Culture of Encouragement

You have probably heard me voice my frustrations concerning certain church words that do not seem to connect with many people's lived experiences. My predecessor, Fr. Pat Brennan, was one of the most brilliant promoters and developers of Evangelization in the country. He even admitted that Evangelization is a church term with which most Catholics struggle. Other words include discipleship, formation, even Paschal Mystery and certainly transubstantiation.

I spent eight years in the Vocation Office for the Archdiocese of Chicago and I traveled all over the country giving presentations and missions that included another one of those words – CALL. I hosted gatherings that helped people clarify if that call was leading to some type of ministry in the Church, lay ministry, religious life or priesthood. However, it opened up a lifelong fascination of mine concerning how people end up doing what they do for a living, a career, a livelihood.

When I first arrived at Holy Family, I had a vision to create a 'Culture of Call.' I was informed that most people do not know what Call means. Even here at Holy Family, which has such a strong grounding in Vatican II, people seem a bit confused by the term. However, I have been SO inspired by so many of you who understand that concept and share my philosophy and definition of CALL. I also continue to experience people who do not think God could possibly call them.

What it means to me and I believe to most people is that God initiates a purpose for our lives, every one of us. The Second Vatican Council encourages us to see that we are all called by God for some purpose, not just some of us. We have unique talents and God encourages us to use our talents in the most meaningful way to make the world a better place.

That seems relatively simple. By 'Culture of Call' I mean that we help God by encouraging each other to respond to God's call. We can be agents of God's call by doing very simple things.

We can reassure each other that God does have a purpose for each of us. We can be a source of support for each other when we struggle with finding that purpose. We can be open to the fact that the purpose may change, evolve, or shift. We may point out each other's talents and how meaningfully they can be expressed.

We can also use very simple language of encouragement. By that, I mean that we can observe each other, particularly younger people, and share our observations of their talents and skills. Based on those observations we may simply ask if they have ever thought about pursuing a certain career.

For example, "Have you ever thought about being a lawyer?" The person we ask has two possible answers, yes or no. If the answer is yes, perhaps we are reinforcing something that God has already begun in them. If the answer is no, we may be planting a seed of encouragement that God needs from us.

But let me be clear; your suggestion must be based on what you or others have seen in that person. A good follow up should be, "Because I see that you possess or demonstrate attributes and talents that would best be used as, say, a lawyer."

The final piece of encouragement might be saying, "Well, if you decided to become a lawyer, you would make a good one."

We have a Gospel story about Call this weekend. Jesus directly calls Andrew, Peter James and John. He invites them to be fishers of people. This is not only a brilliant use of words that connect their current life with a new one, but I believe it is based on Jesus' observation that they were very good fishermen. I believe they were dedicated and hard working. Jesus was direct and convincing. I believe he instituted the 'Culture of Call' because they went on to encourage so many others.

Jesus may not call us as directly as those first disciples, so let's provide some encouraging assistance for each other in responding to God's CALL in our lives.

I guess I still want a 'Culture of Call' here at Holy Family and it could more simply be named a 'Culture of Encouragement.'

2024 Lenten Social Justice Project

Holy Family's 2024 Lenten Social Justice Project will take our parish to the Helena diocese in the far western part of beautiful and rugged Montana. This diocese is vast – covering 51,000 square miles. Small mission churches serve the very poor. Specifically, the St. Ignatius Mission, in St. Ignatius, consisting of three communities: The Mission, Sacred Heart Mission in Arlee and St. John Berchmans in Jocko, understands the Native American culture and its tribal traditions and weaves them together with the Catholic Faith. In the coming weeks, we will learn more about the Bitterroot Salish tribe, the lay women who are serving this community and the great need they have for our support.

Catholic social teaching is the foundation of all our Lenten Social Justice Projects. Let's be reminded of the 7 key themes:

Life and Dignity of the Human Person - The Catholic Church proclaims that human life is sacred and that the dignity of the human person is the foundation of a moral vision for society. Our belief in the sanctity of human life and the inherent dignity of the human person is the foundation of all the principles of our social teaching. We believe that every person is precious, that people are more important than things, and that the measure of every institution is whether it threatens or enhances the life and dignity of the human person.

Call to Family, Community, and Participation - The person is not only sacred but also social. How we organize our society in economics and politics, in law and policy directly affects human dignity and the capacity of individuals to grow in community. The family is the central social institution that must be supported and strengthened, not undermined. We believe people have a right and a duty to participate in society, seeking together the common good and well-being of all, especially the poor and vulnerable.

