24TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

He summoned the crowd with his disciples and said to them, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake and that of the gospel will save it." - Mk 8:34-35

ST. RAPHAEL THE ARCHANGEL CATHOLIC CHURCH

MOST BLESSED SACRAMENT CATHOLIC PARISH

St. Jude the Apostle

From Our Parochial Vicar

Dear Parishioners,

Our first reading today from Isaiah is a foreshadowing of Jesus. Just like the prophet Isaiah who knows his mission, Jesus knows his divine mission to reconcile the world with the Father, and nothing will prevent him from carrying it out. After laying the conditions for discipleship—denial of self, taking up of the Cross, and following Jesus—he and the disciples set out on their path to fulfill that mission. Jesus especially sets his face like flint toward Jerusalem.

I've seen such determination in the faces of our Religious Education team and volunteers who are starting up this week. As schools started back up the past couple of weeks, I've seen such determination in the faces of our administrators, teachers, students, and families with regards to educating young people. As Chaplain at Lourdes, I've personally seen it.

As we ask for your commitment to the One by One capital campaign this weekend, I encourage you to unite your hearts to that of Christ's so that generations of students will experience the love of Christ.

May God bless you and keep you in His loving arms,

Fr. Kevin

Reflecting on the Scriptures (Mark 8: 27-35)

Who do people say that I am?" Peter said to him in reply," You are the Christ." He summoned the crowd with his disciples and said to them, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake and that of the gospel will save it."

I had the beautiful opportunity years back to teach and work with incoming foreign exchange students at the University of Delaware. It was wonderful to get to know young people from a wide array of cultures who provided me with rich stories and oftentimes beautiful gifts from their homeland. On the weekend, of course, I would walk to Mass at a nearby Catholic Church, and I'd invite different young people to come with me. I remember on one particular Saturday, I walked down with a handful of students –Icelandic, Japanese, Thai, Indonesian, etc. with great curiosity asking, "We are going to meet this Jesus? Who is Jesus?" When we walked into the sanctuary, the first question was, "Where is this Jesus? Why do you walk to see Him every week? What will we do here? What do you mean that He is here---I don't see Him? He's in there?" [tabernacle] The questions flew so fast----and without any frame of reference for Jesus, a cross, crucifixion, Trinity---I relied on the Holy Spirit to guide in introducing them to Jesus.

Yes, who do I say Jesus is? "You are the Christ" was Peter's courageous response. Do I recognize Jesus is the Christ, the one who is divine, and can I proclaim that He rescues me from being forever engulfed in the dark hole of death, from sin, from my own "shadow side"---of selfishness, greed, pride, obsession, ego, anger, unforgiveness, and bitterness? I take a moment to pause and search within myself if I truly "know" this, believe this with all my heart.

If I can say yes, to Jesus is the Christ, the one who saves me, then the next question is "Who is Jesus for me"? What difference will knowing Jesus make in my life? His amazing love gives me freedom----freedom to be me, to be wrong, imperfect, unable to sing, unable to do math in my head, to have a plant die in my garden, to lose a job, to struggle, to pretend that I'm something I'm not. The freedom lies in God's love and acceptance of me, just the way I am. I don't need to put on a facade. I don't need to be popular, rich, perfect, book smart, prestigious, nor pretentious. The freedom is knowing Jesus is the unwavering , total love and complete acceptance that is not possible in a human relationship. Jesus explains to Peter that the journey is going to have times of great suffering.

Jesus foretells His disciples that, as the Christ, He will be rejected, suffer, and be killed. Talk about the best news juxtaposed against the worst. What follows Jesus announcement of His suffering is how being His disciple affects me, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me." These words don't ring true until the impact of carrying the crosses in my life.

How was Jesus able to carry His cross? Jesus' strength was in trusting His Father. I, too, must trust-walk in difficult times, when all in front of me is so thick and foggy that I can't see my way out, knowing that the situation will get worse before it gets better. I trust and pray for God's Will in my life. I trust that God is walking with me. I trust in my relationship with Jesus. I pray for His Will, not my own.

Jesus, in this last part of today's reading, encourages me to persevere, to surrender, "For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake and that of the gospel will save it." The fruit of total surrender to God's Will and placing complete and total trust in Him is peace. I don't need to know how or when or why in carrying my cross. I have the peace that God is carrying me. Carrying all of the crosses that are mine in this life is setting them down at the foot of Jesus' cross, so that I can rise to Life that supersedes this world. I will arrive in my true "home" of joy and happiness with my best friend who carried me all the way----Jesus!

