TWENTY-SIXTH
SUNDAY
IN ORDINARY TIME

Jesus replied, "Do not prevent him. For whoever is not against us is for us. Anyone who gives you a cup of water to drink because you belong to Christ, amen, I say to you, will surely not lose his reward."

- Mk 9:39a, 40-41

"Would that all the people of God were prophets! That the Lord might bestow his Spirit on them all!"

From the Pastor Desk.....

Carlo Carretto (1910-1988)
A prophetic, outspoken layman whose words echo today

The celibate layman (not a priest or brother) Carlo Carretto was a charismatic figure in post-World War II Italy, the leader of the Italian youth movement known as Catholic Action. Italy was then ‘flirting’ with communism, and the church was seeking to counteract this ‘Red Menace’. To do this, it was necessary to enter into the political arena, but this could only be done directly by the laity. It was in this context that Carlo emerged, orientating, inspiring and mobilizing the younger generations. The fact that he headed Catholic Action for 20 years is a testimony to his success. It was during his lifetime that the Vatican’s conception of the role of the laity evolved from a ‘pray, obey and pay’ mentality to a realization that the temporal affairs of the church were no longer the exclusive domain of the clergy and that if it was to survive in the modern world, it would have to rely on the laity.

In 1954, Carlo resigned from his position and joined the recently founded Little Brothers of Jesus at their novitiate in the Saharan desert. Tho always grateful for the graces received in the Catholic Action movement, he felt overwhelmed by an activity that risked becoming an end in itself. Any activity, even the purest, even on behalf of the church, is empty if it is not sustained by a life of prayer and suspended from the cross. Success, on any level, becomes hollow once achieved; the exhilaration is in the pursuit. Another factor that probably influenced this decision was Roman clericalism and the Vatican’s desire to control Catholic Action. Carlo’s faith in the church’s essential mystery was unwavering, yet he disagreed vehemently with certain attitudes and mentalities of an ecclesiastical clique cut off from the concrete lives and preoccupations of the little people.

Now, thanks to his writings, Carlo is again a public figure. His “ode to the church” (part of a larger book) captures the disagreements he had with some aspects of the institutional church. Carlo had chosen (or had been chosen for, as he put it) celibacy even in his Catholic Action days, yet he never saw himself as a member of the ordained priesthood and remained a lay brother. He strongly believed in the priesthood of the faithful and could not see how obligatory celibacy could be a condition for ordained ministry. He also publicly opposed the church’s anti-divorce campaign in Italy on the grounds of tolerance -- that the church had no right to impose its teachings on a civil society made up mainly of unbelievers. He had harsh words for many of the externals of the church but was fiercely in love with its inner mystery.

Today, I have reprinted a part of his well-known “ode to the church”, because it captures beautifully the angst, frustration and yet love believers struggle with today for our Church. Challenged again by allegations, sin, brokenness, many today DO ask – why stay Catholic? Why be a member of a Church? PLEASE spend some time reading and reflecting on this “ode”, and allow the Spirit of the living God (the true Anchor of our Church!) to guide and inspire you! Thanks!
