THE TANGIBLE AND THE INTANGIBLE EVIDENCE FOR JESUS' RESURRECTION

As Catholic Christians we profess a creed that is truly radical. We believe in the mystery of the Holy Trinity—God is one divine substance in three persons. We believe in the mystery of the Incarnation— God the Son actually took to Himself a human nature, born of a virgin, entering into His own creation. We also believe that the God-man suffered death and rose from the dead. As we recite in the Nicene Creed: “For our sake [Jesus] suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures.”

Because bodily resurrection is such an astounding occurrence some scholars have even suggested that Jesus' resurrection was simply a “spiritual resurrection.” Maybe Jesus just appeared to rise from the dead so as to inspire his disciples with hope that God was doing something new through this Jesus movement.

Of course, today's Gospel (Luke 24:35-48) does not permit such a view. The Risen Jesus is intent on proving to his disciples that it is truly his physical body that has been raised. He tells them to use their sense of sight, saying, “Look at my hands and my feet, that is it is I myself.” He tells them to use their sense of touch, saying, “Touch me and see, because a ghost does not have flesh and bones as you can see that I have.” Jesus' apostles proclaimed the truth that He was risen because they actually saw and touched his body. St. Thomas saw the nail print in Jesus' hands and actually placed his finger in the mark of the nails (John 20:25-29). So convinced was Thomas and the other apostles that most of them testified to the resurrection of Jesus' physical body, refusing to recant even when faced with a violent death. St. John wrote, “What we looked upon and touched with our hands concerns the Word of life (1 John 1:1).

The risen Lord also demonstrated his true physical presence by eating a piece of baked fish in front of his disciples. St. Peter would later say that God chose witnesses who “ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead” (Acts 10:41). Of course, ghosts cannot eat fish.

However, God did not choose everyone to have such a tangible experience of the risen Jesus. At the beginning of today's Gospel we hear about the two disciples who were travelling to Emmaus.

The risen Jesus was made known to them not through the sense of physical sight or physical touch. Rather, “he was made known to them in the breaking of the bread.” It was through the mystery of the Holy Eucharist that they were able to know Jesus as risen from the dead. It is in the Eucharist that we cannot trust our physical senses. In the words of St. Thomas Aquinas' hymn Tantum Ergo:

“Down in adoration falling, / Lo!, the sacred Host we hail, / Lo! o'er ancient forms departing / Newer rites prevail; / Faith for all defects supplying, / Where the feeble senses fail.”

Our faith in the Resurrection is based on firsthand testimony from those who had empirical knowledge of a real historical event. However, Jesus wanted to encounter people in all places and in all ages. Therefore, he also makes himself present to us in other ways. He makes himself present through the gift of faith, through the sacraments, through his mystical body the Church.

We can be confident that Jesus is truly risen! The risen Lord sends his Holy Spirit upon his Church and gives us a share in his own resurrection. We live this life as a risen victorious people who share in Jesus' triumph over sin and death. We are promised resurrection unto eternal life if we die in his friendship. This reality should fill our hearts with joy. Our joy should be palpable to those who encounter us.

Χριστος ανεστη – Christ is Risen! He is truly Risen!
Come, Holy Spirit!

CHILDREN AS COMMODITIES?

"Good afternoon ladies and gentlemen.

This is your pilot speaking. ... I have two pieces of news to report, one good and one bad. The bad news is that we are lost. The good news is that we are making excellent time."

—Author Unknown

In 1971, the renowned physician and medical ethicist, Dr. Leon Kass, used this parable to illustrate the coming wave of assisted reproductive technologies, hailed by science as a final triumph over infertility; scientists were on the verge of creating children outside the womb and inside the laboratory. Dr. Kass feared that we had not given adequate consideration to the question of how this might affect the couples pursuing these methods and the children produced from them. Forty years later, we're just beginning to understand the consequences of such technologies.

