From the Pastor's Desk

Praised be Jesus Christ! As we celebrate this year of Saint Joseph (and Memorial Day – God bless all of our veterans!), someone recently passed along a wonderful description from Venerable Archbishop Fulton Sheen. Even though it takes up nearly all of this column, it merits both the space and the time it will take you to read it. Enjoy!

“Was he [St. Joseph] old or young? Most of the statues and pictures we see of Joseph today represent him as an old man with a gray beard, one who took Mary and her vow under his protection with somewhat the same detachment as a doctor would pick up a baby girl in a nursery. We have, of course, no historical evidence whatsoever concerning the age of Joseph. Some apocryphal accounts picture him as an old man; Fathers of the Church, after the fourth century, followed this legend rather rigidly. ...

But when one searches for the reasons why Christian art should have pictured Joseph as aged, we discover that it was in order better to safeguard the virginity of Mary. Somehow, the assumption had crept in that senility was a better protector of virginity than adolescence. Art thus unconsciously made Joseph a spouse chaste and pure by age rather than by virtue. But this is like assuming that the best way to show that a man would never steal is to picture him without hands. ...

But more than that, to make Joseph out as old portrays for us a man who had little vital energy left, rather than one who, having it, kept it in chains for God's sake and for his holy purposes. To make Joseph appear pure only because his flesh had aged is like glorifying a mountain stream that has dried. The Church will not ordain a man to his priesthood who has not his vital powers. She wants men who have something to tame, rather than those who are tame because they have no energy to be wild. It should be no different with God.

Furthermore, it is reasonable to believe that Our Lord would prefer, for a foster father, someone who had made a sacrifice rather than someone who was forced to it. There is the added historical fact that the Jews frowned on a disproportionate marriage between what Shakespeare called “crabbed age and youth”; the Talmud admits a disproportionate marriage only for widows or widowers. Finally, it seems hardly possible that God would have attached a young mother, probably about sixteen or seventeen years of age, to an old man. If he did not disdain to give his mother to a young man, John, at the foot of the Cross, then why should he have given her an old man at the crib? A woman's love always determines the way a man loves: She is the silent educator of his virile powers.

Since Mary is what might be called a “virginizer” of young men as well as women, and the greatest inspiration of Christian purity, should she not logically have begun by inspiring and virginizing the first youth whom she had probably ever met — Joseph, the Just? It was not by diminishing his power to love but by elevating it that she would have her first conquest, and in her own spouse, the man who was a man, and not a mere senile watchman!

Joseph was probably a young man, strong, virile, athletic, handsome, chaste and disciplined. Instead of being a man incapable of loving, he must have been on fire with love. Just as we would give very little credit to the Blessed Mother if she had taken her vow of virginity after having been an old maid for fifty years, so neither could we give much credit to a Joseph who became her spouse because he was advanced in years. Young girls in those days, like Mary, took vows to love God uniquely, and so did young men, of whom Joseph was one so preeminent as to be called the “just.” Instead, then, of being dried fruit to be served on the table of the king, he was rather a blossom filled with promise and power. He was not in the evening of life, but in its morning, bubbling over with energy, strength and controlled passion. Mary and Joseph brought to their espousals not only their vows of virginity but also two hearts with greater torrents of love than had ever before coursed through human breasts. ...

How much more beautiful Mary and Joseph become when we see in their lives what might be called the first Divine Romance! No human heart is moved by the love of the old for the young; but who is not moved by the love of the young for the young? In both Mary and Joseph, there were youth, beauty and promise. God loves cascading cataracts and bellowing waterfalls, but he loves them better, not when they overflow and drown his flowers, but when they are harnessed and bridled to light a city and to slake the thirst of a child. In Joseph and Mary, we do not find one controlled waterfall and one dried-up lake but rather two youths who, before they knew the beauty of the one and the handsome strength of the other, willed to surrender these things for Jesus. Leaning over the manger crib of the Infant Jesus, then, are not age and youth but youth and youth, the consecration of beauty in a maid and the surrender of strong comeliness in a man,” (The World's First Love: Mary, Mother of God).

Archbishop Sheen had a tremendous gift in communicating divine truths in a way that was both understandable and inspiring. Pope Pius XI once wrote, “The saints were to be compared to the telescopes of astronomers. Instruments permit us to see stars which the naked eye could never discover. Through saints we learn to see those eternal truths which the world's common day veils from our feeble eyes.” These words are applicable to both Saint Joseph and Archbishop Fulton Sheen because they each in their own way lift our gaze to Heaven. They are together now, resting in the peace that comes to those who trust in the Lord.

May the intercession of Saint Joseph bless all marriages and families with chastity and courage!

Your friend in Christ,
Father Martin

May 30, 2021- The Most Holy Trinity

Let God be who God is. This is often one of the hardest things to do. Rather than allowing the mystery of being created in the image and likeness of God unfold and take root in our lives, we change the dynamic. We want to be the creators who want to make God into the image and likeness we need God to be. We have a hard-enough time letting the people in our lives be who they are. We struggle even more so with God. It is almost as if we want God to be our imaginary friend who is not only with us whenever we need but becomes the Being we need God to be. Who is it that we want God to be today? A protector, disciplinarian, champion for justice, healer, advocate for our cause, grantor of prayers, guardian of my life, or the avenger? Our prayers tell an interesting story. When you pray, what does God look like?

