Gospel Reflections... Greetings in Christ!

Time passes very quickly, and soon we will celebrate "Mother's Day". As we continue to navigate through these difficult times in our Nation and in the world, I want to take a moment to give a "thank you" to all the mothers.

We often hear appreciation from those on the front lines making sure we have food in stores, from emergency responders, and other professions that are a blessing to all of us in these times of pandemic. These people are "essential workers."

When I hear the expression "essential workers," I think of the work a mother does, especially in these difficult times.

With changes in school hours and even cancellations, many mothers have added more work to their daily chores. Some are now teaching or at least providing a learning environment for their children. More work, more worries.

It would be impossible to cover all the new challenges a mother faces in a short article like this one, but rest assured that YOU are appreciated and absolutely ESSENTIAL to both her children and our Nation. It is very important that homes are healthy spiritually, physically and emotionally, aspects that are much needed as we move towards hope and healing in a time to come, hopefully short.

I encourage you to make sure you take time to be alone with God for at least a few moments each day for encouragement and renewal. While that may seem impossible, it is essential to allow the Holy Spirit to keep you spiritually alert as you navigate these times.

Dear mothers, remember that we love and appreciate you and are so grateful for you as you continue to be on the "front lines" during this time of pandemic.

Happy Mother's Day!

Father Sergio
