Gospel Reflections...

Those who seem insignificant are significant

For the past two weeks we have been reflecting on our big why. Often this has come to us after a miracle or intervention by our God. After naming our why, we can now align our time, talent and treasure to be consistent with our why.

We see this happening in many situations in our parishes; people who grew up without many resources and now having made it, serve on our St. Vincent de Paul Society. People who have heard Jesus speak to them through the scripture are involved with, and sometimes lead, bible studies.

People who feel the presence of God at mass feel called to be on a liturgy committee or volunteer for a ministry so we have high quality liturgies that help others.

Because you are reading this article, you probably have been touched by God. How so? After thanking God for this does this experience guide you to help others in a similar way?

We may feel like we are not the right kind of person to do the work God is calling us to; but even people who feel too insignificant, can, with the help of the Holy Spirit, be significant in building up God's kingdom. In this weekend's Gospel reading we see the power of a poor widow to fight for justice against a corrupt judge. This is to remind us that God will help us to carry out our ministry if we ask for help – we need to believe in him.

This weekend at the Tri-parishes and next weekend at St. Katharine Drexel we are surveying people as to their time and talent commitment. At the Tri-parishes we are focusing on building up our parish-based committees who will do evangelization and care for our buildings, and liturgies. At St. Katharine Drexel we are focusing on building up our hospitality effort and liturgical ministries in preparation for our rededication of church on March 3, 2020.

Any calling to commit to any ministry will help the church; especially if you are being stirred to live out your big why. If you are initially nervous about saying yes, know that there will be training and God will give you gifts to help you. And remember, like for the rest of us, if you are feeling insignificant, God believes you are significant.

Fr. Mike Erwin
