Congratulations to the St. Michael Parish Communicants

Please join us in praying for the 168 parish children who received Jesus in the Sacrament of Holy Communion for the first time this spring. They now join us in participating fully in the Celebration of the Eucharist. We pray that they may wholeheartedly embrace this precious gift and always know how much Jesus loves them!

Our Lord's command to "love one another" in today's Gospel takes on a special weight when you consider the context in which he gives the command: it's the Last Supper. This is the last instruction Jesus will give to his Apostles before his suffering and death. This "Last Supper" discourse of Jesus is a kind of summary of his life on earth; of the purpose of his mission. It's a preparation for the Apostles to go out and continue that mission. He has spent roughly three years teaching and preparing them, and now he is getting ready to take his leave of them, and these are his parting words: "Love one another."

Pope Benedict, in his encyclical letter "God is Love" asks a question that I think we all have probably asked in one form or another: "Can love be commanded?" He states that a typical objection goes like this: "Love cannot be commanded; it is ultimately a feeling that is either there or not, nor can it be produced by the will." He explains: "Love is not merely a sentiment. Sentiments come and go. A sentiment can be a marvelous first spark, but it's not the fullness of love. Love of neighbor is shown to be possible in the way proclaimed by the Bible, by Jesus. It consists in the very fact that, in God and with God, I love even the person whom I do not like or even know."

The Pope is telling us basically that it is possible to love people whom we do not like! Or in other words, don't get too hung up on the fact that you don't feel any particular attraction to this or that person. Some people seem to go out of their way to repel others.

Some years ago I was making the rounds at a hospital and I noticed a young man in the emergency room sitting on the edge of the bed. He had been in a fight and was pretty banged up. One of the nurses suggested that I might want to stay away from him. He was coming down off of the effects of drugs and alcohol and had been very belligerent with the staff. He even threw his urine sample at one of the nurses.

So I walked over to him (watching where I stepped!) and just started talking to him. I really don't remember much about what I said to him, but I remember being somewhat repelled by his smugness and sarcasm and his know-it-all attitude. I also knew that he, in fact, did not know-it-all, and didn't even know where to begin looking for the answers. But I knew that my feeling of revulsion had nothing to do with what I felt called to do.

I was able to love him by simply sitting there and listening to his story for a half-hour or so. When I got up to leave I half-expected him to say something disparaging, but instead he thanked me. I was surprised. I said "For what?" He said, "You're the only one who actually listened to me." The simple fact that I was there – not because I had to be, but because I had decided to be – meant something to him.

Pope Benedict says that I can love the person I don't particularly like only "on the basis of an intimate encounter with God, an encounter which has become a communion of will, even affecting my feelings. Then I learn to look on this other person – not simply with my eyes and my feelings, but from the perspective of Jesus Christ. His friend is my friend."

It was a very easy thing for me to spend time with a guy – who everyone else was very obviously avoiding – because I knew that Jesus Christ spent three hours of agony on the cross for him. If he thought the guy was worth it – I didn't need to know anything more about him. I could spend a half-hour with him.

The Pope goes on: "Seeing with the eyes of Christ, I can give to others much more than their outward necessities; I can give them the look of love which they crave."

Do you know anyone who does not crave love? The doctors and nurses were trying to give him the outward necessities and he lashed out at them because he knew that they were merely fulfilling an obligation.

I gave him really nothing at all – no profound words, no solutions to his problems; it didn't cost me anything and it was quite easy to do – and he thanked me, because he knew that it was done with love.

Love is not a feeling; it's a command. Isn't there someone who could benefit from a simple act of love from you?

I would like to congratulate our second-graders who received their First Holy Communion this past weekend. It is always such a joy for me to see these little ones receive our Lord in Holy Communion for the first time. A special word of thanks goes out to all of our teachers, catechists and parents who prepared them for this sacrament.

Fr. Daniel Estabach

6th Sunday of Easter

"This is my commandment: love one another as I love you. No one has greater love than this, to lay down one's life for one's friends."
- John 15:12-13

Do you love Jesus? Do you consider Him your friend? Jesus says that if we love Him we would be willing to offer whatever we have to Him, not because we want praise and glory, but simply because we love Him. Does your giving seem mechanical out of obligation or do you share freely out of love?

Thank you to everyone who has already pledged their gift to the 2024 Catholic Ministries Catholic Appeal. We know that every contribution comes from the heart and each dollar we receive helps our parish meet our CMAA goal. Together, we can come to the aid of our brothers and sisters in need For the Glory of God.

If you still plan on making your gift, pledge envelopes are still available in the church, or you can use the envelope you received in the mail from the diocese. We also welcome online gifts at jolietdioceseappeal.org

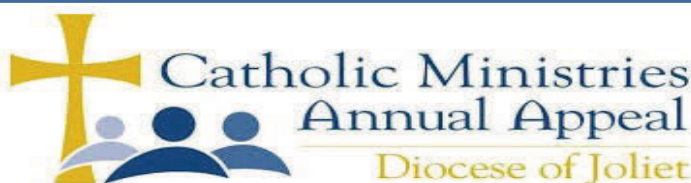

Remember, if we raise more than our goal of $169,300, the diocese will return 70 percent of the amount over goal to us to reinvest in our own parish. This is an incredible opportunity and blessing!

Thank you for your generosity!
