Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time
July 4, 2021

*When the sabbath came he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were astonished.
They said, "Where did this man get all this? What kind of wisdom has been given him? What mighty deeds are wrought by his hands!"*

-Mk 6:2

THE WORD

The poet Gerard Manley Hopkins was a fascinating character in English literature. He became a Jesuit priest, and when he was ordained, he gave up writing poetry for a period of time, because he wanted to devote his time to spiritual matters. Later in life, he wrote more poems.

One of his famous poems he wrote earlier in life for which he is remembered is "God's Grandeur." It starts off with the following: "The world is charged with the grandeur of God. It will flame out like shining from shook foil."

"The world is charged with the grandeur of God." When something is charged, there's something more than what can be seen by the human eye. So, this phenomenon seems to be a problem both here and now plus in the time of Jesus' day.

In Sunday's Gospel, people are asking about our Lord, "Is he not the carpenter, son of Mary,...?" They were astonished that this ordinary looking man who was like them could have such wisdom and perform such extraordinary deeds.

Of course, today's people are shocked that God uses ordinary things, such as bread, wine, oil, and water to make Himself present. In the document, From Christendom to Apostolic Mission published by the University of Mary, we read, "Not just at Mass, but all the time, we are living in a sacramental reality: we inhabit both a visible and invisible world; we make our way through an intermingling of the seen and unseen such that what happens on the visible plane has implications in the vast invisible world. Our bodies are sacramental, a mingling of the spiritual and the material..." (Page 68)

The Gospel says our Lord "was amazed at their lack of faith." Would our Lord react in the same way with respect to the current Western world, to our scientific world that claims that the only reality is what can be measured, weighed, seen, or touched?

No, reality is much larger, more grand than that. Our world is "charged with the grandeur of God." And that's exciting. "In the Christian vision, to be human is to be involved in an extraordinary adventure. The greatest adventure stories ever written are only echoes of it, pale shadows of what the lowliest human is in truth undergoing. This drama began before we were born and will continue after we die, and each of us has been given a unique role to play in it." (ibid., page 70)

Teach me, O Lord, to know Your will, and give me the strength and courage to live out that will.

John Sondag
Director of Religious Education

FR. DALY BREAD

Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom (2 Cor. 3:17). Freedom and liberty is not doing what I want, when I want, and how I want – that is licentiousness, which leads to debauchery; freedom and liberty is the ability to do what I ought to do, the ability to choose the good, the ability to follow God, which leads to virtue and strength. For freedom Christ has set us free; stand fast therefore, and do not submit again to a yoke of slavery. [...] For you were called to freedom, brethren; only do not use your freedom as an opportunity for the flesh, but through love be servants of one another. For the whole law is fulfilled in one word, “You shall love your neighbor as yourself (Gal. 5:1, 13). This Independence Day, let us celebrate the deepest freedom which Jesus won for us through His Precious Blood and live in interior freedom as Children of the Light

In Christ, Fr. Michael
