Vision Statement: "To offer every person in our community a life-changing encounter with Jesus."

POPE FRANCIS

JOSEPH: FOSTER FATHER

Today we will reflect on Saint Joseph as the father of Jesus. The evangelists Matthew and Luke present him as the foster father of Jesus, and not as his biological father. ...

To understand the alleged or legal paternity of Joseph, it is necessary to bear in mind that in ancient times in the East the institution of adoption was very common, more so than today. ...

As the official father of Jesus, Joseph exercises the right to impose a name on his son, legally recognizing him. Legally he is the father, but not generatively; he did not beget Him.

In ancient times, the name was the compendium of a person's identity. Changing one's name meant changing oneself, as in the case of Abraham, whose name God changed to "Abraham", which means "father of many", "for", says the Book of Genesis, he will be "the father of a multitude of nations" (17:5). The same goes for Jacob, who would be called "Israel", which means "he who struggles with God", because he struggled with God to compel Him to give him the blessing (cf. Gen 32:29; 35:10).

But above all, naming someone or something meant asserting one's authority over what was named, as Adam did when he conferred a name on all the animals (cf. Gen 2:19-20).

Joseph already knows that, for Mary's son, a name had already been prepared by God – Jesus' name is given to him by his true father, God – "Jesus", which means "the Lord saves"; as the Angel explains, "He will save his people from their sins" (Mt 1:21). This particular aspect of Joseph now enables us to reflect on fatherhood and motherhood. And this, I believe, is very important: thinking about fatherhood today. Because we live in an age of notorious orphanhood, don't we? It is curious: our civilization is something of an orphan, and this orphanhood can be felt. May Saint Joseph, who took the place of the real father, God, help us to understand how to resolve this sense of orphanhood that is so harmful to us today.

It is not enough to bring a child into the world to also be the child's father or mother. "Fathers are not born, but made. A man does not become a father simply by bringing a child into the world, but by taking up the responsibility to care for that child. Whenever a man accepts responsibility for the life of another, in some way he becomes a father to that person" (Apostolic Letter Patris corde). I think in a particular way of all those who are open to welcome life by way of adoption, which is such a generous and beautiful, good attitude. Joseph shows us that this type of bond is not secondary; it is not an afterthought, no. This kind of choice is among the highest forms of love, and of fatherhood and motherhood.

How many children in the world are waiting for someone to take care of them! And how many married couples want to be fathers and mothers but are unable to do so for biological reasons; or, although they already have children, they want to share their family's affection with those who do not have it. ... And this denial of fatherhood or motherhood diminishes us, it takes away our humanity. And in this way civilization becomes aged and without humanity, because it loses the richness of fatherhood and motherhood.

I ask of Saint Joseph the grace to awaken consciences and to think about this: about having children. Fatherhood and motherhood are the fullness of the life of a person. Think about this. It is true, there is the spiritual fatherhood of those who consecrated themselves to God, and spiritual motherhood; but those who live in the world and get married, think about having children, of giving life, which they will take from you for the future. And also, if you cannot have children, think about adoption. It is a risk, yes: having a child is always a risk, either naturally or by adoption. But it is riskier not to have them. It is riskier to deny fatherhood, or to deny motherhood, be it real or spiritual. But denial, a man or woman who do not develop the sense of fatherhood or motherhood, they are lacking something, something fundamental, something important. Think about this, please.

Saint Joseph, you who loved Jesus with fatherly love, be close to the many children who have no family and who long for a daddy and mommy.

Support the couples who are unable to have children, help them to discover, through this suffering, a greater plan.

Make sure that no one lacks a home, a bond, a person to take care of him or her; and heal the selfishness of those who close themselves off from life, that they may open their hearts to love.

Thank you.

I hope that the institutions will always be ready to help regarding adoption, by seriously monitoring but also simplifying the necessary procedure so that the dream of so many children who need a family, and of so many couples who wish to give themselves in love, can come true. ...

I pray that no one feel deprived of the bond of paternal love. And those who are afflicted with orphanhood, may they go forward without this unpleasant feeling. May Saint Joseph protect, and give his help to orphans; and may he intercede for couples who wish to have a child. —Francis

FROM FATHER ERIC

CATHOLIC EDUCATION

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Over the years, we have spoken a great deal lately about the value and utility of a Catholic education; with registration for the 2022-2023 school year looming on the horizon I thought I would present again the finding of a recent national survey that looks at parent satisfaction with the education their child(ren) are receiving.

The study, What Do Parents Think of Their Children's School, Barrows, Peterson and West (2016), commissioned by Education Next examined five key school characteristics: teacher quality, expectations for achievement, safety, discipline and instruction in character and values.

The researchers found that "parents in the private sector are far more satisfied in each of the five areas with most aspects of their children's schools than are parents with children in public schools."

The difference in the share of parents who are Very Satisfied with the private school is on average 12 percentage points higher than the public schools. Some examples from the survey are as follows:

TEACHER QUALITY

Private Schools – 46% Very Satisfied, 40% Satisfied

Public Schools – 23% Very Satisfied, 51% Satisfied

VALUES EDUCATION

Private Schools – 59% Very satisfied, 30% Satisfied

Public Schools – 21% Very Satisfied, 41% Satisfied

Our area is blessed with fantastic schools both parochial and public. We firmly believe that Epiphany Catholic School offers an outstanding option for the education of your children centered in the Gospel-mission of the Roman Catholic Church. Please do not hesitate to contact our principal, Jennifer Kamradt, to discuss whether your child's future may include our school.

May God Bless and Keep You and Yours,

—Father Eric

Cover: The infant Jesus with a Lamb, Bernardino Luini c. 1525, Veneranda Biblioteca Ambrosiana, Milan.

This panel is certainly striking for its mastery of technique and for its ability to express the tenderness of the Infant Jesus in his delicate embrace of the lamb. From an iconographic point of view, the presence of the lamb refers to innocence and the Passion (Jesus as the Lamb of God, whose immolation on the cross redeems all creation) or to Jesus the Good Shepherd, as described in the tenth chapter of the Gospel of John ("I am the good shepherd").
