Live The Liturgy Inspiration For The Week

Merry Christmas!

There is something sacred about sun when it dances upon a field of newly iced snow. Lights and colors bounce around in myriad ways flashing prisms of beauty as if in tune with the rhythm of a melodic dance. The Word became flesh and now dwells among us. Humanity can now dance. We sparkle with the beauty and radiance of God and can now walk through life with confidence knowing that we have been divinely kissed. It is a sacred moment, a holy marriage between God and His sons and daughters. All is bright and all is well. Today we celebrate who we are in Christ and rest safely in God's care. God's presence, revealed in the humble birth of His Son, dances in our hearts, calling us to beauty, truth, purpose, and love. Today we know, without doubt, that we are not the product of the rambling offerings of a universe that created itself. We are loved, treasured, and blessed. We have a Savior who can show us the way. Accept him. ©LPI

Wonder-Counselor, God-Hero, Father-Forever, Prince of Peace

These beautifully strong titles from the prophet Isaiah (in about 740 B.C.) evoke descriptions that brought promise to a people hoping to belong to a nation headed by a wise and loving leader. Fast forward to today: we believe what the shepherds heard from the angel: a Savior has been born for us. The Christmas story isn't just a story, though. Please read this to yourself out loud: Jesus was born for me, part of God's plan which specifically includes me. God loves me. He has a plan for me that involves Jesus dying for my sin. A plan for eternal life for me. I am here to become the person God created me to be. Jesus calls me to be his hands and feet and heart in this world. I can do this because He is my Wonder-Counselor, God-Hero, Father-Forever, Prince of Peace. I will look for opportunities to share His message of love and hope and eternal life with everyone I meet and to grow closer to Him*. Glorify to God in the highest!

*Check the parish website in February for opportunities to grow closer to Jesus this Lent.

May the beauty and blessings of Christmas fill your heart.

Child and Family Ministry

Last December Pope Francis established the Year of St. Joseph so that “every member of the faithful, following his example, may strengthen their life of faith daily in the complete fulfillment of God’s will.” As we close out the year of St. Joseph, we celebrate two important feast days: The Nativity of the Lord and The Holy Family of Jesus, Mary, and Joseph. Have you ever pondered Joseph’s role in the Holy Family?

How did Joseph prepare for the birth of Jesus? This quiet, hard-working, and faithful saint must have been an absolute rock as he and Mary headed off to Bethlehem. What inner dialogue might Joseph have had with God? What conversations did Joseph and Mary have on the way to Bethlehem? Their questions might help you to think about God’s plan for each of us. “What do you expect from me?” Why give me such an unbelievable responsibility?”

Excerpted from 2022: A Book of Grace-Filled Days by Loretta Pehanich

Maybe you have doubts about your role in God’s plan. Perhaps you feel overwhelmed by responsibility or unsure of what God wants from you? Look to Joseph, a humble carpenter, who was open to God’s plan. God’s plan for each of us is unique. Some of us will be great leaders, and some will be humble carpenters. I find it fitting to share the lyrics to Joseph’s Song by Michael Card. I first heard this song 28 years ago when I was in the guitar group at St. Paul’s. This song still is one of my favorites.

*How could it be this baby in my arms, sleeping now, so peacefully
The Son of God, the angel said, how could it be?
Lord I know He’s not my own not of my flesh, not of my bone
Still Father let this baby be the son of my love.
Father show me where I fit into this plan of yours, how can a man be father to the Son of God? Lord for all my life I’ve been a simple carpenter, how can I raise a king, how can I raise a king?
He looks so small, His face and hands so fair, and when He cries the sun just seems to disappear.
But when He laughs it shines again, how could it be?*

On this feast of the Holy Family, we invite you to lead your family to become fully alive in faith. To help build your domestic church with your family, we will be distributing a booklet entitled The Family Fully Alive, Building the Domestic Church starting next weekend. This booklet includes prayers, meditations, and activities to enrich your family life.