Consider Natalie,* a thirty-year-old woman living in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. Throughout her childhood and adolescent years, she suffered from depression and endured severe adjustment difficulties, feeling as if she never truly belonged in her family. When she was seventeen years old, she discovered that she was conceived through a process known as commercial surrogacy. Natalie's parents had contracted with another woman to become pregnant using her father's sperm and the woman's own egg, bear her for nine months in her womb, and then hand her over to them. After questioning why her parents lied to her, Natalie became estranged from them, hurt that money, rather than the expression of marital love, was the context in which she was brought into the world.

Now consider Amy, who was eight years old when her parents told her they would be divorcing. Her father attempted to gain custody of her older sister, but not her.

The reason? Amy was conceived via an anonymous sperm donation, and her father was not interested in maintaining a relationship with a child who was not biologically his offspring. Such a scenario highlights the many complexities of donor conception, by which a child is intentionally severed from his or her biological parents with little consideration of the long-term consequences of such a decision.

These true stories represent the sad realities often faced both by those who choose to pursue assisted reproductive technologies and by children conceived through them. Unfortunately, when couples face the heartbreaking challenge of infertility, they may not know where else to turn.

When couples are unable to bear children, very often there is an understandable feeling of great loss. It is essential to note that "the Church has compassion for couples suffering from infertility and wants to be of real help to them. At the same time, some 'reproductive technologies' are not morally legitimate ways to solve those problems."¹ No doubt, those who are tempted to avail themselves of such technologies almost always plan to accept and cherish the child to be conceived in this manner. Nevertheless, the child is brought into existence through a technological process and not through a loving act of marital intercourse. The inevitable result is that the child is initially treated as an object created for the parents' self-fulfillment instead of welcomed as a gift of God.

Since the advent in 1978 of IVF (in vitro fertilization), by which children are "conceived" by technicians working in

FUNDRAISER

Kaylee and her parents, John and Melody, are longtime St. Mary parishioners. I have spoken with Kaylee and believe that the program that she wishes to do will really help her to grow as a young leader in the Catholic Church. We will be giving our weekly sacrificial giving from the April 17/18 collection towards Kaylee's project. -Fr. DiTomo

My name is Kaylee Domek. I am currently a senior at the University of Iowa, majoring in Elementary Education, and will graduate in December of 2021. I have grown up going to St. Mary's Catholic Church in Huntley, Illinois. I knew that I wanted to continue to grow in my faith when I went to college. Throughout my time at the University of Iowa, I have had the opportunity to learn and grow in my Catholic faith through the Newman Catholic Student Center on campus. This Summer, I have a wonderful opportunity to spend ten weeks in Boyne Mountain, Michigan, with FOCUS (Fellowship of Catholic University Students) for Summer Projects. I have the opportunity to receive formation in the Catholic faith from speakers and grow in fellowship alongside 70 other college students from across the country. In addition, we will be participating in Mass and prayer every day and share our Catholic faith with people working or attending the resort. In order to participate in this wonderful opportunity, I need to fundraise $2,600 by April 31st. I ask you to prayerfully consider your financial support. labs, the floodgates have been opened to bringing about reproduction through egg and sperm donation and surrogate pregnancies. Yet these technologies are fraught with medical, legal, and moral complications that are often either unknown or too easily dismissed.

What many people don't realize is that, in addition to the financial burden, assisted reproductive technologies can also present significant health risks. A February 2014 analysis in the British Medical Journal found that women who use IVF are more likely to suffer “gestational diabetes, fetal growth restriction, pre-eclampsia, and premature birth.”² Children conceived through IVF are likely to have higher blood pressure, vascular difficulties and other health problems.³ Moreover, IVF and surrogacy subject women to grueling rounds of hormones, shots, and painful procedures with minimal chances of success. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the overall failure rate of IVF in the United States is nearly seventy percent.⁴

Yet the demand for “designer babies” and the commercialization of childbearing continues to increase. Parents who are spending tens of thousands of dollars to conceive children now have the option of picking the “best” sperm or egg to maximize their investment. However, “children are not parents’ possessions to manufacture, manipulate, or design; rather, they are fellow persons with full human dignity, and parents are called to accept, care for, and raise them to be new members of God’s family and his Kingdom. Children deserve to be ‘begotten, not made.’”⁵ In other words, children have the right to be conceived within the context of an act of marital love, not created in a laboratory by scientists.