Rights and Responsibilities - The Catholic tradition teaches that human dignity can be protected and a healthy community can be achieved only if human rights are protected and responsibilities are met. Therefore, every person has a fundamental right to life and a right to those things required for human decency. Corresponding to these rights are duties and responsibilities to one another, to our families, and to the larger society.

Option for the Poor and Vulnerable - A basic moral test is how our most vulnerable members are faring. We are called to look at public policy decisions in an effort to achieve the common good, giving special attention to those with special needs and to put the needs of the poor and vulnerable first.

The Dignity of Work and the Rights of Workers - The economy must serve people, not the other way around. Work is more than a way to make a living; it is a form of continuing participation in God's creation. If the dignity of work is to be protected, then the basic rights of workers must be respected the right to productive work, to decent and fair wages, to organize and join unions, to private property, and to economic initiative.

Solidarity - We are our brothers' and sisters' keepers, wherever they live. We are one human family, whatever our national, racial, ethnic, economic, and ideological differences. Learning to practice the virtue of solidarity, learning that "loving our neighbor" has global dimensions in an interdependent world.

Care for God's Creation - We show our respect for the Creator by our stewardship of creation. Care for the earth is not just an Earth Day slogan, it is a requirement of our faith. We are called to protect people and the planet, living our faith in relationship with all of God's creation. This environmental challenge has fundamental moral and ethical dimensions that cannot be ignored.

Angela's Piazza, just outside the Crow Reservation, was the first stop on our immersion trip. Angela's empowers 1500 women every year through outreach, addiction recovery, and parenting classes as well as offering a safe refuge for vulnerable women seeking to forge a hopeful future. Women who have been served by Angela's create these medallions as part of their healing and growth process.

At 7:00 pm in the Church

Fr. Gregory Boyle, SJ

"Here is what we seek: a compassion that can stand in awe at what the poor have to carry rather than stand in judgement at how they carry it."

We are excited to add a soul-stirring new speaker to our BE MORE Program! We welcome Fr. Greg Boyle, SJ to Holy Family who will join us on Monday, February 26, 2024 at 7:00 pm.

Fr. Boyle is the founder of Homeboy Industries, the largest gang intervention, rehab and re-entry program in the world. Through the creation of a community of kinship, love and hope, along with training and support for previously incarcerated people, Homeboy Industries serves thousands of people who seek to transform their lives each year and become contributing members of their community.

At Homeboy, individuals are met with an approach that challenges the usual systems of incarceration and punishment to end violence. The approach is: treat gang members like human beings.

Fr. Boyle has received the California Peace Prize and has been inducted into the California Hall of Fame. He was named Champion of Change by President Obama in 2014. He also received the Laetare Medal from Notre Dame University.

Fr. Boyle is the author of:

Tattoos on the Heart: The Power of Boundless Compassion
Barking to the Choir: The Power of Radical Kinship
The Whole Language: The Power of Extravagant Tenderness
Forgive Everyone Everything

Please mark your calendar and invite your friends to join us for this evening of reflection on what it means to BE MORE Compassionate, MORE tender, MORE forgiving...

Visit www.homeboyindustries.org for more information about Fr. Boyle's work.

Faithful Fathers

The Faithful Fathers SCC-GiG is a community of men seeking to become better husbands, fathers, and Catholics. Our gatherings consist of M3: Meditation, Message, Meal.

Meditation: 20 minutes of Adoration in silence in front of the Blessed Sacrament where we focus on Grace moments in our lives.

Message (and Discussion): Catholic Content from Bishop Barron Word of Fire Ministry. We are currently finishing “The Seven Deadly Sins”, which is to be followed by a deeper look into the Grace we receive in the Sacraments and how they enhance Grace moments in our ordinary life.

Meal (and Fellowship): Dinner is provided for those who attend at no cost.

We meet in the Chapel, from 7:00-8:30 PM, on the second Tuesday of every month. Please join us! For more information, please email sccgig@holyfamilyparish.org.

Franciscan Spirituality - Fr. Richard Rohr

We have two new SCC-GiGs focused on the writings of Fr. Richard Rohr. Fr. Rohr is a noted Franciscan priest, speaker, and author on spirituality rooted in the Franciscan tradition. We are currently reading and discussing Fr. Rohr’s book Immortal Diamond: The Search for Our True Self. One group meets on the second and fourth Wednesday mornings, 10:00-11:30 AM, and the other meets every other Thursday evening, 7:00-8:30 PM.

If you are interested in joining one of the groups, please contact Dennis Brown (dbrown@holyfamilyparish.org) for Wednesday mornings and Chester Trocha (sccgig@holyfamilyparish.org) for Thursday evenings.
