

THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD

After all the people had been baptized and Jesus also had been baptized and was praying, heaven was opened and the Holy Spirit descended upon him in bodily form like a dove.

SUNDAY OF THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD

Jesus is the “Light of the nations,” “Lord of all creation,” and the “Beloved Son of the Father.” The Solemnity of the Baptism of the Lord acts like the hinge between the Christmas Season and Ordinary Time of the year. It ends the Christmas Season and, at the same time, it is the “First Sunday in Ordinary Time.”

Isaiah 40:1-5, 9-10 – Our reading comes from the beginning of the book of Consolation. The prophet wrote this having perceived that captivity in Babylon was soon coming to an end. Our reading begins with God’s voice speaking out of heaven. The Lord commands his angelic servants to offer comfort to his people, to assure them that the time of servitude/slavery has come to its completion. Then, again there is the voice of God calling people to prepare the road through the desert... This is (like) a new exodus! All people (universally) will see this and know that God is here. Then another voice comes in. Jerusalem and the exiles are told to make a proclamation and praise, announcing that God is here. From the reading it is clear that God is always with his people, caring for them, and forgiving them when they turn to him. God is present as a victor and shepherd who cares for his flock.

Titus 2:11-14; 3:4-7 – The reading contains a confession of faith in the saving grace of God. The verb “appeared,” as used in the reading, is a testimony of revelation. Now revelation is for all people without any segregation. God’s grace helps one to live a truly Christian life (v. 12). The grace of salvation has been attained through Christ’s sacrifice on the cross. The reading stresses the intimate relationship between God and Jesus Christ.

Luke 3:15-16, 21-22 – In today’s Gospel reading, the first instance is of John who clearly states that he is not the Christ. Then we have the report of the Baptism of Jesus. The two instances are joined by the significance of the Spirit. The background of our reading is that at that time people had been expecting the Messiah, the liberator! Three times in this reading, John contrasts himself with the one who is to come, so that people may not mistake him for Christ.

About Baptism. John’s Baptism was with water and was a ritual for repentance and cleansing. Christ’s Baptism on the other hand, would be with the Spirit and fire and would be transformative. We hear that the time of judgment was at hand when the wicked would be separated like the chaff that is burnt in the fire.

Next, we hear that John admitted that the one coming after him was mightier than he. He was not even fit to undo His sandals. Like in Mark’s account, Luke does not have the actual account of the event of Baptism as it happened.

Then we hear that the heavens opened. This is a kind of apocalyptic phenomenon (see Ezekiel 1:1). Before Jesus began His public ministry, there was a descent of the Holy Spirit on Him. So, we see that this Gospel narrative presents us with the Trinitarian scene: There is a reference to the Trinity:
(1) Jesus is in the Waters of the Jordan. (2) The Spirit – in form of a dove – comes and rests on Jesus.
(3) The Father’s voice is heard claiming Jesus as his Beloved Son. Then follows a command: “Listen to Him.”

THEME – The Baptism of Jesus – His Baptism inaugurates His ministry as the anointed One, or the Messiah of God.