Study: The History of the Church

As Catholics, we are the inheritors of holy men and women who over two thousand years built a great civilization and spread the gospel throughout the world. The history of the Church is not just the recitation of popes and saints; it is a story of adventure, intrigue, rebellion, reform, and devotion. In this study you will learn about the important people, places, and events in two thousand years of Church history---- true stories behind the Crusades, the Spanish Inquisition, and the Protestant Reformation as well as the massive persecution of Christians in the twentieth century. Steve Weidenk, opf, presenter, will help you gain an understanding of the workings of the Holy Spirit in our Church. Part 1 of this study will be held on Mondays @ 6pm on the following dates: Sept. 20, 27, Oct. 5, 19, and 26. (No class Oct. 12) The next part of EPIC will be held in the early part of our next calendar year. Purchasing the study set is optional, but helpful; it includes a workbook, timeline chart, and bookmark. Cost is $30. To register, please call the parish office. If you'd like the study set, please submit $30 at the time of registration. Study sets will be ordered on Sept. 13.

Working with the Scriptures

It has been said that when we keep something we don't need or use we are stealing it from the poor. Over the past few months I have been faced with the daunting task of downsizing as I moved from my home of 20 years into a small duplex. I soon discovered that I had clothes that I hadn't worn in months, if not years! I tried to make it a priority to concentrate on winter clothes, since even the poor have little use for cotton t-shirts and shorts in December. After going through a few boxes and checking shelves I found that I probably have almost as many pairs of gloves and knit caps as I did when my kids were little. Admit it, even here in mid-Wisconsin the only extra knit cap one really needs is an orange one, in case you decide to take your dog for a walk during hunting season!

There was a cartoon in the New York Times a few years ago. A group of street people were huddled together, warming their hands over a small fire in a garbage can. The caption under the cartoon read: "It's winter – time for the rich ladies to go through their closets and give us their old summer clothes."

"If a brother or sister has nothing to wear …but you do not give them the necessities of the body, what good is it?"(Jas. 2:15-16) The message is clear. It's one thing to say I have faith, but quite another to act on it. Do I believe that Christ is truly present in each and every human being and that each is my brother or my sister? I say I do – but do my works reflect that? Do I believe that I am created in the image of a loving God? I say I do – but do I love unconditionally as God loves? Do I love those people gathered around that small fire in a slum in New York City? Do I love enough to give back to the poor what is properly theirs? What do my works say about my faith?

Father Ripley's Believe It or Not!

This past Sunday, the Brewers were in the bottom of the 9th inning down 5 to 2. Next up was Daniel Vogelbach with a .216 batting average. Bases loaded. Surely by this time in the game, thousands of fans already left, doubting the Brew Crew would come back. As they listened to the radio broadcast in their cars, imagine their reaction when, believe it or not, Vogelbach launched the ball to left field and beyond for a walk-off grand slam.

As he paraded around the bases, the final baseline was like a triumphant procession, as the whole team welcomed him to home plate in celebration of their victory. Actually, that is somewhat redundant to say. The word "triumph" already includes the idea of a procession in one of its older definitions. A "triumph" in the middle ages was itself a pompous procession of a military leader back into town after a victory in battle. Nowadays, that definition is obsolete, and "triumph" simply means "a conclusive success." Think of this every time the cross leads the procession to begin Mass.

On September 14, the Church celebrates the feast of the Triumph of the Cross. Jesus accomplished a conclusive success over sin and death by giving himself unto death on the Cross. However, the practical reason the feast day exists goes back to the 7th century. It celebrates three things: the finding of the actual True Cross in 326 AD, the dedication of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, and the restoration of the True Cross back to Jerusalem in 629 AD after it had been stolen away in 614 AD.

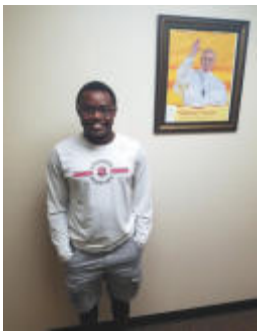
Olivier Ndorimana



Hello to all of the St Raphael the Archangel Parish community. My name is Olivier Ndorimana and I am from Burundi, Africa. I came to the United States in August 2013 to attend Lourdes Academy and have been attending St Raphael since October of that same year. In April 2015,when I was a high school junior, I felt a call from the Lord to serve Him through the priesthood. I started talking to Fr Dan Schuster, the diocesan vocational director at the time. We decided then that it would be wise for me go to college first to continue maturing and listening to the Lord in order to discern whether He really is calling me to serve Him and His Church through the priesthood.

When I was a sophomore in college, I went to a silent retreat at a monastery in Richardton, North Dakota. I was attending the University of Mary in Bismarck, ND. During that retreat, I encountered the powerful love of God in a new way and He invited me again to consider a call to the priesthood. After much prayerful discernment, I decided to contact Fr Mark Mleziva, the current diocesan vocational director. After talking to him a few times, I started working on my application to the diocesan priestly formation program. I worked on that during my last two years of college. In April 2021, I graduated with a degree in philosophy.

I was recently admitted by the Diocese of Green Bay into the Kairos Year. In our diocese, the Kairos Year is the first year in the priestly formation. For me and for all my brothers who will be doing the Kairos Year, it will be a time to deepen our relationship with the Lord and with each other. It also will give us the opportunity to get to know more the diocese that we—God-willing—will serve. Please pray for me and the others to continue being open to the Holy Spirit as we discern God's particular call for each of us. God bless you all!
