Dear Parishioners:

There’s a great line in the Gospel for this Sunday when the narrator describes why the scholar of the law asked Jesus a particular question. We are told that he asked this because he wished to justify himself. I don’t know about any of you but man, can I relate to that. I can’t tell you how often I find myself justifying or rationalizing something that I know is wrong simply because it’s easier to do things the way I want than it is to do them the right way. The great thing about our faith, though, is that we don’t actually have to justify ourselves. God is the one who justifies us. We just have to let Him. So, instead of trying to make exceptions and justifications for ourselves, maybe we should just trust that God knows what He’s doing and cooperate with His desires for us!

God Bless,
Fr. Scott

Who LOVES Bucket Raffles?

We will again have a limited number of baskets in a bucket raffle. You can purchase tickets and place them in a bucket for a chance to win. We are in need of items for this portion of the auction. We are blessed to have so many wonderful parish members to help us out year after year. This is in addition to the Silent Auction.
