Peace and Grace to you my brothers and sisters:

It's back to school!!!! We are winding down vacation time and getting ready to head back to full speed work as summer comes to an end. All the regular activities in the parish are beginning now. Our Christian Formation program is getting ready to start. We are hopeful for the many children who will be receiving Christian Formation. We are also grateful for our students in the different schools and programs in the Catholic Community in Central Racine. We pray to God for our students at Renaissance School, Our Lady of Grace Academy, Saint Edward's Child Development Center and John XXIII Educational Center. We pray for this school year to be a successful one for the students, teachers and parents.

This week in the series on discipleship we come to the story of Martha and Mary (Lk 10, 38-42). This gospel passage is well known; and it has been interpreted in many different ways. One of the traditional interpretations is that Martha and Mary represented the active and contemplative lives of the church. Sometimes, this view promoted the contemplative life of the church over the active--as if it was better to be a monk in a monastery than a committed lay person in the parish. I want to propose considering another important element of the gospel that jumps out in the context of Jesus' teaching to his disciples. I think Jesus wants the disciples to learn about prioritizing the ability to listen to others. It is an invitation to listen. The key for a successful disciple in ministry is to listen. For us to take a moment to listen is very hard to do, because we tend to be like Martha, who presses on with work and the busyness of life. We just want to get things done.

We live in a society that sometimes doesn't listen. We are educated to press on with our own lives and not stop to listen and look around. The true disciple of the Lord stops and listens. Mary knows she has to be hospitable with Jesus; but she prioritizes listening to him over getting dinner ready. She never says she doesn't want to give dinner to Jesus. On the other hand, we have Martha worried over food and getting things ready for the guest. She completely forgets to inquire about the master's well-being. She forgets to stop for a while and listen. The gospel is not about who is better than who but rather a call to listen. It is about prioritizing our listening abilities to be able to understand what is happening around us. Did you take time during this week to listen to God's word in the midst of your busy schedules?

As September begins in our Catholic Community in Central Racine; we have a big celebration in one of our communities. From Friday September 13 to Sunday September 15 we have the Fall Funfest at Saint Edward's Parish. I hope to see you there!

Blessings, Juan M Camacho

Stewardship:

In today's Gospel, Jesus lays out the demands of following him, the great cot of discipleship. Because we follow Jesus, we must live the daily discipline of self-sacrifice for the sake of others.

* We received the following letter from Fr. Larry Chapman, a priest-son of the parish (ordained 1977). Although Fr. Larry is not able to join us on October 12, due to a commitment with a retreat for confirmation students, he wanted to share the following:

"[I have] great memories of serving Mass and devotions for Msgr. Schaefer, Fr Urban, Fr. Surges, Fr. Glisch, Fr. Molter, and so many others which planted the strong seeds of hoping one day to be a priest. I treasure serving Holy Week services, being a lector at Mass and even a few summers as janitor and grounds helper with Dave Desotell. I deeply appreciate all the Racine Dominicans and lay teachers during my eight years at St. Ed's School (at one point having 900 kids in the school, 55 in our 6th grade class plus the other room of 6th graders) and the great service the sisters have given to Racine for decades.

Thanks for helping me recall the memories and again many blessings for this year and always.

Peace, Fr. Larry
