Gospel Reflections... NEITHER DO I CONDEMN YOU

Help me, Jesus, to experience your mercy so that I can dispense it to others.

Meditation of Pope Francis

The Pharisees who carry the adulteress to Jesus had in their hearts, the corruption of rigidity. They felt pure because they observed the letter of the law and because they said: The law says this and this must be done. But they were not saints, they were corrupt, because a rigidity of this kind can only go forward in a double life and those who condemned these women later went to look for them in a hidden way, to have a little fun. The rigid ones are, I use the adjective that Jesus gave them, hypocrites. They have a double life. With rigidity you can not even breathe.

Even today, the people of God, when they meet these judges, suffer a judgment without mercy, be it on the civil side or on the ecclesiastical side. And where there is no mercy there is no justice. When the people of God come voluntarily to ask for forgiveness, to be judged, how many times, how often, do they find one of these.

Find the vicious ones who are capable of trying to exploit them and this is one of the most serious sins; find the businessmen who do not give oxygen to that soul or hope; and find the rigid ones that punish the penitent what they hide in their soul. This is called lack of mercy.

I would just like to say that one of the most beautiful words of the gospel that moves me so much: «- Nobody has condemned you? -No, nobody, Lord. -I do not condemn you either ». The Neither do I condemn you is one of the most beautiful words, because full of mercy.

However, the behavior of our Lord is totally different: open your heart infinite, sweet and merciful to forgive all the moral wounds of this woman. But not only forgive, but understands, welcomes, defends. I believe that, more than the same forgiveness - which is already an immense gesture - the most wonderful thing of all is the way it offers it: with an infinite respect, an incredible sweetness, an unimaginable understanding. Jesus is not scandalized or shouts in heaven because "this woman has been caught in flagrante delicto of adultery." Textual words of the Pharisees. Hypocrites, fanatics and assassins!

Jesus, no. He is silent. It stays serene. Pretend not to hear the accusations. He bends and writes on the earth as if to ignore himself. He turns a blind eye and seems to see no evil. Forgives. It understands human miseries.
