Work and Health

Today’s readings address two requirements for the life and dignity of every human being: work and health. Job described the plight of workers treated like slaves and Simon’s mother-in-law needed healing.

Millions of our brothers and sisters here and abroad, work in slave-like conditions for low wages with little access to healthcare. Many people suffer chronic ailments that cause severe hardships. God wants all people to have work that pays enough to provide for the basic needs of families and access to healthcare and healing.

Low wage earners and people living with chronic illness need our help. How do you assist people who are homebound or need help making ends meet? God calls us to be instruments of healing! Cook a meal for someone who is sick/homebound, buy groceries for a food pantry, or learn how you can partner with Catholic Charities to help people who are poor and vulnerable. Palms - Ashes for Ash Wednesday

Please bring your old, dried, unwrapped palms (woven or unwoven) to Mass with you next Sunday, February 11th so we can prepare for our Lenten Journey by burning the palms to create the ashes for Ash Wednesday. There is a basket in the narthex to collect the Palms.

Welcome, Fr. Charlie Conley!

In the Gospel today, we find that Jesus would rise very early before dawn and go to a deserted place to pray and then he went out to preach and to heal.

Please pray for the poor and suffering, knowing that you are bringing the love and peace of Jesus to those who live in fear and doubt, loneliness and sadness. Thank you for helping to give our neighbors hope.

St. Luke Prayer Network

The prayer network is a group of people who pray for the intentions requested. Only the first names are used. Anyone who wishes to join the phone network is always welcome. Call Janice Theisen 262 521-8095 (jreader66@hotmail.com) with your intentions or to join us.

Thank you!

From Cathy's Desk

Being ill, whether it be in mind, body, or spirit, can be a challenging thing. In today's Gospel we hear how Jesus cured what ailed people including exorcising demons from them. Today we have the use of modern medicine and technology, but we still can call on Jesus, the Christ to help us during times of illness. We can participate in the Sacrament of Anointing of the Sick, ask others to pray on our behalf, or reach out to God all on our own. It is important to include prayer in our treatment plan. Once again, turning to today's Gospel, we see how Jesus relied on prayer as well. I believe this Gospel is particularly timely as we pray for the success of Fr. Augustine's surgery and a quick and full recovery so he can come back to us for another 100,000 miles.

Adult Question: What does it mean to be a light that shows others, whether Christian or not, God's love?

Child Question: How can you be a light that shows God's love to others?

Change The Game February 11, 2024

More than 34 years ago, the Souper Bowl of Caring began with a simple prayer from a high school youth group:

"Lord even as we enjoy the Super Bowl football game, help us be mindful of those without a bowl of soup to eat."

Our high school youth will be collecting cans of soup for the Waukesha Food Pantry next Sunday, February, 11th.

Money collected will go to the St. Luke Mini-Vinnie Conference.

The soup will be donated to the Waukesha Food Pantry and MacCanon Brown Homeless Sanctuary.

Please be generous.

Dear People of St. Luke and Guests,

Greetings of Peace during these early days of February.

Last Sunday our scripture readings from Deuteronomy with Moses' prophetic ministry, and Mark's Gospel with the story of Jesus speaking prophetically with authority and his healing of a person experiencing a demon; Psalm 95, calling us to 'harden not our hearts,' and St. Paul encouraging us to waste no time with distractions, we focused on people prophesying today for good or ill, and our call to listen and be a prophetic voice in our society today.

'Prophetic work' is justice work. While visiting people in a homeless shelter in Rome Pope Francis said, "My sisters and brothers, you are the face of Christ." The same must be said of our sisters and brothers at the borders, in the Middle East and Ukraine. The Mac Canon Brown Homeless Shelter, St. Vincent de Paul Society, Hope Center, Monthly Grocery and other Collections; Lenten Alms for St. Pius X, Gbagalape, next Sunday's 'Souper Bowl Collection;' Catholic Stewardship Appeal-CSA 2024; March's Blood Drive, and more, all invite us to be 'prophetic' and 'do the work of Christmas' as we 'live into our Baptism.'

This Sunday's Gospel tells of Jesus healing Peter's mother-in-law. Jesus grasped her hand in healing. The fever left her and she was 'raised up' for service. Today's passage from Job gives voice to the struggle of humankind: that of making sense out of life's events and our beliefs.

This time following Epiphany – leading up to our 'Lenten journey from Ashes to the Living Font,' - is an ideal time for us to see with new eyes of the heart; understand in new ways; be healed and respond in Faith through service.

To see in new ways and allow the light of Christ to reveal new futures means old ideas and disparaging theologies or understandings of God and humanity have to die; then new life is born. We seem to be inundated with conspiracy theories today which war against the Truth. 'Lord, harden not our hearts' to new and deeper ways of seeing, understanding and embracing God's Presence in us, our relationships, people in need, our global family, earth, the skies; our environment.

