Pope Francis Quote

“God is opening before the Church the horizons of a humanity more fully prepared for the sowing of the Gospel. I sense that the moment has come to commit all of the Church’s energies to a new evangelization and to the mission ad gentes. No believer in Christ, no institution of the Church can avoid this supreme duty: to proclaim Christ to all peoples.”

Reflection from Sr. Gail

Our readings call us to share the grace of God as His prophetic voice when He wants healing to come to those who are a part of your sphere of life. Jesus accepted this call by being a servant to all he met. Jesus called others to holiness by being a servant leader. He did not accept God's call out of the need to be recognized, to receive a title, nor to control others. His focus was to share the good news of the Father that he knew, loved and wanted us to share in the blessings.

As we enter into the ministry of journeying with one another through life, as ministers in the church, etc., may we carry Jesus' path. One central theme of how he shared God's truths is to ensure he did not inflict any unnecessary harm. Pay attention to our choice of words, the tone of our voice, where we share a message of God, and the how the spirit of compassion has the well-being of the other as more important than delivering the message.

When you don't care about the feelings of the other, then do not speak; no matter how important the message. Rather, sit in prayer and ask God to guide your mind until your care for the person is just as important as sharing God's message. Speak only when the love of God is heard clearly in every word shared. Truth sharing in God's world brings forth healing, and inspiration to allow the Holy Spirit to transform into the godly. When the godly is replaced with the goal of just sharing what an individual thinks is right, the grace of God does not flow with the message. Seek to share God's message of love.
