“Let Your Face Shine Upon Us”

There's a stanza from today's psalm that captures a hope and a prayer. It would be incredible to realize because it's something that Jesus says he can give:

*“As soon as I lie down, I fall peacefully asleep,
for you alone, O LORD,
bring security to my dwelling.”*

—Psalm 4:9

If you've ever had restless nights, tossing and turning with many things running through the mind or heart, a peaceful, restful sleep ironically becomes a dream—something hoped for but not yet realized. When I was little and I had a hard time falling asleep, my mom would tell me to say some “Hail Marys” and “Our Fathers.” And, it usually worked. Sometimes I'd end up saying a whole rosary, but eventually sleep would come.

Sometimes people say they feel guilty if they fall asleep saying a rosary or while praying, but a spiritual director once told me to see it as a simple grace: you're falling asleep in God's arms with God in your heart. In other words, you've found peace, which is a gift of prayer.

Even today, when I'm tossing and turning, turning my thoughts to prayer on a restless night still tends to work. Maybe that's because it's a way to put myself into God's hands when there's nothing I can do at that moment. It brings a “security to my dwelling” knowing that even though tomorrow morning it will all come back, I can turn to God to find some peace when I need some rest.

He stood in their midst
and said to them,
“Peace be with you.”

Luke 24:36

In the gospel today, for the third time since Easter Sunday, we'll hear Jesus say, “Peace be with you.” We'll hear the way Luke recalls the events in the upper room on the morning of the Resurrection (last week it was through John). Again, we hear that the apostles are taken aback, even afraid, as they see Jesus standing in their midst. But his greeting is to calm their restless hearts and to bring them security—something they needed.

To help normalize things, and to convince them they aren't seeing a ghost, he asked them for something to eat—hardly something a ghost would do. It was truly and really him; in the flesh, but different: resurrected. God returned Jesus back to them and back to all of us to realize that God found a real and tangible way to show us he's with us, which is what the Eucharist is all about.

And so, the response we'll all recite today as we say the psalm is a prayer: “Lord, let your face shine upon us.” The apostles in the upper room realized it in a profound way. For us, we find Him in the faces of those around us who get us through difficult times, lend us a hand when we have nowhere else to turn, listen to us, strengthen us, and build us up. In other words, someone who is like Christ to us.

On those sleepless nights, and within restless days—especially when we feel alone—we realize God is looking down on us eager to give us the peace of his presence. And so, we do the very thing that can help give us some security: we pray.

May the peace of the Lord be with you always,

—Fr. Mike

“Thus it is written that the Christ would suffer and rise from the dead on the third day and that repentance, for the forgiveness of sins, would be preached in his name.”

—Luke 24:46-47

Excerpts from the Lectionary for Mass ©2001, 1998, 1970 CCD

We often act out of ignorance. Armed with the best of intentions, we think we are seeing clearly and correctly, but we are not. We don't always understand the full meaning of things and only perceive part of the truth. Hence, our judgments and actions can be impaired by myopic, incomplete or erroneous perceptions. The meaning of life, understanding of human experience, and negotiating life's challenges can all become skewed without proper understanding and vision. The resurrection of Christ is the corrective to our incomplete and limited view of life. Looking at things with the eyes of faith brings a depth of clarity and understanding to how we see God, ourselves, others, and the world.

Even the disciples struggled with their limited understanding and ignorant perceptions. It was only when Jesus opened their minds to understand the Scriptures that their eyes were opened. It was their “aha” moment when everything clicked. We all want the substance of our lives to come together, make sense, and have meaning. This is easier to achieve when things are going positively and life is good. It is when suffering, disappointment, death, hardship, and injustice enter the picture that things can become unsettled and disoriented. Our faith in the goodness and love of God is tested. We tend to shift our focus on these difficult and challenging moments and do not see them within the greater picture of how God intends life to unfold. We can gain, from the passion and resurrection of Christ, the clear vision we need in order to move away from ignorance to enlightenment.

