FROM THE DESK OF THE PARISH ADMINISTRATOR

Dear Parishioners,

This Sunday, we hear from John 6 for the 4th consecutive time. (Just one more Sunday to go until we reach the end!) Today, Jesus is in the Synagogue in Capernaum and he teaches the people, “I am the living bread that came down from heaven...the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world.”

By describing his “flesh” as “the life of the world,” Jesus is clearly referencing the gift of the Eucharist that he will institute at the Last Supper.

Understandably, his listeners are a bit confused. They ask one another, “How can this man give us his flesh to eat?” It’s a good question. Is Jesus really telling the crowd to eat his flesh and drink his blood? Jesus has every opportunity to back down and soften his words. He could easily tell them: “Just kidding!”, or “Don’t worry, I’m using a metaphor!”, or “Settle down, it’s just a symbol!”

But he doesn’t. Instead, he ups the ante, cranks things up a notch, and intensifies his argument. This is what he says: "Amen, amen, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you do not have life within you...For my flesh is true food, and my blood is true drink. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me and I in him.”

From the time of Jesus, the Church has constantly believed that the Eucharist is the Body and Blood of Jesus. Most commonly, we employ a rather big word to describe this miracle, namely, transubstantiation. What this means is that the substance (or reality) of bread and wine change (trans) into the Body and Blood of Jesus while the accidents (or appearance of bread and wine) remain constant.

Of course, this happens not according to the priest’s power or merits, but rather God’s. God determines the nature of all things. In the Eucharist, he changes the nature of bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ (even though the appearance, understandably, looks the same) so that he could be really, truly, and substantially present to us in every Mass, tabernacle, and monstrance around the world.

The next time you feel distant from God, rest assured, God is here. Come to Mass or come to pray in Church where God is here—Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity—in the Most Holy Eucharist.

In Christ,

Father Strand

Holy Hour for the Purification of the Clergy and in Reparation

In the past several weeks, you likely have heard news regarding clerical sin and scandal within the Catholic Church. In light of these distressing stories, I will lead a holy hour this Wednesday, August 22 at Holy Trinity from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. to pray for the purification of the clergy, in reparation for sins against chastity and the abuse of power, and for victims of abuse. Fr. Nathan Reesman is leading a similar Holy Hour to which you are invited this afternoon (Sunday, August 19) from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. at St. Frances Cabrini Parish in West Bend.

In Christ,
Father Strand
