Message from Father Cory Rohlfing

Mark 16:15: And he said to them, "Go into all the world and proclaim the good news to the whole creation."

When Christ blesses, it happens. When He blesses the Eucharist, he is there for us. Christ blesses his apostles. He also wants to bless me and my work. These are not just events of the past, for God's word is a living word. He also wants to bless me and my work. How can I draw down Christ's blessing upon me, my family, the people I love, and the work I do? All I have to do is ask Him to bless me and believe He can and wants to. He will take care of the rest.

Imagine the apostles talking after the Ascension. Andrew might say to Peter, "Peter, Christ told us to preach to all nations." "You are right, Andrew, we need to go to the next town," Peter would agree. "No," Andrew would urge, "we have to go to Athens and Rome." Peter might object, "Athens and Rome! But we don't know anyone there." In an attempt to persuade him, Andrew would add, "Peter, Jesus wanted us to begin here in Jerusalem because this is the largest Jewish city. However, he has shown he has also called the Gentiles to the Church. We must go to their capitals, their cities of greatest influence, so they too might hear the message Jesus entrusted to us." Despite their fears, they obeyed Christ and proclaimed the good news in new places.

Now it is our turn. As it always has been, being an apostle today is difficult. As we get older, it gets harder. Nevertheless, it is our turn. We live at a crossroads of history. I know Christ is blessing me. He is sending me. I feel fear, but I know he is asking me to imitate the fidelity of the first apostles. He is only waiting for me to begin preaching so that he can bless all that I undertake in his name.

God bless,
Fr. Cory Rohlfing