Recently, a young woman who was feeling invisible, overlooked, ignored, and misunderstood by her husband struggled to make her feelings known and get his attention. Finally, she screamed, "Listen to me!" Thus, birth was given to a renewed and healthier relationship. We spend so much time storming heaven with our agenda and trying to make God into a "god" of our desires that we do not hear God saying, "Listen to me!" God is desperately trying to get our attention. God is saying, I am here among you as not one but three, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Many people seldom notice God's presence because they are so caught up with other spiritual cares and concerns. And, when the "god" they fashion and create doesn't produce as they desire, they shake the dust from their feet and move on. "I tried," they exclaim, "but God didn't listen."

Healthy relationships aren't built on making someone be who we need them to be. Healthy relationships are built on encounters of persons and the development of an appreciation of someone solely for who they are. Deeper relationships can even be found with two people marveling at each other and almost experiencing a childlike joy and giddiness when they see the other coming. Do you ever have these feelings about God? Believe it or not, God does for you! There is a joyful laughter that gives rise to and connects all three members of the Holy Trinity. It is this laughter, flowing from the very depths of the Godhead that not only keeps the Trinity in joyful unity but spills over into the creation of all beings and things. It is an expression of Divine Delight! Have you ever taken time away from your agenda to experience the Divine Joyfulness of God?

We can reach a connection of Presence wherein even the smallest of creatures suddenly radiate the fullness of God: the wonderful creation of their being, the innocence and playfulness of their movements, and the sustaining life breath that flows through their veins. The same God who created the heavens and the earth is the same God who wants you to call him 'Dad' and the same God who preserves your life and has all things in His care.

Because of the recent relaxation of certain restrictions due to the COVID situation, Bishop Callahan has granted us permission to follow suit. Here are the changes that were already put into effect this past weekend:

- 1) Holy Water and music books were restored to their previous places. Keep in mind that if you are nervous about germs, we will retain the hand sanitizer stations (and maybe one of the blessings of this past year is a return to good hygiene, i.e. regular washing of our hands).
- 2) Social distancing is still in place, but we have removed the ribbons on every other pew. Please be conscious of how close you sit to others with whom you might not be in frequent contact (which means you're encouraged to sit with family or friends).
- 3) Wearing a mask is highly encouraged for those who are not vaccinated. Because we don't know who is vaccinated and who is not, we will not be patrolling this in any way. We presume that you know both the recommended safety precautions and the risks for those who do not follow them. Let's continue to respect that some will want to wear a mask while others will not. The devil loves division, but so far the people of Holy Name have done a solid job of being docile to the things we've been asked to do. That has saved a lot of hurt feelings, and for that I thank you.
- 4) Finally, during quarantine last spring, we worked on creating a lending library for those of you who are looking for a good book to help you grow in your faith. That bookshelf is open and available to you and it can be found in the west entrance. Please help yourself. The only request is that you do not leave any books that have not been approved by the pastor.

Again, thank you for your cooperation.

Holy Name will be celebrating its 75th anniversary this fall and you're invited! Plans are coming together for a weekend of activities on Saturday, October 2nd and Sunday, October 3rd. God willing, we'll have a band with food and beer on Saturday night, an anniversary Mass with former pastors/associates on Sunday with lunch to follow. Also in the works is a raffle and an auction. And that's where you come in: do you have any special skill or an item that would be universally appealing? A simple example would be tickets to a big name sporting event (e.g. Packers, Badgers). Or maybe you have a cabin up north and would loan it for a weekend getaway? Better yet, you're a world-class painter or impressive handyman and would be willing to donate a day of your services. Maybe you're a hunting or fishing guide and would successfully lead someone to bagging a 30-point buck. If anything you just read inspires you to offer something for our auction, please contact Melissa Eades at dasmel30@hotmail.com. Please know that we may not be able to accommodate each and every offer. But we promise to be grateful!

Memorial Day

- ◆ Father Martin will have Mass on Monday, May 31st at 8:00am
- ◆ The Parish Center will be closed. We would like to wish you all a safe fun filled weekend.

Corpus Christi Procession (June 6th):

Pending the weather (please pray for sunshine, no rain), we will have a modest Eucharistic Procession after the 10:30 a.m. Mass on Sunday, June 6th. We'll walk once around the block with Our Eucharistic Lord and then return to church, concluding with Benediction. All are welcome to join us. This will add about 20 minutes on to the end of Mass (maybe 30, depending on how fast we walk). After Benediction, there will be a food truck available in the parking lot, feeding those who would like to stay until the raffle winners are drawn at 1:00 p.m. (back deck of the parish center).

Our sympathies and assurance of prayers to the families of

Jane Heinrich,
 Carol Geiger,
 and
 Barbara Bondgien

May their souls and all the souls of the faithfully departed rest in peace.

We welcome the newly Baptized into our faith community
