FROM THE SHARED PASTOR'S DESK:

VIRTUES – Part 7. So far in this series on the virtues, we have focused on the four cardinal virtues (sometimes called the ‘human virtues’ or ‘moral virtues’). In this article, we now make a shift from those human virtues to what are called the theological virtues. The theological virtues are: faith, hope, and love. We will focus first on these three virtues in general, and in the next article, begin to focus on each of them individually. To begin, I will quote at length from the Catechism of the Catholic Church because it summarizes the theological virtues far better than I could possibly do. The theological virtues:

“dispose Christians to live a relationship with the Holy Trinity. They have One and Triune God as their origin, motive and object.” (CCC 1812).

Going on it says:

“The theological virtues are the foundation of Christian moral activity... They are infused by God into the souls of the faithful to make them capable of acting as his children and of meriting eternal life. They are a pledge and action of the Holy Spirit in the faculties of the human being.” (CCC 1813)

The difference between the human virtues and the theological virtues is this: The theological virtues are first and foremost a gift from God. Certainly, it’s a gift that has to be unwrapped and used. It’s a gift that takes time to learn how to make best use of it and to allow it to grow. But, it’s essential to understand that faith, hope and love begin with God’s generosity, not ours.

On September 8, we celebrate the Nativity of Mary. In the Latin Rite, we don’t celebrate very many birthdays in the liturgical calendar. Mostly, we celebrate those of Jesus, Mary, and St John the Baptist. Celebrating Mary’s birthday again calls us to remember the great things that God has done in Mary. It reminds us to ask for her help so that we can become better friends with her Son each day of our lives. It would be fitting to have a piece of cake, too, to help us celebrate this great Feast in our homes and with our children.

You may have noticed over the course of the summer, that we have been slowly been making a return to having servers assisting at Mass again. If your child has made his or her First Communion and want to become a server, please reach out to me for training or re-training – as we hope to put together a regular schedule and sign-up for servers.

On a final note, I hope that all of our students have had a good first few days of school!

Thank you to those who have answered God's call to teach our children his Word and how to live in relationship with Him. We are still in need of 1 teacher for Middle School grade. If you feel God's calling, please contact Sandi as soon as possible.

If you have not registered your child(ren) yet, please do so as soon as possible so classes rosters can be completed and enough materials are available.
