From the Pastor's Desk

Praised be Jesus Christ! “Time keeps on slipping, slipping, slipping, into the future . . .” It was 1976 when the Steve Miller Band first came out with their hit song “Fly Like an Eagle.” Of all the topics that simultaneously fascinate and beguile us, the passage of time ranks at the very top of the list. This weekend we begin the month of August, which marks a threshold that I used to dread as a teacher. For the record, I thoroughly enjoyed teaching and the fall semester was my favorite time of the school year. Nevertheless, I loved summer even more than teaching, so the fact that summer was waning and a new school year was approaching always made me feel queasy and sad. Yes, time is slipping, slipping, slipping, and no one is strong enough to stop it.

The spiritual lesson here is not to try to sustain and squeeze the life out of things, but to accept them as gifts that we can enjoy, even if they won't last forever. As the book of Ecclesiastes puts it, God “put the timeless into men's hearts” (Ecclesiastes 3:11) – that means we're made for infinite things, timeless things, things that will never end. The tension is that in this world everything is finite, meaning we can never be truly satisfied here for very long. And this is not some new, modern phenomenon: Saint Augustine observed sixteen centuries ago that, “our hearts are restless until they rest in God.” Even though the time has seemingly always been slipping, slipping, slipping, we sometimes resent that we cannot slow it down.

Yes, the tension goes on and on between our desires and the unsatisfactory nature of the things we buy, consume, or inhale. Thankfully, there are moments of transcendence, little experiences that point to the day when we will be happy forever. We sometimes miss these moments, which can happen in many different settings. I've been reading a fantastic book about Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI that describes the impact he had on his students as a young professor in the late 1950s. Here is his description: “He (Ratzinger) was quite aware of his phenomenal effect: ‘When you give a lecture,’ he said to Alfred Lapple, ‘the students should lay down their pencils and simply listen to you. As long as they keep writing it down, you have not really got to them. But when they put down their pencils and look at you while you are speaking, then perhaps you have touched their hearts.” (pg. 314, Benedict XVI: A Life, Peter Seewald).

Time does pass us by, but even now the infinite, dare we say eternal, enters our world and lifts our spirits. We were created by God for perfect love, a love that will literally last forever. By the mercy of God, He has left vestiges of this in our world and for those who are spiritually alert, we can taste and see His goodness on a regular basis. The preeminent source of such a foretaste of Heaven is in the Sacraments, especially our Blessed Lord's gift of Himself in the Eucharist and of His healing mercy in Confession. This is the fullness of our faith and it is both true and extraordinarily powerful. The problem is that our hearts are often not able to receive because we're tired, sad, full of regret, or wallowing in ignorance. The Church, as our dear Mother, works valiantly to lift our spirits and open our hearts. One way she does this is through inspiration.

Inspiration can come in so many shapes and sizes. For some, a walk through a botanical garden is a veritable experience of what the Garden of Eden might have been like all those years ago. For others, admiring art or architecture takes them to a place of peace and joy as they experience the transcendence of beauty. For me, a constant in my life has been books and an occasional good movie. I never tire of thanking God and my Mom for instilling in me a love for reading. This summer I started out with Dean Koontz's The Silent Corner. It was a good fit for my vacation, as it was action packed and driven by the perennial struggle of good versus evil. After that I completely shifted gears and read Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice. Austen is an exceptional writer, and I have Sense and Sensibility waiting in the wings for whenever I'm in the mood for more feminine drama. I'm not sure when that will be, but when it comes, I'll be ready!

For those who love non sequiturs (i.e. things that don't follow or make sense), I read Louis L'Amour next, specifically The Lonesome Gods. It was a fantastic adventure that made you feel like you were really experiencing the solitude and grandeur of the Mojave Desert. Books are a window into another world, a world in which time seems to slow down and even stop from time to time. For anyone who enjoys reading, a good book transports us to another time and place, allowing us to experience life in very different and powerful ways. While nowhere near the beatitude of Heaven, a good book certainly points us in that direction as it inspires and challenges us to grow.

A good movie can also provide us with a little taste of Heaven as we find inspiration and hope in the stories that are told. And we can thank God and the many talented people in our world that there are some exceptional movies that we owe it to ourselves to see before we leave this world. To help make this possible, I'll be hosting a “Movie of the Month” club beginning this fall. Once a month we'll gather in the school for a great film and a short discussion afterwards. This is free and open to anyone who is inclined to join us. You'll find in this bulletin an insert that lists the dates and movies that we'll be watching. You're welcome to bring snacks and spend a couple of hours enjoy some of cinema's finest works. One of my favorite quotes about the movies comes from Steve Martin in the film “Grand Canyon” – “That's part of your problem: you haven't seen enough movies. All of life's riddles are answered in the movies.”

God knows the time is slipping away – it's August, after all. And the famous playwright Oscar Wilde hit the nail on the head when he quipped, “No man is rich enough to buy back his past.” People who learn to trust in the Lord no longer have to cling to the past or fret the passing of the present. The desire for the timeless and for infinite satisfaction points us to Heaven, and God is already preparing a place for us. But nobody is forced to go there. Learning to let go of time and the things of this world is hard, but we cannot enter Heaven without doing so. As the time keeps on slipping, slipping, slipping, we do well to remember that it was never ours anyway.

May God teach us how to live in this world with our hearts increasingly fixed on the world to come!

