29TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

“Repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God.” - Mt 22:21c

Lavin Family Learning Center

As you can see from the pictures, Bishop Hicks was here at St. Michael last week to dedicate our newly renovated lower level. We began with Mass in the church and then processed downstairs for the blessing. Bishop Hicks expressed his great gratitude for the generosity of the donors who made the whole project possible. He also expressed his surprise that it happened so quickly!

I certainly want to echo his profound gratitude (and surprise)!

The lower level is called the Lavin Family Learning Center in honor of Richard and Colleen Lavin, pictured here with some of their children and grandchildren, one of whom graduated from St. Michael School last year, and the rest are either currently or (God willing!) future St. Michael Lancers!

Their generous gift came as a great surprise after a tour of the space last spring during our school's Grandparents Day, and so with great gratitude we have named the lower level after them. The music room is called the Barkei Music Room after Bob and Jane Barkei, grandparents of Rose Armbrust-Griffin, again with great gratitude for their generous gift. The language lab is yet to be named

I mentioned that I shared the bishop's surprise – not only that the project was completed so quickly, but especially by the name selected for the library/resource center. An anonymous donor requested that it be named after me – and I only found out at the dedication ceremony! It was quite a shock to say the least, but I certainly appreciate the honor and am grateful for the generous donation!

Obviously, there were many other donors, and I am no less grateful for their sacrifice. All of our donors will be recognized on a prominent wall in the new space.

Again, thank you all for your generosity!

Sunday's Readings

First Reading:

Thus says the LORD to his anointed, Cyrus,
whose right hand I grasp,
subduing nations before him. (Is 45:1)

Psalm:

Give the Lord glory and honor. (Ps 96)

Second Reading:

We give thanks to God always for all of you,
remembering you in our prayers, unceasingly calling to mind your work of faith and labor of love. (1 Thes 1:2-3)

Gospel:

"Then repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God." (Mt 22:21)

SAINT MICHAEL
WOMEN'S FAITH GROUP

Are you A Mirror, Flashlight, or Sandpaper?

Father Mike Schmitz, recently said there's both beauty and danger in taking the Eucharist to the streets.

"I'm not a massive fan of 'let's take what's sacred and bring it out into the world in a way that could be massively misunderstood,' or I'm not convinced it necessarily evangelizes the way that maybe we hope it evangelizes," he said in September.

I like his honest observations about this venerable church tradition, in which a consecrated host is placed in a monstrance and, lifted up by a priest, becomes the head of a public procession. As a relatively new convert, I'm fascinated by the tradition, but I don't have much insight into it, so I thought for this column, I'll crib liberally from a recent article featured in The Catholic Spirit website.

Despite his hesitation, Fr. Schmitz has recently lead the Eucharistic procession in New York because, he said processions are part of the church's patrimony. He said he is open to whatever fruit the experience might bear — for him, other pilgrims and passersby.

"There is someone who has to take the lead when it comes to changing our culture," he said. "This is maybe something that God is initiating."

Father Schmitz said he has found Eucharistic processions to be powerful forms of worship in contexts where everyone has been prepared to pray and adore Jesus... But, taking the Eucharist to a secular space means many people — even Catholics — are not expecting to see the monstrance, and don't know what it is or don't know how to respond.

Yet, he said, that might be the point.

"Here's the Holy of Holies taken out of the temple, yet at the same time many people have pointed out that maybe that's what was meant by the tearing of the veil in the tabernacle, in the temple, from top to bottom," he said, referring to a detail from the accounts of Jesus' crucifixion found in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke. "Not that now the world can enter the Holy of Holies, but now God's presence can come out into the world."

He said that people can respond to the invitation present in the Eucharist in the same way they respond to Scripture — seeing it as a mirror, a flashlight or sandpaper. As a mirror, both can help a person see himself or herself as he or she truly is. As a flashlight, both can shed light on something that needs to be seen. And as sandpaper, both can smooth away "rub us in a way that we have to act" even if it's uncomfortable, he said.

"A procession of Our Lord in the Eucharist himself is that mirror, that flashlight and that sandpaper that shapes us, that shines on us, and that reveals us to ourselves," he said.

He said that people in a procession need to try to overcome self-consciousness and enter into prayer, despite the distractions.

"As we're walking along, journeying with the Lord, there is a big temptation to be distracted by that self-preoccupation, there is a big temptation to be distracted by 'what are people thinking?' (and) there's a distraction of 'what is my experience right now?'" Father Schmitz said, "instead of 'this is the moment, I'm entering into this, I've said yes to this, and I'm part of this worship, I'm part of this procession, and God, whatever it is that you're doing here, I want to be open to that.'"

... Father Schmitz said that the Greek word for "martyr" means "witness."

While some people give witness to Christ through their death, all Christians are called to give witness with their lives, he said.

"We're all called to bear witness to Christ in some way, shape or form," he said, noting that participating in the procession witnesses "to the true presence of Jesus Christ in the Eucharist."

All this to say that St. Michael and St. Petronille parishes will be having a Eucharistic Procession for Saturday, October 28, from 8 – 11 a.m. We start at St. Michael and make our way to St. Petronille for a brief service. Come as a mirror, flashlight, or sandpaper! But mostly just come, like Father Schmitz, being open to whatever fruit the experience might bear.

Mark Galli is a St. Michael Parishioner. This article is an ongoing series in the year of the Eucharistic Revival.

"The stone that the builders rejected has become the corner stone..." - Matthew 21:42

Jesus was rejected by the religious and political leaders of his day, as well as ordinary citizens, but he was still obedient to God, the Father. Similarly, living a stewardship lifestyle may cause you to be "rejected" by others, but we, too are called to be obedient. Saying grace before a meal in a restaurant may attract some strange looks from some. But to others it is a sign that God is alive and well!
