A NOTE OF THANKS FROM KATE HEINZMAN & NIKKI D'CRUZ

Catechists:

We would like to take this time to thank the catechists that worked with our children and taught them not only prayer and Catholic traditions, but how we all care and love each other through our theme this last year, kindness. This year was a very challenging year for all of us and our catechists taught the children in circumstances that were not ideal. From standing outside in the cold so the children were able to social distance, to finding a new classroom in the church during the 9:00 Mass. They truly were amazing!

Parents:

We would like to thank you for trusting us this year with your child's religious education. Whether it was through Home Study or in person, this year was truly an unusual year, with very different methods of teaching. We want to thank all the parents for your patience with staff and with others. Through it all, you showed that parents really are the most important teacher in a child's religious journey.

Volunteers:

This year would not have gone so smoothly without the many volunteers who helped in the CF program. Volunteers helped as cleaners, substitute teachers, hall walkers, those making individual supply bags and parking lot aids. God blessed us with you; wonderful parishioners who helped show the children how much the Church cares for them. This year we really did show our children, through prayer and example, how to live their lives with kindness.

Thank you,
Kate Heinzman
Director of Child Ministry

LIFELONG FORMATION

PLANTING SEEDS

This is the fifth in a seven-part series on the Eucharist in the Early Church. Stay tuned for next month's installment!

THE EUCHARIST IN THE EARLY CHURCH

Part V: The Eucharist: Communion and Unity

St. Augustine (4th c.) poetically describes the relationship between receiving Holy Communion and becoming the Church: "therefore receive and eat the body of Christ, yes, you that have become members of Christ in the body of Christ." That is, receiving the True Body of Christ (the Eucharist), we become the Mystical Body of Christ (the Church). How does this happen? We turn to the Church's living tradition for clues.

1. The Didache (1st c.) beautifully connects the bread consecrated and the people united: "Even as this broken bread was scattered over the hills, and was gathered together and became one, so let your Church be gathered together from the ends of the earth into your kingdom." Several levels of unity are described: on an agricultural level, the many grains of wheat combined and pressed into one unleavened host are the many members brought into unity with one another into the Church. On a scriptural level, the breaking of the bread refers to the Eucharist (Acts 2:42) that united Christ and his disciples at the Last Supper, and the miracle of the Feeding of the 5000 (Jn. 6:1-15) where bread was scattered among the crowds and united them in faith to the Bread of Life, Jesus Himself.
2. St. Cyprian (3rd c.) explains how the Eucharist unites the Church: "The Lord's sacrifice proclaims the unity of Christians, who are bound together by a firm and unshakable charity. For when the Lord calls the bread, which has been made from many grains of wheat, His Body, He is describing our people whose unity he has sustained." It is the charity (love) of Christ on the Cross present in the Eucharist that binds believers together. Cyprian continues by drawing a connection between our unity in body and spirit such that, "Just as Christ's sacred flesh has power to make those in whom it is present into one body, so the one, indivisible Spirit of God, dwelling in all, causes all to become one in spirit." It is for this reason that we beg the Father during Mass: "grant that we, who are nourished by the Body and Blood of your Son and filled with his Holy Spirit, may become one body, one spirit in Christ" (Eucharistic Prayer III).
3. One effect of this unity in the Body of Christ is that we can overcome barriers of nationality, ethnicity, language and culture. Already by the 2nd c., St. Justin wrote, "Yet there is not one single race of men—whether barbarians, Greeks, or whatever; nomads, vagrants, or herdsmen living in tents—among whom prayers and thanksgiving are not offered through the name of the crucified Jesus." Anyone who has traveled abroad and been to Mass recognizes (albeit cultural distinctions) the essential unity of the Catholic Church!

Christ Jesus, God and man, has united us to Himself and to one another through the Eucharist, which makes us the Body of Christ. As our young people have received and continue to receive their First Holy Communion, we pray that we all be united in mind and heart and seek communion in all that we do!

– Fr. Stephen, Associate Pastor

LIVE THE LITURGY

When Jesus was physically with his disciples, he guarded and protected them. One of his greatest desires was that they share his joy completely. God's love is the source of all things and their sustenance. As we conduct the normal routines of our lives it is easy to get caught up in the immediacies of this world and lose focus. We become very self and worldly dependent, forgetting that God wishes to guard and protect us.

The joy the resurrected Christ can offer cannot be found in this world. It takes a bit of faith to realize that God's will is a constant in our lives and that God desires only the sustenance and goodness of both our bodies and our souls. We need to trust in God's constant and rejuvenating love. This radical resurrection trust allows us to experience the joy of God's presence in all of the good and the bad, positive and negative, life building and life destructive events that we encounter. God remains where love remains.
