ONE MINUTE CATECHISM

The Eucharist - Part V (CCC 1322-1419) We have been discussing the four elements of the Eucharistic Liturgy. Last time we began the discussion of the Liturgy of the Eucharist, which is the heart of the Mass. We discussed how the priest, acting in the person of Christ, transforms the substance of the bread and wine into the actual Body and Blood of Christ during the Consecration. After the Consecration, the priest invites us to join him in reciting the Anamnesis (also called the Memorial Acclamation or Remembrance) in which we recall the Death and Resurrection of Christ and look forward to His glorious return. As you likely have noticed, we use three different versions of the Anamnesis (“We proclaim your death, O Lord...”; “When we eat this Bread...”; and “Save us Savior of the World...”).

The priest next recites the Second Epiclesis, invoking the Holy Spirit upon the congregation, to bring unity to all who will receive Holy Communion. He also recites Intercessions, invoking the whole Communion of Saints and all God’s people on earth to join in prayer for the needs of all the members of the Church, living and dead. The priest concludes the Eucharistic prayer with the Doxology (“Through Him, with Him, and in Him...”). We respond, “Amen.” As a rule, the words of the Eucharistic Prayer and Doxology are to be said by the priest alone. Except where a response is called for, you should remain silent and focused during Eucharistic Prayer.

After the Eucharistic Prayer, comes the Communion Rite, which includes, the Our Father, the Lamb of God, the breaking of the Body of Christ, and the distribution of Holy Communion. In our Diocese, it is equally acceptable to receive Communion either on one’s tongue or in one’s hand. The Communion Rite concludes with a closing prayer.

The Fourth and final part of the Eucharistic Liturgy is the Concluding Rite. Following the prayer after Holy Communion, the priest blesses us and then dismisses the congregation.

Reflect: To properly receive Communion in your hand, place your left hand on top of your right hand and hold both hands up to receive the Body of Christ. Then, use your right hand to carefully pick up the Body of Christ and immediately and reverently place It in your mouth. It is never acceptable to hold onto the Host or to not consume it immediately. If you are bringing Communion to a sick person, you must be trained as a Eucharistic Minister and must always carry the Host in a special container called a pix.

Pray: O Heart of Jesus, I place my trust in Thee.

“Although St. Eugene continues to show an offertory deficit, the Finance Council remains hopeful it will narrow further with your continued financial support through the June 30 fiscal year end.” ~Luke Junk, St. Eugene Finance Council

As the school year draws to a close, our alumni at local high schools are receiving accolades for a variety of achievements, and we could not be more proud.

At Marquette University High School, two of our alumni have been inducted into the Jesuit Honor Society. Students who receive this honor are chosen for actively modeling the ideals of intellectual excellence, openness to growth, being religious, loving, and committed to justice. Congratulations to sophomore Ryan Gould and junior Andrew Pienkos.

At Nicolet High School, senior Diego Beisser, SES class of 2018, was a finalist for the Nicolet MEPA (Multi Ethnic Parent Association) scholarship. Multi Ethnic Parent Association of Nicolet High School is an advocacy group purposed to create and support academic achievement and social development in an evolving, culturally intelligent learning environment. Students were tasked with writing an essay on topics relating to how race and culture are taught in history in schools, and how cultural identity affects learning. Congratulations, Diego, for being recognized by this group, and for all of your success during your four years at Nicolet!

In the Dominican High School theater department, two of our alumnae received Jerry Awards for their roles in the musical Xanadu. Senior Rose O’Keeffe won for Outstanding Lead Performance and sophomore Sophia Kleinmann won the Spirit Award. Congratulations to both for this impressive recognition!

To all of our alumni, we have loved watching all that you have accomplished during this school year, and we pray that you have a safe and restful summer.
