SCRIPTURE FOCUS

Scripture focus for the

January 9 Mass

The Feast of the Baptism of the Lord

The Lord will bless his people with peace. Ps 29

In the Gospel from Luke Chapter 3, we see John the Baptist announcing the one who is mightier than he and will baptize you with the Holy Spirit. John was baptizing with water, not with power. Take some time this week to think about what baptism means for your life. Our baptism is different!

...The Baptism given by Jesus, which the Church, faithful to his command, does not cease to administer, is quite different. This Baptism frees man from original sin and forgives his sins, saves him from slavery to evil and is a sign of his rebirth in the Holy Spirit; it imparts to him a new life, which is participation in the life of God the Father, given to us by his Only-Begotten Son who became man, died and rose again.

4. Dear brothers and sisters, in a few moments these children will also receive Baptism and become living members of the Church. They will first be anointed with the oil of catechumens, a sign of Christ's gentle strength given to them to fight against evil. Then blessed water will be poured on them, a sign of their interior purification through the gift of the Holy Spirit, poured out by Jesus as he was dying on the Cross. They are then immediately given a second and more important anointing with "chrism", to show that they are consecrated in the image of Jesus, the Father's Anointed. Then each child's father receives a candle to be lit from the paschal candle, a symbol of the light of faith which the parents and godparents must continue to safeguard and nourish with the life-giving grace of the Spirit.

Dear parents and godparents, let us entrust these little ones to the Virgin Mary's motherly intercession. Let us ask her to make them, dressed in their white garments, a sign of their new dignity as children of God, true Christians and courageous witnesses to the Gospel throughout their lives.

— Excerpt from St. Pope John Paul II's Homily on for this Feast on January 12, 1997

After all the people had been baptized and Jesus also had been baptized and was praying, heaven was opened and the Holy Spirit descended upon him in bodily form like a dove. "And a voice came from heaven, "You are my beloved Son; with you I am well pleased." Lk 3: 21-22

RESPECT LIFE MINISTRY

WORD OF LIFE: January 9, 2022

“When we encounter Christ, experience His love, and deepen our relationship with him, we become more aware of our own worth and that of others. His love for each person is cause for great joy, and growing understanding of this priceless treasure motivates us to share His love with others. Our lives are often changed by the witness of others; so too, others’ lives may be changed by our witness and authentic friendship with them.”

SPOTLIGHT ON THE MASS:

Transformed to Look More Like Christ

‘The healing known in the Eucharist’ cont’d: Are we eager recipients of the gifts He wants to give us?

And when you receive the Eucharist, by all means enjoy the symbolism of our unity, but don’t get so caught up in your fellow-feeling that you forget that you are receiving the most powerful medicine that was ever developed. In the Eucharist, the Divine Physician is administering a treatment that is intended to burn away everything that is broken about your humanity and transform you — through the power of his infinite love contained in that tiny, host-sized package — into what you were created to be at the beginning of time — perfect and eternal, a god in God. The Eucharist is not a symbol. You are consuming raw, devastating, divine power — a prescription to be used only as directed.

FINDING OUR HEROES – GROWING IN VIRTUE READING ALOUD NEVER GROWS OLD – IT’S AN ADVENTURE!

Are you reading aloud? Is it different to hear Scripture spoken? What are the stories we read and how can we understand them?

The Children’s Bulletins in the parish Library can help us understand or remember a scripture story through puzzles. Reading Scripture aloud can help to bring our Catholic stories of Jesus and Bible Heroes to life in a new way. You get to ‘walk in the shoes’ of the people you read about. Can you place yourself in the story? Acquiring new words and understanding them happens all of our life. Hearing the words spoken cultivates our vocabulary, too. Reading the Scriptures in Mass helps us to hear them differently than if we read them. We have the homily to help us to understand them in the context of our lives today. Reading any story can help us grow virtues and practice making decisions with the characters we read about. We can watch a character grow or see them make mistakes. Talking about the story helps us understand how to live a better life and make good decisions, too. Looking at our Scripture stories helps us get to know and feel the love of God, Jesus and other people of the Bible. What is God trying to tell us? Lifelong faith formation requires the listening, hearing and absorbing these stories with our eyes on Christ and heaven.

A story allows our children to practice living through an experience vicariously. We can’t stand next to our children through every hardship they encounter, and we can’t shoulder every burden...As they grow and move out into the world, they’ll face struggles in work, relationships, and all manner of situations... We want our children to be brave, kind, and honest – and how will that be possible if they’ve never had the opportunity to face fear, unkindness, and the temptation to do wrong?...Fiction and non-fiction... provide the opportunity to experience what it feels like to be overwhelmed, struggle, fight, overcome, and emerge a hero. – The Reading-Aloud Family

Are you reading Scripture? Read aloud and ask questions. Scripture can be a challenge to understand for many reasons. There may be words that we don’t understand, and it requires a dictionary or footnotes. Then there are the many layers of understanding the meaning: historical context, allegory or metaphor, poetry and yes, even the literary sense. For adults as well as kids, choosing the right Bible or book of Bible stories is important! If you have any questions about your students’ Bible or choosing one for your family, let me know! Grace and peace to you, Donna Doherty, Director of Faith Formation.