Your friend in Christ,
Father Martin

August 1, 2021 - 18th Sunday in Ordinary Time

“You cannot see the forest for the trees” is a widely known saying that can bring wisdom to our understanding of our journey. Often, our sight becomes limited to what is immediately before us. We lose touch with lessons and experiences from the past and promises and hope for the future. As human beings, we have the privilege of being able to choose things. What I like and don't like, want, and don't want can be major preoccupations of our minds and hearts. Our preferences and desires begin to define us more than the simple fact of our being. Who we are matters more than what we are or what we have. If we don't move beyond the external and superficial stuff to what really is of essence, we risk becoming very unsettled, disorientated, angry, and unhappy. We fail to see the bigger picture of hope and promise that lies ahead and the Divine Presence that has sustained and carried us before.

We like it when the “now” time of our lives satisfy us. Even the people who witnessed Jesus feed the five thousand got confused and distracted. It felt good when thousands of people were able to eat. They wanted to know what they could do to get this to happen again! But Jesus quickly reminds them that this is not the point of this sign. As much as the now time of our lives is of concern, it is not what is ultimately important. We need to learn the difference between being and doing, drawing more strength from who we are and who God is rather than what is happening around us and the choices we can make. Jesus is the true bread that came down from heaven. Jesus is the very incarnate presence of God who sustains life and assures us that we will not perish. This is not easy to understand and feel. We have to practice being in the presence of ourselves, others, creation, and God. We are brought to a holy place when we encounter the sacredness of being. This is real prayer.

Then, we learn to trust. It is when we cease trusting that we start to become afraid, uncertain, apprehensive, and doubtful, and overly self-concerned. We even start to grumble. God has our back. That is the essential powerful message of the living bread come down from heaven. God, who is alpha is also omega, the beginning and the end, and has everything in between in his care as well. A woman once remarked that her most powerful God moment happened when she and her husband cuddled with their new baby for a time. Without exchanging words and using only the affection communicated through sight and touch, they rested in being with each other. This brought them to the sacred, where they realized that a greater Being was with them. It was real. They knew that they were part of something bigger, intimate, and profound. When we rest in the Living Source of life, we will find that our souls are no longer hungry or thirsty.

The many names of God, August 19th & 20th.

What names do you use to address God? Jesus called God “Father” or “Abba” which is translated “Daddy”. At the time of Jesus, that was not only revolutionary it was blasphemy. It was too personal. To the people of Jesus time, one never even gave a name for God because God’s name was so sacred, so powerful. So they talked around God’s name, “the Almighty,” “the One Above.” We will discuss how our name shapes who we are, and what the way we address “the other” says about our relationship with them. Check-in begins at 3:00 pm, followed by orientation at 5:45 and supper at 6:00. The retreat concludes after the noon meal on Saturday. Participants may extend their stay with private retreat time from Saturday afternoon to Sunday morning, for an additional fee. Guests will be asked to wear a mask or face covering in common areas except at mealtimes. We strongly encourage each guest to bring their own face covering. Cost $105 - To register call 715-443-2236.

Holy Name's 75th Anniversary Celebration!

As you already know, we're looking forward to the opportunity to thank God for 75 years of parish life on October 2nd and 3rd. All of the details are coming together and it's going to be a wonderful weekend. Saturday evening after the 4:00 p.m. Mass we'll kick things off with a concert by the band "Hyde." We'll be serving adult beverages and there will be four food trucks (selling elephant ears, cheese curds, brats, burgers, and so much more). On Sunday we'll celebrate a Mass of Thanksgiving followed by a complimentary dinner featuring a pig roast. Finally, we'll conclude by pulling the winners of our bucket raffle and then see who bids highest on a fantastic list of prizes for our parish auction. This is simply an event that you won't want to miss!

Are you considering becoming Catholic? Are you curious and want to know more about the Catholic Church? If you answered yes, then joining the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA) process may be right for you.

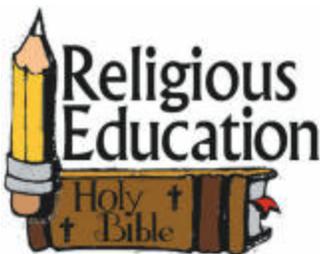

Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults is a journey of faith for those who are searching and inquiring about what the Catholic Church teaches and believes. RCIA is not a class or a program, it is a process of conversion. The RCIA process will prepare you to begin your journey of faith which will hopefully lead to a lifelong commitment as a Catholic.

The first session for RCIA will be Monday, Sept. 13, 2021 at 6:00 pm in the Parish Center. Sessions are held from September through April.

To get more detailed information about the RCIA process or to discuss how it may relate to you specifically please call Fr. Martin at 715-842-4543 anytime.

Catechesis of the Good Shepherd at Holy Name

Catechesis of the Good Shepherd (CGS) is a religious education method centered around the parable of the Good Shepherd and based largely on the Montessori method of education. Through interactive lessons and hands-on experiences, children learn about God and faith in a way that is experiential, tangible and developmentally appropriate.

The focus of the program is to deepen the child's existing relationship with God; to encourage the formation of a personal prayer life; to participate fully in the liturgical and sacramental life of the Church; and to develop a deeper understanding of Catholic identity and tradition.

CGS is divided into three levels, and each level differs in tasks and instruction according to the developmental needs of the child. Level one is for ages 3-6, level two for ages 6-9, and level three for ages 9-12. All sessions will be from 2:30-5:30 pm with Level I on Wednesday, Level II on Tuesday and Level III on Thursday. If you work, perhaps a grandfather or grandmother, an aunt or uncle, or a big brother or sister could do the pick up and drop off for you.

CGS can be the program of choice for any of our religious education families. However, it does not have to be one or the other. Last year we had children that attended CGS and Religious Education classes, and other children that attended both CGS and Newman Catholic schools. It's an entirely different experience for the children in the Atrium.

Families that are interested are invited to schedule a walk through the Atrium to find out more about CGS and determine if it would work for your child. Please call the office at 715-842-4543 to set up a time for a visit.

Entrusted with family memories since 1874.
