A MESSAGE FROM FR. HAMBROUGH

We were in a room at the DeGreeff Hospice House, a splendid facility on the campus of Mercy South, where patients receive compassionate care in their final days on earth. The man was dying too young—not yet fifty years old. But the cancer had run its course, and the call to the Kingdom was sure to come.

We gathered to pray and to celebrate the Sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick. His wife was there, along with his sons and their wives. His daughter was there, too—still a teenager, still too young to have a spouse. His sister was there as well. We prayed to God and offered the Last Rites of the Church. Then, the man looked at me and asked me to leave the room. Surprised by such a request, I consented and began to collect my things.

Then he looked at his sister and asked her to leave. Next, it was his daughters-in-law, and finally, his wife.

He wanted his next words to be spoken only to his children. As we stepped into the hallway and the door was closing, I looked back and saw them encircled in a four-person huddle, each one leaning in to hear. I don't know what the father said to his children that day, but I'd bet on this: I bet the three of them, to this day, have not forgotten what their dying father told them.

In 1881, the great Russian novelist Fyodor Dostoevsky was in a similar position. He knew he had little time left to live, so he asked his four children to come into his room. He then requested his wife to read aloud the parable of the Prodigal Son. Dostoevsky listened with his eyes closed, absorbed in prayer and thought. After the Gospel had been read, he said in his feeble voice: "My children, never forget what you have just heard. Have absolute faith in God, and never despair of His pardon. I love you dearly, but my love is nothing compared with the love of God for all those He has created. Even if you should be so unhappy as to commit a crime in the course of your life, never despair of God. You are His children, so humble yourselves before Him as before your father. Implore His pardon, and He will rejoice over your repentance as the father rejoiced over that of the Prodigal Son."

I'm pretty sure the Dostoevsky children never forgot what their father told them from his deathbed.

From the Pastor's Desk

It's interesting to consider our own last words. What would be the final words you would tell your children? What would be my last homily? How deeply into the depths of my heart would I go? How much of it would be about mercy?

There's an old legend about a young boy named Joel who was constantly asking questions—one of which was, "What language does God speak?" No one could answer him—not at home, not at school, not in his village. So he began to travel across his country, asking everyone the same question. Still, he did not receive an answer.

Eventually, he set off in search of the answer beyond his homeland. At last, he arrived in Jerusalem, at the hill outside of town called Calvary. There, he asked no questions, for the scene before him was somber and sorrowful—an innocent man had been put to death. Joel stood off to the side, silent in reverence.

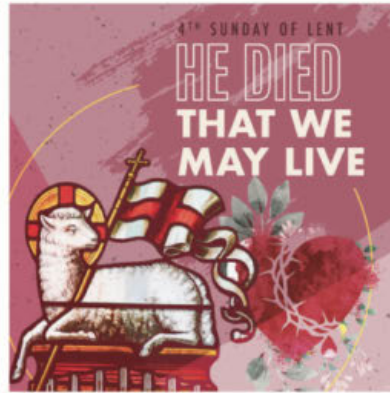

He was about to leave when a woman stopped him. Her name was Mary. "Joel," she said, "we've been expecting you." The boy was astonished that she knew his name. Mary continued, "For a long time, you have searched the world to discover what language God speaks. Well, now your journey is over. Today, you can look at my Son and see the language God speaks. His language is mercy. His desire is mercy. His joy is mercy. His word is mercy."

In this time of Lent, may that be the language we hear—the words spoken to us, the words spoken by a man about to die. Let us pray that we never forget them.

May God bless all of you.

"He said to him, 'My son, you are here with me always; everything I have is yours. But now we must celebrate and rejoice, because your brother was dead and has come to life again; he was lost and has been found.'" - Lk 15:31-32

Prayer of a Father's Blessing

God who wills good things for your children, help me to trust that You will be faithful.
 God who will not leave me, help me to seek You, too.
 God who is ever-waiting for me, help me to run straight towards You.

Amen

Live The Liturgy Inspiration of the Week

The Prodigal Son doesn't dare ask for the honor of being called his Father's son again. All he wants is to be close to his Father, to be cared for. But his Father surprises him with his mercy, as God surprises us. He offers more than just forgiveness. He offers redemption.