We need our “aha” moment when everything comes together and clicks. It can come in a fleeting instant when we feel totally connected with God, where we find ourselves, others and all of creation. It is a moment when all is right and good, regardless of how difficult our journey. Our “aha” moment assures us that God is here, right with us, in us and around us bringing us a gift and blessing we can receive nowhere else: peace. In those brief sacramental encounters when we are lifted up out of ourselves and centered, we can hear God say, “peace be with you,” and we feel secure. It's all okay. The resurrected Christ has the power to bring this gift to us. Some people, as they are facing their deaths, remark about this peace. When looking into the window of eternity, they experience a depth of joy and are amazed at God's goodness and closeness. We are called to be witnesses to this Good News.

A Sting of Empty Tombs

By Ron Rolheiser, OMI

Spring and Easter, a conspiracy between nature and religion, creation and redemption, to make newness, to thaw things out, to rejuvenate and re-virginize, to make sunshine, to warm frozen places, and to produce new buds on the trees and new enthusiasm in the heart! It's the season of the resurrection. At the end of winter, sometime after the first equinox, God is hard at it, melting earth and melting hearts.

We celebrate many things with Easter. The resurrection is not just the mystery of Christ rising from the dead and of our future rising from the dead. It's life's spring, the event and power that brings new life out of what's been crucified by winter, from what's died, from what lies frozen and lifeless. Like nature needs spring each year, so, too, we need regular resurrections. Much in us lies frozen, crucified, lifeless. Elie Wiesel once said: "Life and death are not separate domains, they meet in us, though not in God. It is possible to live with death: all one needs to do is to turn one's back on living. It is possible to be dead and not know it." It is possible to be dead and not know it, to be asleep and still think we are awake, to be bitter as a slave and still think we are loving.

Physical death, for most of us, comes last. First, there is the long series of other deaths, of crucifixions, of freezings over. In this, too, we follow the pattern of what happened in Christ. Christ came as God's perfect image, the most precious, most sensitive, most special human being ever. It was that, the uniqueness and goodness, which was crucified. It is that that still gets crucified, in us. It is precisely in those areas of our lives where we bear God's image the most perfectly, where we are most precious, most sensitive and most special, that, invariably, we get crucified. What's calloused, tough, homogenized, survives, living on, helping us go through the motions of life; our automatic pilot in death. But what is most precious in us ends up in a tomb: A dream crucified, a Christ entombed, a winter set in, a human being frozen over. Before being buried in our graves we are, largely, buried in our lives.

Mainly because of this, we begin to sin. Our infidelities, our lack of gratitude, our lack of prayer, our propensity to misunderstand and to hurt each other, our need to lie and rationalize, and our excessive self-preoccupations, occur mostly because what's best in us, the image of God, lies frozen (assets we cannot touch). Our poverty and bitterness come from that. And so we begin to settle for second best. We make do: a life without enthusiasm, without fire, with passion quieted, with joy frozen. We despair, not by suicide, but by protest, protesting that our lives are without new possibilities: "If you really knew what my life is like, you wouldn't tell me I could be happy!" Eventually, hope fades into agnosticism. Agnosticism invariably turns to despair. Bitterly, we accept our limits: "This is the way I am, this is the way things are, this is the way it has always been. This is the way it will always be!" Nothing can surprise us anymore. We know what is possible for us, and what is possible in no way approximates our dreams.

So we live on, far from fully alive, on automatic pilot, the Christ in us lying in the tomb, what's most precious in us frozen under bitterness. There is darkness at the end of the tunnel, save for one thing: Spring and resurrection! Every spring, a warm sun reappears and nature and ourselves are given the opportunity to unthaw, to resurrect. Some years back, I received an Easter card which contained only these simple words: "May you leave behind you a string of empty tombs!" That's the challenge of Easter: To resurrect daily, to leave behind us a string of empty tombs, to let our crucified hopes and dreams be resurrected so that, like Christ, our lives will radiate that, in the end, everything is good, reality can be trusted, love does triumph over apathy and hatred, togetherness over loneliness, peace over chaos, and forgiveness over bitterness. We need regular resurrections. Spring and the resurrection are the season to let ourselves be unthawed, to revirginize, to come to second naivete, to think young again, to give the child in us scope again, to be open again to new possibilities, to surprise, to a new frolic under the sun after a cold bitter time.