How then do we best respond to couples struggling with infertility? First, we must acknowledge their pain and accompany them in their suffering. Second, we should offer them opportunities to continue exploring the possibility of parenthood. Many causes of infertility can be addressed through medical assistance that is fully in accord with Catholic teaching. Adoption is also a viable alternative for couples seeking to raise children, as it lovingly serves children who urgently need homes and families to love and care for them. For couples who choose not to pursue these options, their active service in ministries and communities where they are needed should be better welcomed. As Pope St. John Paul II reminded us, “It must not be forgotten ... that, even when procreation is not possible, conjugal life does not for this reason lose its value. Physical sterility in fact can be for spouses the occasion for other important services to the life of the human person.”⁶ While infertility may be a profoundly painful process for many, the Church calls the couple to consider that this experience may ultimately lead to new ways of experiencing God’s love and plan for their love to be life-giving in other ways, even if they are unexpected.

The very technologies that some believed would solve the age-old problem of infertility have, in fact, raised more questions than answers—questions about the meaning and purposes of children, and the limits and detriments of technology when it intervenes in the most intimate of human relationships. Children, after all, are meant to serve as an outgrowth of a couple’s love, but instead, reproductive technologies reduce that gift to a product. To ignore the concerns raised by some reproductive technologies and to move forward with them anyway would be to take matters into our own hands and to act against this great design. So instead, “in love, hope, and prayer, ... let us be open to God’s gift of life and love in marriage, with profound respect for the dignity of all God’s children.”⁷

A PRAYER OF PARENTS TO THE HOLY FAMILY

O Jesus, only-begotten Son of the Eternal Father, well-beloved Son of the Blessed Virgin and foster Child of St. Joseph, we most fervently implore Thee, through Mary Thine ever-blessed Mother and St. Joseph Thy foster father, take our children under Thy special charge and enclose them in the love of Thy Sacred Heart. They are the children of Thy Father in Heaven, created after His own image; they are Thy possession, for Thou hast purchased them with Thy Precious Blood; they are temples of the Holy Ghost, who sanctified them in Baptism and implanted in their hearts the virtues of faith, hope and charity.

O most loving Jesus, rule and guide them, that they may live according to the holy Catholic Faith, that they may not waver in their confidence in Thee and that they may ever remain faithful to Thy love.

O Mary, Blessed Mother of Jesus, grant to our children a place in thy pure maternal heart! Spread over them thy protecting mantle when danger threatens their innocence; keep them firm when they are about to stray from the path of virtue; and should they have the misfortune of falling into mortal sin, oh, then raise them up again, reconcile them with thy Divine Son and restore them to Sanctifying Grace.

And thou, O holy foster father St. Joseph, do not abandon our children! Protect them from the assaults of the wicked enemy and deliver them from all dangers of soul and body.

O dear parents of the holy Child Jesus! Intercede for us parents also, that we may bring up our children in the love and fear of God and one day attain with them the Beatific Vision. Amen.

To give life to someone is the greatest of all gifts. To save a life is the next. Who gave life to Jesus? It was Mary. Who saved his life? It was Joseph. Ask St. Paul who persecuted him. St. Peter who denied him. Ask all the saints who put him to death. But if we ask, "Who saved his life?" Be silent, patriarchs, be silent, prophets, be silent, apostles, confessors and martyrs. Let St. Joseph speak, for this honor is his alone; he alone is the savior of his Savior.

—Blessed William Joseph Chaminade

While you are unable to come to Mass, you can still make your Sunday donations by having them automatically transferred each week or month from your checking or savings account, or by way of a debit or credit card. The system was developed especially for Catholic parishes and is secure and easy to use. You can enroll online at our website: www.stmaryhuntley.org. Near the top of the page you will see a line that says "Donate online." You may then "Sign Up" on the website or "Learn More" about the program. For more information, please contact Annette at the Parish Office at (847) 669-3137 x 102 or aconrey@stmaryhuntley.org