Merry Christmas,

The True Story of St. Bruno's Gold Nativity Set

By: Debbie Hendrick, Parish Archivist

A few years ago, as I was sitting the the pew watching the set up of our St. Bruno nativity set, a lady stepped over to me and told me that she heard that the nativity figures were made by the nuns of St. Bruno's School. This, and another story that I heard while refurbishing the figures in the gym, is what prompted me to write the true story of the nativity set. How do I presume to know the true story? Like the other Volkmann, Igl, and Cartwright children, I was there!

Our nativity set was created in 1968 by three ladies of St. Bruno Parish: Betty Igl, Lillian Cartwright and my mother, Barbara Beier Volkmann. These ladies put many hours in the making of a very unique and artistic display which added a new and creative interpretation to the ancient Bible story. One king brought a traditional camel, but another king journeyed from Africa with his wife perched in a howdah atop an elephant. Betty Igl explained that "unless the women were a lot different than they are now, the kings would have brought their wives and families on such a long journey." There are also a few other unique aspects to this set. All age groups are represented: children, adults, and the teenager who is helping her grandmother. Joseph was made to stand next to Mary with his arm behind her, not in the traditional stance across from her with the Baby Jesus in between them. This was to show how the birth of Jesus drew them, and draws us, closer to each other. Mary is holding a small bouquet of wild flowers which Joseph picked for her after Baby Jesus was born. The little black sheep stands closest to Baby Jesus because he knows that Jesus is the Savior who has come to save us from our sins. The camel's name is Leo. He was named after Fr. Leo Lambert who was the pastor of St. Bruno's at that time.

The nativity figures were constructed of styrofoam, with blocks of wood as the base. Material such as the rich lace and silks for the queens, and rough material for the shepherd's cloaks, were actually dipped into the paper mache, made from flour and water, and formed over the styrofoam to dry. The lace for Mary's dress was made from Loretta Heinowski's wedding dress.

Jewelry for the kings and queens was donated by parishioners, as was money for supplies. The elephant was constructed from a nail keg, chicken wire, and two rockers from the bottom of a rocking chair for the tusks. The elephant was built on our kitchen table. It took my mother several weeks to construct him. My brother, sisters and I were thrilled to have to eat supper in the living room. Dad, not so much!

During the time of the construction of the nativity set, a heart wrenching accident almost cause the three ladies to permanently stop the construction of the set. Elmer and Charlotte Prohaska, St. Bruno parishioners, lost their home in a fire, and the youngest of their six children, three year old Betty Jane (Cookie) died in the fire. As Betty Igl said, "We almost lost heart for the whole thing, but then we decided that, as mothers, we might create a memorial for three year old Betty Jane, which would be lasting and meaningful."

On that Christmas Eve in 1968, only a few months after the fire, as St. Bruno parishioners gathered in the darkened church, many eyes filled with tears as six year old, Kathy Prohaska, the youngest Prohaska daughter, carried the figure of the Christ Child up the aisle to complete the Nativity scene.

Even without its poignant dedication, this Nativity scene created much interest and conversation, not only at St. Bruno's, but also among other area churches. Another parish even borrowed it one year.

In the years that followed, I have refurbished, repainted, and rebuilt the figures many times. This is getting harder to do because the set is over 50 years old, and the styrofoam underneath the material is literally disintegrating from age. Heads pop off, and I have even had to totally deconstruct the camel and elephant because mice ate at them while they were in storage! The donkey's ears and the elephant's tail seem to need emergency repairs every year, and the entire set needs to be spray painted every few years because the gold gets dull over time. This sounds easy, but every jewel must be removed before spraying! Years ago, eight foot tall backdrops built by my dad, Tom Volkmann, ramed the set. The stable that now frames the figures was built by Vic Hebert, and the figures are set up each year by our St. Bruno Art Committee.

I love to sit in our darkened church with the nativity and crucifix lights on, and ponder the happenings of that night so long ago in Bethlehem. I also remember Betty, Lillian, and my Mom laughing and giggling, and working together, while the true scent of Christmas, wet paper mache, permeated our homes and lungs! Merry Christmas!
Debbie Hendrick
