From the Pastor's Desk

Praised be Jesus Christ! Happy Father's Day to all of our dear Dads, living and deceased! As we thank God for the gift of fatherhood, we ask Saint Joseph to pray for all fathers, that they may be spiritually courageous in leading their families closer to God. We also do well to remember all who suffer from "fatherlessness," a scenario that plays out too often in this world. May all our children come to know the Father's unconditional love in Jesus Christ.

David Blankenhorn wrote a rather famous book in 1996 titled Fatherless America. The book's basic observation is that a growing percentage of our nation's youth are growing up without the experience of having a dad in their life. The sociological, psychological, and spiritual effects of such fatherlessness are legion, with so much of today's violence being a causal result. Cause and effect is a reality we learn very early in life. For example, we learn that fire is hot and if you touch it, you will get burned. The moral life is similar, in that our choices have consequences, for better or worse. In this vein, one of our parishioners shared a college assignment she was asked to do and it's the insert featured in our bulletin this weekend. The simple caption reads, "The absence of morals produces injustice." That sounds like another way of saying that our choices have consequences, and not only for us.

Coaches typically give some version of a "choices and consequences" speech to their teams so that their athletes will stay away from trouble, thus remaining eligible for competition. Sometimes we get older and we fall for the adage, "What happens in Vegas, stays in Vegas." The truth is that our actions define us, form us, and stay with us for all of our life. That's why we must do good, so as to become good. The moral life reminds us that our choices can do good or harm, either help or hinder others and ourselves. As the insert makes clear, sin gives birth to sadness, shame, and inordinate discouragement. The Gospel is good news because it reminds us of the glory that is inside each of us, a glory that cannot be destroyed in this life by even the greatest sin. As a Mother, the Church works to convict the world of sin and its attendant sadness. But She (the Church) is even more adamant about the joy that comes when we repent and let God forgive, heal, and inspire us.

Recently I wrote a letter to the editor and submitted it to both the Wausau Pilot and Review and the Wausau News Herald and the Wausau Daily Herald. Because it attempts to show the connection between our choices and the consequences of sin, I share the letter here with you (I submitted the letter on June 1st):

"Let them eat cake." Do you remember who said that? For the astute, the answer comes almost automatically: it was Marie Antoinette. Thank God for the gift of education, which helps us to learn from the successes and failures of our forebears. As George Santayana succinctly put it, "Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it."

A couple of weeks ago an organization by the name of "Every Black Life Matters" came to Marathon County. They created some excitement by making strong claims and even stronger accusations. I'm sorry about the hurt and division that accompanied that event. Subsequently, someone submitted a well-written letter to the editor pointing out some of the exaggerated claims made by Kevin McGary (one of the founders of Every Black Life Matters) regarding the foundress of Planned Parenthood, Margaret Sanger. Sometimes we push too hard to make our claims more believable, and that's a tactic that is unfortunate because only the truth will set us free. But the good news about history is that, sooner or later, the truth will rise to the top. And for Margaret Sanger, that means acknowledging that she was an unabashed eugenicist. That means she wanted "more children from the fit, less from the unfit." She would be proud, for example, of the drive to eliminate children with special needs (see Iceland's stance regarding Down Syndrome). And even if some of McGary's comments jumped to conclusions, the proof is in the pudding: Planned Parenthood terminates an inordinate number of racial minorities through abortion. This is a story that they have worked hard to cover up. For a qualified and trustworthy spokeswoman for Planned Parenthood, see Abby Johnson. If you take the time to read her book Unplanned, you'll have a better sense of how things look on the inside.

