End of Life Issues Presentation

Trying to make decisions at the time of a medical emergency can be confusing and cause unnecessary stress and disharmony in families. Come learn about the different documents and which ones will protect us best while honoring our Catholic beliefs. Dinner begins at 6pm, followed by presentations by Dr. Robin Goldsmith and Attorney Greg Vanevenhoven.

Please RSVP to the parish office by May 21 so we have enough food and materials.

Happy Mother's Day

Happy Mother's Day to you moms and all women who have loved us like moms. You're like the glue that holds everything together. You're like a burst of sunshine after a long winter. You're a living heart that keeps on beating even in the most difficult of circumstances. Please don't ever underestimate the impact your selfless acts of gentle kindness and nurturing have on your children and on our world. The world needs the love, gentleness and nurturing that only you can give. Thank you!

My mom died fifteen years ago. It's hard to believe it's been that long. Even though I've gotten used to her being gone, still there is this part inside of me that is missing. She was a great lady! She was strict but fun. She had many challenges. Her parents came to the US from Poland and made a good life here, but my mom was a "late in life baby" and that was really hard for my grandma. In many ways, my grandma was emotionally absent in my mom's life. I imagine my grandma did her best, but my grandpa had to do most of the nurturing. My mom always felt this void, but I think this empty spot in her heart propelled her to love my dad and us kids even more.

If I summed up what my mom did for me, I'd say that she always believed in me and saw my potential. Her love cut through any fear lurking deep inside me that I wasn't good enough, and as a young man, that gave me the strength to risk and believe in myself also. I am very blessed indeed!

I believe she is part of the Communion of Saints, the great multitude that St. John referred to in our 2nd Reading today, so I know she is praying for me and rooting for me even more so than she did while she was alive. I pray for her especially at Mass when Father prays for those who have gone before us. Each year I understand a little bit better the depth of her love for me and the sacrifices she made for our family.

Regardless of what your experience with your own mother has been, God has blessed all of us superabundantly in giving us His own mother as our mom, too. Mary is like that lead sheep that all the other sheep will follow. She hears the voice of her Son, the Good Shepherd, so clearly and follows Him so closely that if we stay close to her, she will always lead us to her Son.

Family life is messy. Things don't always go well. It always hurts me to visit with someone and hear their deepest pain of having a grown child who is estranged from them. If this is you, please understand that you haven't failed, but you are carrying a very heavy cross. You are not alone. Unite your sufferings with Jesus on the cross. He understands what it is to love and not have that love returned. Ask Him to accept your pain and pour out His grace on the world. Don't ever stop praying or give up hope. Stay close to His mother, Mary. She will help you.

Thank you, moms and Mother Mary, for always being there for all of us. Happy Mothers' Day,
Deacon Chuck
