SUNDAY OF LENT

Jesus took Peter, James, and John and led them up a high mountain apart by themselves. And he was transfigured before them, and his clothes became dazzling white, such as no fuller on earth could bleach them. - Mk 9:2-3

WEEKLY LENT REFLECTION

In the Desert: A Lenten Journey

"The kingdom of God is at hand. Repent and believe in the gospel." (Mark 1:15)

We have been in the desert with Jesus for one week now, how are you doing? Has this one week gone fast or slow? What did you do this past week of Lent? Did you allow Jesus to accompany you in your heart and daily life through the desert? As we journey on, it's important to reflect on our past experiences in order to move forward into what's to come. This past week I experienced the starkness of the desert and I felt as though

I was only surviving, not thriving. Life was busy for me this past week with juggling work, hosting family at my home, and helping family members with child care. Not to mention my husband and I have been on opposite schedules and didn't see each other much. Long story short, my life was thrown out of balance. However, throughout this past week in the desert I kept last Sunday's Gospel in mind, specifically the last verse: "The kingdom of God is at hand. Repent and believe in the gospel." The Kingdom. The Kingdom of God is at hand. Those words give me chills because it shakes me awake to the realization that I have a mission in this Kingdom. I have a mission to do God's Will in my life and it is my responsibility to learn and understand His Will, so that I may help build the Kingdom. This responsibility fuels my every action, idea, and value. I have a great obligation to be the hands and feet of Christ here on Earth, so no matter what, I cannot slack on this duty. Even though my life was out of balance, I began and ended the week in the presence of Christ. I made sure to spend quality time with Jesus, listening, praising, and thanking Him for being present with me in the desert. And with every minute spent in prayer and the presence of Christ, I am growing, transforming, and finding my purpose.

As we move forward into our second week in the desert, remember that you too have a responsibility to learn, understand, and do God's Will in your life. Building the Kingdom of God is not an easy task, but it is the most important and meaningful task we have as disciples of Christ. If your last week was anything like mine and it's been difficult to find a moment to spend with Jesus, but I encourage you to start by spending time in prayer just at the beginning of your week and at the end. Listen to how God wants you to go about the new week at the beginning and reflect with God about how it went when the seven days have passed. Our transformation in the desert will only happen if we open our hearts and spend the time with Christ in prayer and allow Him to work through us.

Looking forward into our second week of Lent, what does God want us to focus on? How can we better serve God's people? Where is God calling us to be this week? What is God's Will in our lives and how can we build the Kingdom of God today? Let's reflect on these questions, spend time in prayer, and peacefully jump into the second week out in the desert together. Jesus is here in the desert with us and I can't wait to see what He has in store.

GOSPEL REFLECTION

2ND SUNDAY OF LENT

A pregnant woman was walking in the store and met an old friend. Her friend exclaimed, "You are absolutely beaming!" The new life God placed in her womb radiated throughout her body. It was brightly visible on her face and in her eyes. Transformation and change usually happen from the inside out. It is very rare that simply imposing structure from the outside does any good. Yes, it is true that routines and habits can change when things are done differently. But, for this change to last there has to be an interior renewal and metamorphosis as well. Simply regulating behavior and bringing someone into conformity with accepted protocols doesn't mean their heart and soul come with them.

Peter was a homeless man who lived in a very remote and rudimentary tent community. He was happy to make his daily trip to McDonald's and always welcomed a gift card or two so that he could buy some coffee and something to eat. A generous advocate worked to secure him an apartment in hopes of moving Peter out of his makeshift housing and into something safer. Peter finally got the grand tour of his new "digs," received his own key, remarked how wonderful the place was, closed the door behind him when they left and never returned. He preferred his tent. No matter how much things changed on the outside, Peter was happy where he was. A poignant lesson was learned that day.

How is your Lent going? By now you ought to have a sense of whether you're really "into it" this year and something transformational is happening. For many, it's only the stuff on the outside that changes for a few weeks and then they return to business as usual. For others, there are some real inner changes happening that are deepening their relationships with God, others, self, and creation. If we are serious about moving to a new place and radiating with the presence of new life and joy, then we have to clear the way to listen for God's call. Then, there is God's request to change things up a bit and order our lives differently. After realizing we have been called and given a mission, we have to trust that this is where we need to be. And then, after all of this hard work we are asked to act. The fruit that is revealed will indicate whether our journey is authentic. The brilliance of conversion will begin to shine on our faces as we contemplate the One to whom we are asked to listen.