Truth is timeless, yes, but how we apply Truth to the changes in our society and experiences of life and love can make all the difference in the world. May God's Spirit 'create in us a new heart bringing us to life' as we 'live into our Baptism.' I offer a reflection by Sister Joan Chittister, OSB, challenging us to rethink how we see God and humankind.

New Picture of God and Humanity by S. Joan Chittister, OSB

"What are we that you should care for us?" the psalmist asks God. The question is still a good one but the answers to it have shifted from age to age. When Renaissance artists turned to Greece for inspiration, they left a lesson to the art world that went far beyond the artistic styles of the past. But most of all, they modeled a way of going through life, as well.

"Michelangelo's Creation of Adam, for instance, makes a bold theological statement: The bond between God and Adam in this great work of art was clearly not based on submission. God reaches out to Adam to call him to life and to deputize him to bring that life to fullness. Adam, in one great glance of God, becomes bearer of the life of God.

"Creation becomes then as much a call to human agency as it is an instrument of God's will. In this rendering of the relationship between God and humankind, the human being is not weak and sinful and groveling. The human being, strong and virile, is created to be partner with God in the human enterprise. The human being rises to continue the work of God.

Creation of Adam by Michaelangelo

Michelangelo proclaims in full color and almost lifelike vigor that to be created is to be called to responsibility, to competency, to effectiveness.

"Without doubt, in Michelangelo's Creation of Adam, is the rising awareness of the exalted quality of the human spirit. This new notion of the dignity of humanity shines like a monument to the newly emerging humanism of the age. At the same time, the exaltation of classical theology's awareness that the power of humanity lies in the fact that the spark that brought it to life belongs not to itself but to God, remains a constant here.

"As Michelangelo paints, the human spirit pulses with an unfolding awareness of itself. In this new theological moment, the human being begins to be seen as partner not slave, powerful not weak, capable of grandeur and called to greatness. Creation shimmers with possibility.

"Now it's happening again. Now in our own time, creation is coming to an even more exciting understanding of itself. Notions of God as manipulator of the universe are disappearing. Now, the creator God, according to the science of our time, is understood to have seeded the heavens with life and then allowed the universe to work itself out, to become self-generating, to refuse to wait to be rescued from the evils it has itself created.

"Our time, too, is a moment to take a new look at the relationship between God, the human race and the world. It is a vibrant and vigorous and visionary world now in which whole new concepts of God are struggling to live.

"It is a time of new creation that requires us to rethink everything we have ever been taught about human beings and God. And think again. We must, it seems, not only develop a new picture of God but we must also develop a new picture of humanity, as well. Then it becomes clearer and clearer how God cares for us."

Pastor's Hip Replacement Surgery

By the time you read this I trust I will have been released from the Hospital following my hip replacement surgery. I reprint the original announcement for general information.

(Maybe Shawn or Fr. Charlie will have more to add as an update.)

Peace, Kenneth

As the old commercial for Gallo Wine puts it, 'We will sell no wine until it's time.' Well, 'It's time for my left hip replacement!' About a year and a half ago my primary care physician confirmed the diagnosis, 'A new hip is in your future.' I felt like I had just read the little white slip in a Fortune Cookie.

As a pastor I am blessed with many 'medical consultants,' aka parishioners who have had many parts replaced over time. The word on the street (in the parish) is, 'knees are more complicated; a hip, get it done!' Thanks for your advice and reassurance.

Well, on Friday, February 2nd, I will have a total left hip replacement by Dr. Thomas Parisi, of Orthopedic Institute of Wisconsin, and his team. Surgery will be at the Ascension Franklin Hospital on S. 27th Street. Following a night (or two) in the hospital I will be staying with friends for a few days until I feel comfortable returning to my home in Hales Corners for ongoing rehabilitation including Physical Therapy.

I thank the parishioners who have helped me prepare my home, like turning the dining room into a bedroom on the main floor and moving in a recliner. I am repositioning furniture widening a path around the house for my walker and yes, rolling up small throw rugs to avoid trip hazards. Most of you know the drill.

While I am away, my Dear Friend, a Senior Priest of the Archdiocese, Fr. Charlie Conley will be presiding over the Eucharist for Sundays (Feb. 4th, 11th, 18th ?), weekday Masses and anything else that comes up. If there is an emergency in need of a priest, (Anointing of the Sick, death) please call Jane Dunne, Administrative Assistant, in the Parish Office and she will reach out to Fr. Charlie, Bereavement Ministry; Cathy Smith, Pastoral Associate, or Mark Vanchena, Custodian, as appropriate. I rest assured knowing that you are in the best possible hands with Fr. Charlie and our dedicated Pastoral Staff and Parish Ministers. Please direct any liturgical questions to Shawn Rochon, Director of Music and Liturgy. I will work from home as much as possible and my regular 'behind the scenes duties' will be divided up among Staff and Parishioners.

In advance I thank you for your loving, caring concern, prayerful support for a quick and full recovery and for your cooperation. Prayers for patience are especially welcome. LOL

Thanks, and peace,
Your grateful pastor, Kenneth
