Gospel Reflection Pentecost Sunday

Even though Pentecost is rightly celebrated in late spring, the robust experience of a New England fall can provide a profound metaphor for reflection. A full expression of fall colors is beautiful to behold. But, with all of its majesty and beauty, the observer knows the experience of death is soon to come. Creation will be dark and barren for a while. Pentecost cannot be separated from the cross. Before God's transformative, life-giving power can bear fruit, we must first die.

Pentecost is all about leaving the lifeless dead wood behind and allowing God, through the power of the Holy Spirit, to create something new. These Pentecost creations happen repeatedly over and over again. The birthing process of the Church is ongoing. God is always bringing life out of death and creating something where there was once nothing. That is why the fall is such an apropos metaphorical season for Pentecost. In order to really receive the gift of the Holy Spirit we have to die to what we once knew and what no longer works.

When fire and wind find their fullest expression, they are in no way gentle nor kind. They have the potential to level anything in their paths. We are experiencing great turmoil in our world, nation, and our Church. Whether the result of circumstance or the work of the Holy Spirit, much of what we knew to be normal and constant is changing. Common systems and institutional structures that may have worked for a time no longer do. When the old and familiar need to be left behind, God creates something new. Change and disorder do not need to be our enemies. They always bring opportunities for something exciting and new. What we need is untiring faith, firm hope, and perfect love.

What we need is for the Holy Spirit to enlighten us to see what is important and what we must do. "O Holy Spirit, descend plentifully into my heart. Enlighten the dark corners of this neglected dwelling and scatter there Thy cheerful beams." (St. Augustine) If we experience joy, even in the midst of turbulence, then we will know we are exactly where God needs us to be. If not, then perhaps there is a lesson in the decaying leaves that graciously descend to the ground on a crisp fall day. ©LPi

Pro-Life Quote of the Week

“A Christian can never conform to a law which is in itself immoral, and such is the case of a law which would admit in principle the liceity of abortion. Nor can a Christian take part in a propaganda campaign in favor of such a law or vote for it ... On the contrary, it is the task of law to pursue reform of society and conditions of life in all its milieux, starting with the most deprived, so that always and everywhere it may be possible to give every child coming into this world a welcome worthy of a person.” —Holy See (1974)

ST JOSEPH RELIGIOUS EDUCATION SEEKS CARING TEACHERS AND PARENTS

A May 25, 2022 editorial in the Wall Street Journal examined possible solutions to the deadly problem of America’s youth committing acts of violence. The writers noted that new laws and enhanced legislation will have little effect, and that the solution could only be found by addressing a new cultural truth, which they stated this way. “The rise of family disfunction and the decline of mediating institutions such as churches and social clubs have consequences.” We couldn’t agree more.

As Catholics, we are called upon to share our beliefs with our children, to teach them about Jesus Christ, the Eucharist, and the Salvation of Souls.

We are in need of a few teachers in the religious education program. If you care about your community and your faith, please consider giving of your time. Contact Lisa Sachs at 815-678-4720 to get more information about how you can help.

Parents, please be sincere about your commitment to your children. Attend Mass as a family every week and represent the truths of our faith at home in the Little Church. The world won’t change overnight, but we have the power to make it change for the better.