Nature, all of it including ourselves, is incredibly resilient, incredibly resurrect-able. Given any chance, life wins out, brokenness heals, bitterness melts, new seeds form and life bursts forth from what once appeared to be dead. Crucifixions, bitterness and winters will come, but spring and resurrection are arsonists, both of them. So, as a song once perfectly put it:

Just remember in the winter

Far beneath the bitter snows

Lies the seed that with the sun's love

In the spring becomes the rose.

Spring and Easter. May we all leave behind us a string of empty tombs.

PRAYER REQUESTS

St. Hubert Catholic Faith Community Prayers for the Sick

Is any one of you in trouble? He should pray. Is anyone happy?

*Let him sing songs of praise. Is any one of you sick?
He should call the elders of the church to pray over him and anoint him with oil in the name of the Lord.*

—James 5:13-14

The St. Hubert community supports parishioners and family members of parishioners who are sick through prayer and suffering. Every week in the general intercessions of the Sunday liturgy, a petition is said for all those who are sick and suffering; some are mentioned by name. Individual names of the sick, those suffering from disease, those who have had or are about to have surgery or those injured in accidents may be added to the general intercession for all the sick. If a person does not wish to have their name read aloud at Mass, they can request that their name be entered only in the bulletin.

You may also choose to enter your name, the name of a loved one or a special intention in the Book of Prayer Intentions upon any visit to the church building. The Book of Prayer Intentions is located in the Narthex. The needs listed in this book are prayed for at every weekend liturgy.

The names of the sick listed in our parish bulletin will include those persons whose names have been requested by a family member or friend. These names will be read aloud at Mass, if requested, for three weeks and appear in the bulletin for six weeks. Please be sure to have the permission of the person that you are asking to add to the prayer list, since it would be announced at Mass and/or printed in the bulletin.

If you want a name to remain in the general intercessions at Mass or in the bulletin beyond the usual number of weeks, a phone call will be necessary. However, those suffering long term illness can be placed in the bulletin for 6 months.

Contact Parish Ministry Office at 847-885-7700 to add or continue a name on the prayer list. If you see someone's name on the bulletin list that is doing better and is out of the hospital, etc., please let us know by calling the Parish office so we can take their name off the list. Thank you.

Please continue to pray for our parishioners, family and friends who have requested our prayers.

APRIL FOOD DRIVE April 17 & 19, 1:00–3:00 PM

The April Food Drive is approaching quickly! We waited for Holy Week and Easter with prayer and anticipation. Now sun, warm weather as grass, trees and plants come to life, thanks be to God!

This weekend, St. Hubert will accept your food and gift card donations once again, after all Masses and from 1 to 3 PM through the church drive up. These donations will go to Church of the Holy Spirit food pantry in Schaumburg. Thank you for your continued generosity and God bless you.

@CHSSCHAUMBURG

Every once-in-a-while a performer comes along who was literally "Born to Entertain." Kym Frankovelgia is one such person. She is a cabaret singer, and has performed on cruise ships, with many well-known professional entertainers and bands, and has entertained at numerous groups within the Chicagoland area. Kym sings the very best music from the 20's, 30's, 40's, 50's and 60's. Each show includes music from the Standards songbook, the Big Band era, the Broadway stage, hilarious story songs, and heart-melting ballads,

The stage is Kym's own personal playground; this is what sets her apart from so many others who seem to get lost once the music stops. Her unique blend of warmth and humor, along with a huge catalogue of music in her repertoire, will provide an evening you won't easily forget.