"Made for More" is an engaging production that helps us understand the vital connection made through our bodies with the divine love offered through Christ. In the Made for More production, Mike Mangione and Christopher West provide a means to help others understand this sacred connection through music and spiritual inspirations from St. John Paul II. These insights give us the opportunity to discover how our bodies are sacred vassals of Christ, especially in receiving His love and in communicating God's plans of love to the world.

Kairos Prison Ministry – Lenten Prayer Opportunity

Many of us have found ways to feed the hungry, welcome the stranger, clothe the naked, or care for the sick. What about visiting the imprisoned? This year you have the opportunity to do so vicariously. Kairos Prison Ministry will be holding a 4-day retreat at the Menard Correctional Center in Chester, IL from April 1-4. During this retreat, through talks, discussions and Chapel meditations, prisoners learn that they are worthy of God’s love, light and grace. That no matter who they are or what they have done, God will forgive them.

You can be an instrumental part of this retreat! How?

- 1.) Be a prayer warrior! Knowing that many people are praying for them during this retreat has a profound impact on the participants. It softens hearts hardened by years of incarceration and feelings of abandonment, opening the door for the Holy Spirit to enter. If you are interested, please sign up on the clipboard at the main church entrance or email Pat Dolan at pbdolan@att.net. You are asked to provide a first name and last initial and to pray for the inmates during this retreat.
- 2.) Financial contributions. These retreats have a cost associated with them. If you are interested in helping defray these costs, please go to KairosPrisonMinistry.org, click on “donate,” designate Illinois, and add “Menard” as a note. If you are interested in being a part of future retreats, please contact Pat Dolan at 979-389-9664 or pbdolan@att.net.

Matthew 25:39-40 – “When did we see you ill or in prison, and visit you?” And the king will say to them in reply, ‘Amen, I say to you, whatever you did for one of these least brothers of mine, you did for me.’”

Have you ever wondered.....

Where are the AED’s (Automatic External Defibrillators) on the Ascension Campus?

Or better yet, if there was ever a need, how can they be operated?

Come learn more about the above as well as a brief overview of giving CPR on Sat, 4/5 9-10:30am in the Parish Hall

Coffee & Donuts will be provided by the Engagement Commission.

JOIN US FOR THE 50 TH ANNIVERSARY OF CATHOLIC RELIEF SERVICES (CRS) RICE BOWL!

CRS Rice Bowl – PROTECTION FROM NATURAL DISASTERS

Located on the Bay of Bengal and crisscrossed by hundreds of rivers, Bangladesh bears the brunt of increasingly severe weather during its rainy season including powerful wind and neck-high surging water. Lives, livelihoods and assets of the people on the island are regularly lost and damaged by these weather phenomena.

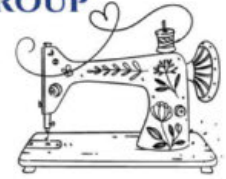

Through a local partner, CRS responds to these emergencies with lifesaving aid. They help survivors start over after storms, rebuild homes and replace lost assets. They also provide programs in disaster risk reduction, water sanitation, and adaptive farming techniques.

In this week’s Story of Hope, Shahadat and his family joined a Catholic Relief Services’ project that helps families reduce their risk from natural disasters like flooding, cyclones and river erosion. They learned how to protect their crops from floodwater by planting on raised garden beds and how to make organic fertilizer to grow healthier crops. With their new skills they boosted their vegetable harvest in just one year. Then they bought cows and chickens and sold the eggs for additional income. Soon, Shahadat could afford to pay for his college tuition and for the education of his brothers. Visit crsricebowl.org/week-4 to read Shahadat’s story.

CREATING CATHOLIC EXPERIENCES IN MOTHERHOOD:

Speaker Jenna Mayo will lead us through our topics this year which will center around how to move from "Helicopter to Propeller." We will be discussing ways to help propel your kids forward in mindset, identity and faith! Join us the second Tuesday of each month from 9:15-10:30am in Parish Hall.

Our session on Tuesday, April 8th at 9:15 am in the Parish Hall will focus on a meaningful conversation about Boundaries. They aren't just rules—they're a path to peace. Moms will learn how to set loving, firm boundaries in their own lives, transforming their mindset and emotional well-being. When we embrace healthy limits for ourselves, it naturally flows into how we guide and nurture our children. Watch how clear boundaries create a home of peace and respect, helping your children learn to communicate, react, and grow with greater understanding. Through prayer, reflection, and practical tools, you'll find freedom in your daily life and a deeper connection with both God and your family.
