PASTORAL THOUGHTS...

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Bishop Callahan here as we joyfully conclude our celebration of Catholic Schools Week. In Catholic Schools Week, we embark on a journey of reflection and appreciation for the profound impact of Catholic education. It is a time to recognize the unique role our schools play in molding young minds, fostering a deep connection with the Faith, and instilling a sense of service to others. Our schools are not mere academic institutions: they are vibrant communities where the Gospel message is lived out daily, where the pursuit of knowledge is intertwined with a commitment to service, and where faith is not just taught but experienced. In the realm of education, our Catholic schools stand as beacons of light, offering a holistic approach that nurtures the intellectual, Catholic, and moral dimensions of each student. Rooted in the teachings of Christ, our educators go beyond the curriculum, striving to create an environment where faith is not just an abstract concept but a lived reality.

Our schools are more than just places of learning: they are communities where the four cardinal virtues—the hinge on which all others turn: Prudence, Justice, Fortitude, and Temperance—are woven into the fabric of everyday life. Through prayer, sacraments, and religious education, our students encounter the richness of the Catholic Faith, deepening their understanding and fostering a personal relationship with Christ. In this encounter with our Faith, Catholic schools provide witness to Christ, transforming the culture all around us. Furthermore, the emphasis on service within our Catholic schools instills in our students a profound sense of social responsibility. Inspired by the Gospel call to love and serve our neighbors, our schools engage in various service projects and outreach programs. Whether volunteering at local shelters, participating in community cleanups, or supporting charitable initiatives, our students learn the transformative power of Catholic social teaching.

As we conclude Catholic Schools Week, let us extend our gratitude to the over 1,200 dedicated teachers, administrators, and staff who tirelessly contribute to the holistic development of our nearly 7,000 students. Recognizing the collaborative effort between the domestic church and our Catholic schools, a heartfelt thank you also goes to the parents who entrust us with the education and spiritual formation of their children. To the students in our Catholic schools across the 19 counties of our diocese, thank you! As your bishop, I must tell you that visiting your schools, celebrating Mass with you, and having the chance to spend time with you, are moments that I cherish. I am so thankful for each and every one of you. May our celebration of Catholic schools serve as a time of reflection, gratitude, and renewed commitment to the mission of Catholic education. Join me in praying through the intercession of the Servant of God Father Joseph Walijewski that we may continue to build communities of faith, knowledge, and service that radiate the Light of Christ in a world hungering for love, justice, and compassion.

+Bishop William P. Callahan, OFM Conv.
Bishop of La Crosse

Scenes from our January Birthday Breakfast

A Note from Fr. Guanella: Some of you have heard that I have been elected to the diocesan Presbyteral Council. This council is a group of priests which, representing all the priests in the diocese, is like a senate of the bishop and assists the bishop in the governance of the diocese to promote as much as possible the pastoral good of the people of God entrusted to him. At our first meeting, I was elected chairman of the council. Additionally, I was named to the diocesan College of Consultors. This group of priests is a consultative body that the bishop must consult primarily regarding matters of major financial importance. Moreover, if the diocese becomes vacant, it is the responsibility of the College of Consultors to elect a priest who will govern the diocese until a bishop is appointed. These appointments do not change my assignment here at Our Lady, other than more diocesan meetings that I must attend.
