SUNDAY OF LENT

Jesus said,
"Neither do I condemn you.
Go, and from now on do not sin any more."

Isaiah 43:16-21 – From the book of Consolation (Second Isaiah). Our reading today presents the end about our salvation history from the Old Testament in this Lenten Season, with the theme of renewal and restoration. The message of the reading is addressed to the exiles in Babylon. What God had promised to Abraham and Moses had all been lost. Even that which had been fulfilled under Joshua was now lost. Jerusalem and the Temple had been destroyed in 587 BC. But still God had his plan for his people of Israel. He would bring them home at his right time. That is the content of chapters forty to fifty-five of Isaiah.

Our reading begins with the prophet reminding people of the exile experience. He mentions of their going through the Sea and dry land and reminds them of the soldiers of Pharaoh who perished in the waters that saved the Israelites. The theme water is very clear in the reading: the water that destroyed Pharaoh's soldiers was the same waters that saved the Israelites from their pursuers. Then God says "I am doing something new." This something new will find its fulfilment in the new age of creation of Christ. Two themes stand out in this reading: (1) God never allows his people to remain in slavery or privation. His promises never fail. (2) Salvation is always future oriented.

Philippians 3:8-11 – We learn that for Paul, to know Jesus Christ is the Supreme good, and everything else is considered rubbish, and counted as loss for Paul. Paul desires to be made righteous through and by Christ. He wants to share Christ's sufferings in order to attain a resurrected life from the dead. According to Paul, we can only get God's righteousness through Christ. There is no other way. Paul maintains that God's righteousness is not achieved, it is only conferred through Christ. To have faith in Christ is good but not enough, it is important to practice it.

John 8:1-11 – Jesus has just come down from the Mountain, no doubt from prayer. Jesus is confronted by the Scribes and Pharisees who bring to Him a woman who they claim was caught in adultery. The accusers never brought the man. According to the Jewish law, this woman was supposed to be stoned to death.

Jesus never defended the woman. He asked the accusers that those among them who had no sin should be the first to stone her. Then he bent down to write something in the sand. Upon examining themselves, the Pharisees and Scribes found that they had their own sins and so in sincerity they were not fit to condemn the woman. They went away in silence! The woman was left there alone with Jesus. Jesus who came not to condemn but to save, then told the woman: "Neither do I condemn you. Go, and from now on do not sin any more." Note that the reading pays little attention to the woman, while more emphasis is on Jesus and the Jewish authorities who were accusing the woman.

Observance of Law becomes meritorious when it is in accordance with the teaching of Jesus. The greatest lesson that Jesus gives on this fifth Sunday is that "first I have to examine myself before I can point out the mistakes of others." Jesus neither condemned nor justified the woman.

John 11:1-45 (for 10am Sunday Mass)

Death and resurrection of Lazarus: pointers to our death and life after death. The story of Lazarus (that is Eleazar in Hebrew) foreshadows what will take place in the next life. From the reading it is clear that the sickness and subsequent death of Lazarus was meant to give glory to God. After hearing of the sickness of Lazarus, Jesus did not go immediately to see him. It was after hearing that Lazarus was dead that He went with His disciples. Jesus went four days (the human body in three to four days after death, it starts to smell and disintegrate) later, in this way no one would have doubted Lazarus' death. Jesus went to prove that indeed He was the resurrection and life. When the disciples tried to stop him because of the possible dangers, He responded with a parable "day and night." This could have been the obvious daylight and darkness. For inner light guides the person to do good. One instead stumbles when in him there is only darkness. The light can also refer to Jesus, while darkness would refer to sin. It took some time for the disciples to understand Jesus' words.

Martha and Mary had hoped that Jesus would have come immediately before Lazarus died; but Jesus arrived four days later. He wanted to teach them that He is the resurrection. Life depends on Him. Martha had believed in life after death, but probably not in Jesus as "the resurrection." Jesus raised Lazarus back to life. Martha had believed in Jesus as Christ, Son of God, and the One who is to come into the world. In the Gospel also Jesus tells Martha: "I am the resurrection and the life." In Jesus there is no death. There is only life. Those who believe in Jesus, believe in real life, and they are sure of eternal life as long they remain faithful to His teaching. When the Gospel quotes Martha saying that "...He will rise on the last day" it surely indicates that some of the Jews had a belief in the resurrection.

The KEY message in this passage is the reality of Jesus being "the life," and "life-giver."

The next Altar Society Meeting is Thursday, April 7 at 6:00pm in the Holy Family Parish Center. The co-chairs for this meeting are Kathy Herning and Sue Proft.

WELCOMING NEW CATHOLICS

This Easter Season is a wonderful time to celebrate our faith and the Resurrection of our Lord. For those newly initiated into the Catholic Church, this spring also marks a milestone on their faith journey.

With help from parish-directed programs called the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA), candidates received the resources, support and knowledge needed to take the next step in their journey of faith. The RCIA program begins at the diocesan level, and parishes received assistance in helping people come into full communion with the Catholic Church. With a gift to the Bishop's Appeal, you help parishes enhance their RCIA programs and welcome future, newly formed Catholics.

To make a gift to the Bishop's Appeal visit the Bishop's Appeal website at www.catholicfoundationgb.org/give or call Tammy toll-free at (877) 500-3580, ext. 8123.

STEWARDSHIP CORNER

Stewardship – what does it really mean and how does it fit into our parish life and with the activity of the finance & pastoral councils?

A definition of stewardship is “the proper use of our time, treasures and talents for the growth of our parish family.” This is the essential part of the goals of the councils of our parish. Whereas the finance council are stewards of the financial gifts of our parish, the pastoral council is to help be stewards of the time and talents of those who are active. Also to use these talents to help bring others to a relationship with Christ. So if you are one of those people who likes to share your talents, please pray and look for ways to participate in the events in the parish.
