He said to them, "Today this Scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing." And all spoke highly of him and were amazed at the gracious words that came from his mouth. They also asked, "Isn't this the son of Joseph?" — Lk 4:21-22

Gospel Reflections...

There is an old adage that an expert is someone who works more than 30 minutes from here. After Jesus proclaimed in his home synagogue the arrival of the acceptable year of the Lord, people challenged his family of origin and disqualified him from being taken seriously. The people who lived more than 30 miles from Nazareth took Jesus very seriously and he gained a huge following.

Sometimes we take for granted all that we have in our own home parishes and the quality of the people that attend there. We really have excellent people on councils, we have great staff, pews with people of deep prayer, and beautiful buildings and grounds. When people travel to see what we are doing out here, they are amazed at all we have and do. My cousin who is a Catholic School teacher elsewhere, marveled at our buildings, programs and variety of offerings. This doesn't mean that we have no reason to disagree with each other and plan to change; but hopefully it is done by first acknowledging the good that we have. When we plan we use a SWOT process, which means successes, weaknesses, opportunities and threats; to have any kind of planning, we have to do all four. Jesus could see in Nazareth how their lack of acknowledging success became their non-starter.

Our second reading has us reflecting on love which gets us to take these gospel lessons and apply them to our closest relationships in our home. Love includes healthy conflict but healthy conflict isn't possible if we never acknowledge the successes of the other person. We all need to belong and bond – but this happens when we do all of these items on the SWOT list with the people we love. Which item(s) on this list do you use the least? And why?

Fr. Mike Erwin
