PALM SUNDAY

As he rode along, the people were spreading their cloaks on the road; the whole multitude of his disciples began to praise God aloud with joy for all the mighty deeds they had seen. - Lk 19:36, 37b

Palm Sunday of the Passion of the Lord

Palm Sunday is a strange day in our liturgical calendar. We begin by waving palms, but somewhere in the middle, we call for Jesus to be crucified. We celebrate today an equally paradoxical God, one who comes to save through suffering.

"I tell you, if they keep silent, the stones will cry out!" Jesus, who so often in the Gospels tries to hide his true identity, speaks thunderously to the Pharisees who would still the rejoicing crowd. At the Last Supper, Jesus confirms the Messianic promise to his disciples, saying, "I confer a kingdom on you, just as my Father has conferred one on me." Yet, before the night is over, Jesus has been betrayed.

We hear the tragedy unfold in Luke's Passion narrative. Jesus is abused by the council of elders, denied by Peter, whipped by Roman soldiers, and condemned to death by Pilate. However, what else do we see? Jesus heals someone who came to arrest him, forgives his torturers, promises a repentant man paradise, and - by his loving endurance - converts a centurion at the foot of the cross. Jesus is both Redeemer of the World and Suffering Servant. In taking on the mantle of Messiah, Jesus does not only receive our praise and our accolades, but he bears our burdens and sins and does so with the deepest love. He may go about our salvation in a paradoxical way, but he is dearer to our own suffering hearts for it. This week, we remember that no sorrow of our own is beyond the reach of the compassion of God.

BULLETIN BITES

“Rather, let the greatest among you be as the youngest, and the leader as the servant.”

In 2002, Robert Greenleaf caused a stir in management circles when he proposed the concept of “Servant Leadership” in a book by that title. He was in big demand as a motivational speaker. However, two thousand years earlier Jesus taught us to lead by serving, to lead by example. It was a concept that was unknown to the people in the time of Jesus. They were looking for a strong and charismatic person to lead them in a military conquest over the Romans. In addition, after two thousand years of Christianity, the concept leading by serving obviously seemed novel to many people when Greenleaf proposed it. Nevertheless, we Christians should know it. We are disciples of Jesus. We have learned about his life as a servant from Scripture and the teachings of the Church. We have the example of Jesus and the Apostolic Fathers and many saints who were models of leading others to Christ by serving. It was not easy for Jesus, the apostles, or the saints. It will not be easy for us. However, it is the “way, the truth and the life” we are called to.