I'm grateful for the aforementioned letter, as it reminds us of how easily we accept conclusions that may not be rooted in the truth. Years ago, I came upon the following passage:

"His wife, Marie Antoinette, was made of different stuff. To the memory of no other woman, and of few of either sex, has the verdict of her time and of history alike been so unjustly and vindictively destructive. The worst of the pamphlets written against her, just before and during the Revolution, still require special credentials even to read at the National Library of France. Though the most savage and obscene calumnies are no longer believed, the fetid odor of scandal yet hangs about her name, laced with the acrid tang of contempt. Didn't she say of starving people, "Let them eat cake"? No, she didn't. The one who said that was the wife of Louis XIV, Marie Antoinette's husband's great-great-grandmother," (Warren Carroll, The Guillotine and the Cross, pgs. 11-12).

We were wrong about Marie Antoinette, but eventually the truth has come to the fore and put her in a very different light. However, even if McGary stretched things a bit, we've not been wrong about Margaret Sanger. Her legacy is a tragic one. McGary and his organization, though they have their flaws, hit it out of the park with the name they chose: Every Black Life Matters. While it's unfortunate that an accusation was made about the mayor (such things should be done more discreetly, even if the statement was true), it's gratifying to see people genuinely interested in the truth. While our country continues to struggle with the plague of racism, we do well to remember the words of Pope Paul VI: "If you want peace, work for justice." God knows there is much work yet to be done.

May God bless all Fathers with a heart like that of Saint Joseph: powerful, peaceful, and pure!

Your friend in Christ,
Father Martin

Welcome Back to Mass

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

May the Lord give you peace.

The Spirit of the Lord is upon us! As we recall Jesus' words in Holy Scripture, "Behold, I make all things new," I am pleased to announce the lifting of the general dispensation from Sunday Mass and Holy Days of Obligation, and I welcome all of you back to your faithful Catholic family beginning the weekend of June 26-27, 2021. Only those who have reasonable cause for a continued absence from Sunday Mass and Holy Days of Obligation shall continue to be dispensed.

The Mass is our intimate encounter with Jesus. We offer our lives together with Jesus to God the Father. We receive the fruits of the sacrifice. And we hear and obey His command to "Go and announce the Gospel of the Lord."

There is a necessary connection, then, between the reception of the sacraments and our call and obligation to be Christ's agents for good in the world. All of us have learned this painful lesson during the past 18 months. With the onset of the COVID pandemic, the limitations of the public celebration and participation in the Mass, and the slow return of the faithful to the regular reception of the sacraments, the world has felt the loss of its soul—of Christians alive for God. Our families testify to anxiety and fear; our communities bear the marks of sickness; and the daily news of our nation reports a life and culture far from God. So that we might begin again to live more fully as the soul of our wounded world, it is necessary that we return to a regular reception of the sacraments, especially the Sunday Mass, the foundation of our lives as faithful and vibrant Catholics.

It is with open arms and a grateful heart that you are welcomed back to your Catholic family!

God always wins! We are saved! It will be good to have you back!

In the heart of Jesus and Mary, I am,

+Bishop William Patrick Callahan
Bishop of La Crosse

THERE IS A RIVER

Priestly Ordination for Deacon Tim Reither

You'll remember that Tim was with us last summer and he was a wonderful addition to our parish family. He'll be ordained to the priesthood on Saturday, June 26th at 10:00 a.m. We're posting the link here so that you can watch it live. diolc.org/live. This is a wonderful opportunity and everyone should see an ordination at least once in their life-time. Deacon Tim also wants you to know that you're welcome to come to his first Mass on Sunday, June 27th at Saint Charles Borromeo parish in Chippewa Falls. The Mass is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. and for those who want to attend, you're kindly asked to RSVP at this link: <http://bit.ly/rsvpmass>. Once ordained, Father Tim Reither will be assigned to Durand, Lima, and Mondovi. God willing, Father Tim hopes to visit Holy Name some time and offer Mass. Please remember Tim and his two classmates (Arturo and Eric) in your prayers. Dear God, make them good and holy priests, faithful to you and fatherly to their people!

P.S. If you'd like to tune in to watch the Chrism Mass (during which all the holy oils will be blessed for the upcoming year), it's scheduled for 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, June 24th. Here is the link diolc.org/live.
