphany, where the Magi find the newborn king and offer him gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

In the spirit of the Magi, please put your gift in the St. Vincent de Paul Poor Box so that comfort and peace can once again be given to a newborn child.

‘Let us serve with hearts filled with the pure love of God which enables us always to love the roses amidst the thorns.’ ~ Louise de Marillac

To our youngest parishioners...

We are happy to announce that an angel donor has gifted the parish with Mass books for our children! We are so grateful for this gift and hope that this will make it easier for younger as well as older children to participate in the Mass. Two books will be kept in each of the pew book holders. Extra copies can be found on the bottom of the carts that hold our missals in case you have more than two children in your group.

Welcome to St. John the Baptist Parish! How can we serve you? How can you serve the community?

PARISH LIFE

A change in country, but not in my religion

- by Fr. Srinivasa Rao Malaka

I grew up in a village in India. We lived about ten kilometers from the big city. I was the youngest of seven children. It was nice being the baby of the family! My dad was a farmer. We grew rice and vegetables. We would have to get up early in the mornings and collect everything to take to market.

Most of India (80%) is Hindu, only about 2.3% of the country is Christian, in which 1.5% is Catholic. My Catholic faith made me distinct, but it didn't harm my friendships or relationships with people. My best childhood friend was a Hindu. In our simple home, we didn't worry about differences in faith. There was unity in the diversity.

My greatest role models were my parents. They cultivated my faith and conscience, but so did the priests and religious sisters at the Catholic school I attended. There was one teacher (priest) who made a tremendous impact on me. He was very quiet and never used corporal punishment. Corporal punishment was allowed back in those days. Just his stern look would calm us. It inspired me and taught me that we should do our jobs with love.

When I was in grade school, and people asked me what I wanted to be when I grew up, I said a priest! When I told my family about my decision, my mom and siblings were extremely happy. My dad was sad. He wanted me to be close to him. He knew that I would not be home very often, and that was hard for him. He died before I left to Netherlands for missionary work in 2005, but I know that he was proud of me. The first four years of seminary were not easy. I was not yet sure that the priesthood is where I was being called. I could foresee the challenges, like being far from home. I also knew that I would have to give up my desires for a family.

There were always questions, but less with each year. Around year five, I knew without any doubt that God wanted me to be a priest. I came to realize that God's will for me is better than my desires. God wants what is best for me. Something I like to reflect on that one of my formators shared with me is, "The Will of God will not lead you where the grace of God cannot keep you."

I was ordained as a priest for the Heralds of Good News (HGN) on December 28, 2001. The HGNS are a clerical missionary society that seek to train saintly, hardworking, dedicated missionaries and supply them wherever there is a need.

After I was ordained, my first assignment was parish priest in India. I worked four and half years in that parish. Near the end of my term, Bishop from Netherlands contacted my superiors in need of two priests. My superiors came to me and all I could say is, "Yes, I will go."

I strongly believe that God speaks through the superiors. God sends us to the right place.

One of the hardest things for me when I got here was cooking! In India, the women do most of the cooking. It's the way of the culture. Slowly I learned cooking with the help of YouTube, now I love the cooking.

I love being a priest – it is a special call. The best part of being a priest is bringing God's love to people and watching them come alive. Once I knew I was being called to the priesthood, I never regretted it. God continues to keep me safe, happy and joyful.

I am greatly indebted to the Bishop, priests and people of the Evansville Diocese for the love, friendship and support I receive, and to Heralds of Good News, St. for the formation and mission I cherish.
