The Mass (3)

Where does it come from?

The word "mass" comes from the Latin term "misso." At the end of the Latin Mass the priest dismisses the congregation using these words: "Ite missa est." It is translated into English as "Go, it is sent," the "it" being the Church. The Church is being sent. From the word "missa" the English word "dismiss" comes from. The English word "mass" comes from the "sending forth" of the Church into the world, and that means that the Church, following Christ, takes upon herself the task of making disciples of all the nations: "I have been given complete authority in heaven and on earth. Therefore, go and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit. Teach these new disciples to obey all the commands I have given you. And be sure of this: I am with you always, even to the end of the age" (Matthew 22: 18-20). The word "mass" receives its meaning from our communion with Jesus Christ. During Mass, we come to know Him and then, by receiving Him, we the Church, remain perfectly united with Him, ready to bear fruit (John 15:4).

The Mass is also often referred to as the "liturgy." This word comes from the Greek language and it means voluntary work— political, technical or religious that was performed for the people as a whole. The early Church used this term to indicate a service of worship in which each member of the community offers to God on behalf of all, in accord with his or her role. The Liturgy became the public worship of the Mystical Body of Jesus Christ here on earth.

Another word used for Mass is the "eucharist." This word also comes from the Greek language, meaning "to give thanks." The Eucharist is based on the Last Supper accounts (Luke 22:19=2-; Mark 14:22-25; 1Cor 11:23-26). There according to Jesus' own words, He gives His "Body" and "Blood" as food and drink to be eaten and drunk under the appearances of bread and wine.

There is also the Lord's Supper or Breaking of the Bread. It is found in the Acts of the Apostles, chapter 2, verses 43-47.

Each of these terms recalls the sacrifice of Jesus, which He offered to the Father during His last meal with the Apostles. Whenever we gather together at Mass, we celebrate this sacrifice He celebrated on the night before He died on the Cross.

Word Of Life

"God's love-individual, real, unchanging— is the true source of our worth, identity, and dignity. It really is not a question of who we are, but rather whose we are. Because His love will never change, nothing can reduce our God-given dignity, and nothing can diminish the immeasurable worth of our lives."