Her show is a loving tribute to the Movies and Broadway and the music they created, which remains so popular today, and will be a crowd-pleasing musical program. It's a relaxed and spontaneous program; laughter and tears are practically guaranteed."

Job Support Group

9:30–11:00 AM

Every Monday Morning

The Saint Hubert Job and Networking Ministry continues in its mission to assist the job seeker and job changer with the introduction of “virtual” Accountability/Job Support Group meetings via Zoom. The meetings are a way to address your careering and job connection concerns with one of our team members, as well as one another, learn more about the resources available to job seekers, and to share information and support with a small group of attendees.

Expanded Evening Exchange Group

April 19, 6:00–8:00 PM

Whether you are a newcomer to the Saint Hubert Job Support Group or one of our members, feel free to attend this group for job seekers, on the 1st and 3rd Monday of each month, where you can sit in and learn from the questions and answers of others. If you would like to register for this event, send an email with the subject, “Expanded Evening Exchange Group” to sainthubertjobministry@gmail.com and you will receive an invitation to join the Zoom meeting.

Job Seeker's Exchange

April 26, 6:00–7:00 PM

Whether you are a newcomer to the Saint Hubert Job Support Group or one of our members, feel free to attend the meeting, for job seekers, which precedes our regular Monday meeting on the 2nd and 4th Monday of each month, where you can sit in and learn from the questions and answers of others.

How to Prepare for Your Next Layoff...and the One After That

April 26, 7:00–9:00 PM

The average job tenure in the United States is 2.9 years; for “C” level positions, it’s 1.5 years. A job layoff can be a shock, and leave one in disbelief. Learn the signs of a possible impending layoff; How to prepare; What to say and do; What not to do; How to find that next job, and come back stronger than ever; How to prepare for the layoff after that.

Our speaker will be Richard J. Kennedy, an experienced presenter, educator, mentor and coach. Mr. Kennedy has worked from Wall Street to Hollywood, with start ups to Fortune 50 firms in several industries. He is currently a program administrator and new business development professional at Southern Illinois University.

If you would like to register, send an email with the subject “Expanded Evening Exchange Group,” “Job Seeker’s Exchange” & “How to Prepare for Your Next Layoff” to sainthubertjobministry@gmail.com. You will receive an invitation to join the Zoom meeting.

PRAY THE ROSARY

Join us at church every Friday morning at 8:00 to pray the rosary. Stay for the 8:30 AM Mass. If you’re not yet ready or able to join us at that time, the Rosary Ministry invites you to click on the above image on our website, www.sainthubert.org. You will be taken to our Devotional Prayer page which will walk you through the praying the Rosary.

ROSARY REPAIR AND DONATIONS

A parishioner, Patrick Fleming, has offered to repair broken rosaries—though he can not repair string rosaries. There will be drop off receptacles at the ministry station in the narthex, and rosaries can be dropped off there. Patrick suggests putting any rosary to be repaired in an envelope with your name and phone number on it for return purposes. When repaired, we will let you know you can pick it up.

Please donate any unused, broken rosaries so that their parts can be used to repair member’s rosaries.

In addition to repairing rosaries, Patrick makes rosaries for the missions, and he also accepts any rosaries people wish to donate. Those can also be dropped off in the narthex in the receptacle marked “Rosaries.”

Helping Hands Ministry

We'd like to believe that when needing support, we all have a family member or friend close by to help out. Unfortunately, this is not always the case. Or, perhaps, a great deal of support is needed requiring more support than family members are able to provide. The Helping Hands Ministry was formed to assist members in our parish, free of charge, in various ways:

- Rides to appointments, grocery store, Mass
- Relieving a caregiver by sitting with homebound family member
- Handy work or yard work
- Housework/cleaning
- Meals for those recovering from illness
- Just ask!

To request assistance or to volunteer, please contact the St. Hubert front desk at 847-885-7700, ext. 102. Your request will be shared with the Helping Hands Coordinator.
