Beatitudes

So... what does it mean to BE a Catholic?

Certainly, we know the minimum answers... Baptism... go to Mass... receive the Sacraments.

But what does it REALLY mean to BE a Catholic?

One could argue that our simplest reason to be, are the words Jesus gave us in the simple two commandments... Love God with our whole heart, mind and soul... and love our neighbor, as ourselves. And this is true... do those things and as Jesus said... you will inherit eternal life.

But a pretty good point can be made that right after these commandments are the Beatitudes... the Sermon on the Mount that we hear in Luke's Gospel today.

In fact, the Catechism of the Catholic church in paragraph 1716 says:

"The Beatitudes are at the heart of Jesus' preaching. They take up the promises made to the chosen people since Abraham. The Beatitudes fulfill the promises by ordering the people to cling no longer merely to the possession of a territory, but to the Kingdom of Heaven."

When Jesus said these words, He did this from a place of authority and people were faced with an immediate choice... they could either accept it or reject it, but they could not treat it as one opinion among many. They would've never heard anything like this before. Their attitude toward what they heard that day would have to be their attitude toward the Lord Himself. There could be no separation between the two.

"Blessed are the poor in spirit for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven... Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth... Blessed are those who mourn."

It's not difficult to imagine the impression of Jesus on the listeners. Many would've been disappointed... some at least disconcerted. Jesus had just expressed in precise terms the new spirit He had come to bring on earth.

Many came there that day with a revolutionary spirit, a hope that things would change in their lives. Maybe they were there to hear about how the Romans would be pushed out of the Promised Land or the Pharisees would see things in a different way.

In the ancient world, it was thought that earthly happiness was God's blessing and reward... and unhappiness and misfortune was God's punishment. Maybe they wanted a new way... seeking wealth, pleasure and power were no longer speaking to their hearts.

This is what Jesus speaks to... He considers all these things as the summary of well-being and ultimately sanctification. He proposes a way that exalts and blesses poverty, meekness, mercy, and especially humility... the foundational virtue.

The essential idea Jesus wanted to impress on His listeners that day... and us today is... only serving God and each other brings happiness. In the midst of poverty, (In whatever form poverty takes... and it's more than just money)... of pain, a sense of having been forsaken... the true servant of God can say along with St. Paul, "My joy overflows in the midst of all my tribulations." The Beatitudes are an invitation to an upright and worthy life. Instead of trying to throw off the weight of pain and tribulation... as though they were absolute evils, or to seek human success as an end in itself, Jesus promises us happiness and points out the ways to achieve it.

Parents want what is best for their children and God wants what is best for us. Today we heard the road map maybe for the umpteenth time. The Beatitudes are scripted and framed in parish halls all over the world but how often have we really meditated on them and asked how WE are doing in living them out?

I found this note from someone given to me years ago as I was reflecting on the Beatitudes... and the internal motivation to follow them.

It reads:

He who is cowardly will do right because it is safer to do so.

He who is overly ambitious will do right if it is to his advantage to do so.

He who is miserly will do right when he finds it cheaper to do so.

He who is average will do right because it is expected of him.

But blessed is he who does right because it IS right.

THAT'S what makes us Catholic.

May God bless you.
Deacon Greg

Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity

The Seven Holy Founders of the Servite Order

February 17

Seven wealthy cloth merchants in Florence, Italy in the mid-thirteenth century found themselves in a society in which many people ignored God's law. Riches and the easy life meant more to these people than the love of the poor and service to the needy. These seven men decided to withdraw from the city and to lead lives of prayer and penance. They chose to turn their lives over to God and give witness to all that is good and true.
