Dear parishioners,

"Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I dedicated you, a prophet to the nations I appointed you" (Jeremiah 1:5). From the beginning of his life, from his mother's womb, God called Jeremiah to the mission of prophecy, to speak in the name of the eternal God. Each baptized Catholic can and should receive those words as meant for them, because each Catholic is baptized into Jesus Christ as priest, prophet, and king. To share in Jesus' prophetic mission means, first, to make time each day to reflect on what God is saying to you today – through the Bible, through Creation, through your daily life. To be a prophet begins with receiving the Word of God! Second, it means to offer yourself to God with a generous heart – Lord, send me to speak your word today, to speak liberty to captives, sight to the blind, good news to the poor. Lord, send me!

Are you listening to the Word of God each day? Do you offer yourself each day to be sent by the Lord?

Today, as the Church celebrates Catechetical Sunday, we recognize and thank a group of generous individuals who have said yes in a particular way to the prophetic mission of Jesus; namely, the catechists of the Cathedral. At the noon Mass, I will bless them, asking the Lord to renew their zeal and dedication to speaking the Word of God to our children and families. To you catechists, and to all who have served as catechists in the past – thank you!

And to each of you, as the Lord stirs up in your heart a desire to share his Word in some way, please reach out to myself or to Trevor Beach at tbeach@stjohncathedral.org to offer yourself to God and to reflect on how God is calling you to share in the prophetic mission of Christ. The Lord has light, freedom, and good news to bring to the world. He counts on you to say yes.

May God bless you,

Fr. Edward

Queridos parroquianos y parroquianas,

"Antes de formarte en el vientre, te elegí; antes de que salieras del seno materno, te consagré: te constituí profeta de las naciones" (Jeremías 1:5). Desde el comienzo de su vida, desde el vientre de su madre, Dios llamó a Jeremías a la misión profética, a hablar en nombre del Dios eterno. Todo Católico bautizado puede y debe recibir estas palabras como dirigidas a sí mismo, pues cada Católico es bautizado en Jesucristo como sacerdote, profeta y rey. Participar en la misión profética de Jesús significa, en primer lugar, dedicar tiempo cada día a reflexionar sobre lo que Dios le dice hoy: a través de la Biblia, de la Creación y de la vida cotidiana. ¡Ser profeta comienza por recibir la Palabra de Dios! En segundo lugar, significa ofrecerse a Dios con un corazón generoso: Señor, envíame a proclamar tu palabra hoy, a anunciar la libertad a los cautivos, la vista a los ciegos y la buena nueva a los pobres. ¡Señor, envíame!

¿Escucha usted la Palabra de Dios cada día? ¿Se ofrece cada día para ser enviado/a por el Señor?

Hoy, al celebrar la Iglesia el Domingo Catequético, reconocemos y damos gracias a un grupo de personas generosas que han dicho sí de manera especial a la misión profética de Jesús: los y las catequistas de la Catedral. En la Misa del mediodía, les impartiré la bendición, pidiendo al Señor que renueve su celo y dedicación al transmitir la Palabra de Dios a nuestros niños, niñas y familias. A ustedes, catequistas, y a todos los que han servido como tales en el pasado: ¡gracias!

Y a cada uno de ustedes: si el Señor despierta en su corazón el deseo de compartir su Palabra de alguna manera, por favor, póngase en contacto conmigo o con Trevor Beach al tbeach@stjohncathedral.org para ofrecerse a Dios y reflexionar sobre cómo Dios le llama a participar en la misión profética de Cristo. El Señor tiene luz, libertad y buenas noticias para el mundo. Cuenta con que usted diga que sí.

Que Dios les bendiga,

P. Edward
