Who Am I Working For?

To find a greater meaning and experience of our everyday work, consider every job you do throughout the day as a Parable. It will challenge you to think about your own work and how we can imitate God in what we do every day.

We often think about the instrumental value of work. For example, we work to make money so we can meet our families' needs or provide financial support for our church ministries. We also might identify how our work contributes to more important jobs—like how a medical supplier distributes instruments so a surgeon can do the “more important” job of performing life-saving surgeries, or how a construction worker hangs drywall in a new school so teachers can educate children.

But we do not always think about how the immediate actions of our jobs reflect God, too. Manufacturing companies reflect God's work as creator. Recycling centers demonstrate how God makes things new. Daycares imitate God as caregiver. As we serve in our professions, we reflect God not just in what we do but in who we are. Our jobs show how we reflect, honor and connect us with God now.

I encourage you to find God in your work. And I assure you that God is present in your job too, no matter what that job is. The idea of our jobs as a parable teaches us to know and experience God in all of life, even the places we least expect to.

- Deacon Mike

PRAYER FOR THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, fan into flame the gifts
I received in my Baptism and Confirmation.

I want to receive the fire of Your love
as Your disciples did at Pentecost.

Come with wonder and awe,
with wisdom, understanding, and counsel,
with courage and faith in You.

Holy Spirit, may my actions witness to Your presence in my life.

Help me to see the ways my strengths can serve others in their weakness.

In all my interactions, I want to radiate love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, generosity, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control.

Breathe new life into the world through me.

Amen.
