THE EUCHARIST IS A MYSTERY TO BE CELEBRATED

This week's column is the second in a three part series highlighting the Eucharistic Legacy of Pope Benedict XVI by Dr. Tim O'Malley, University of Notre Dame.

Of course, most of us experience (as Benedict XVI notes) the Eucharist not as a series of intellectual propositions but a concrete, religious practice. We go to Mass. But if there is anything that has the potential to rip apart the Church right now, it's a discussion of the Mass.

Go into any parish in the United States, and you will find people with definite thoughts about how the Eucharist should be celebrated. It should include only chant, or it should never include chant. It should be done only in Latin or never in Latin. The priest should face the same direction as the people who are praying (toward the east) or the priest should face the people as he is praying. We should put up altar rails again, or we should take them all down.

Benedict XVI had little patience with this kind of liturgical in-fighting. It once again misses what is happening in the Eucharistic mystery: the advent of Jesus Christ who comes, himself, to feed us with his Body and Blood as we remember and give thanks for what God has accomplished, living out through this prayer our primordial creatures made for praise. This is the mystery of love that we must actively participate in. Benedict XVI quotes from Vatican II on this point, reminding us that:

"...the faithful 'should be instructed by God's word and nourished at the table of the Lord's Body. They should give thanks to God. Offering the immaculate Victim, not only through the hands of the priest but also together with him, they should learn to make an offering of themselves. Through Christ, the Mediator, they should be drawn day by day into ever more perfect union with God and each other.'" (Sacramentum Caritatis, no. 52)

A Eucharistic Revival, therefore, will attend to the formation of the priest and the faithful alike in this kind of active participation. Active participation is recognizing that what we pray at Mass is intended to lead us more deeply into union with God and one another. We listen to Sacred Scripture, chewing upon the sweet words of salvation in the assembly with one another. We each make the offering of the Eucharist. The priest does so in the person of Christ and the Church and the assembly as the baptized faithful called to make their whole lives a return gift of love to the Father.

Active participation, therefore, is less about teaching people more things about the Mass—telling people things about things. It is instead a spiritual formation, fostering in us the kind of disposition that leads us into fruitful celebration of the Eucharist. We must learn to listen to the Scriptures in the silence of our hearts. We must cultivate an awareness in our lives of the places where we need God's love to come to us. We must celebrate liturgies that lead us into this kind of participation, where the drama of salvation is at stake in the celebration of the Mass.

And yes, we need to reflect on the ways that God is acting among us in the Eucharistic rites, as Benedict XVI notes. We must undertake an education where each of us learns to live faithfully what we celebrate in the rites (cf. Sacramentum Caritatis, no. 64). Again, let me be concrete. I am a dad and a professor, a husband and a friend. When I go to Mass or pause before the Eucharist in a quiet chapel, I do not participate in this worship apart from these relationships that define me as a person. I bring them along with me.

As a dad, I worry about my kids, whether they will pursue the good life rather than lead a life dedicated to pursuit of self-interest alone. I worry about whether as a husband my relationship with my wife reflects the love of Christ and the Church that is at the heart of the sacrament. I worry about my students, the anxiety that seems to control their lives. This is what I bring to the Eucharistic altar. All of this. I offer it back to the triune God. I pledge to make these spaces of worry in my life occasions of deeper conversion and love. Benedict XVI wanted this kind of active participation, and it's precisely the kind of work we need to do to foster a Eucharistic Revival.

EUCHARISTIC ADORATION OPPORTUNITIES

The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed in the St. Patrick Chapel Tuesday through Saturday from 8 PM to 9 PM.

FOUNDATION FOR THE FUTURE

Today we share fantastic news for the future of Saint Patrick Parish. The vacant land north of the Parish Office is officially ours as of January 12th. Think of the possibilities that lie ahead! Adjacent land is in short supply and rarely available. With this purchase we have established a foundation for the future—a foundation for parish and education expansion and the ability to ensure development in our neighborhood is consistent with our needs and our mission.

We also gained 26 parking spaces (14 south of Richardson's Funeral Home and 12 at 6th and Washington) and have avoided competition for nearby street parking with the elimination of a potential business and apartment building on the newly cleared land.

As you may recall from the letter Father Ivan mailed to you in November, we first made an offer on this property 18 years ago. Our prayers have been answered.

Parish leadership has been working behind the scenes to prepare for this exciting day and the future of our parish. As Father explained, the Archdiocese has extended us a line of credit for this campaign. While exploring the long-term possibilities this land brings, we have also considered near-term uses of the property, upcoming maintenance on our parish campus, and the existing CGS (Catechesis of the Good Shepherd) project we need to complete. We can't forget the present as we consider the foundation for the future.

As Father said, we will be starting a parish-wide campaign in 2023. The $1.5 million we need to raise includes the cost of the land, asphalt work on existing property, heating and some cooling at the Education Center, and still-needed funds for CGS expansion. Once detailed due diligence is completed on how best to use and develop the new land, a separate plan will be presented detailing future parish use. First things first, we need to pay for the land to establish our foundation for the future. We thank those who have already stepped forward with gifts in 2022 to provide a foundation towards our initial $1.5 million goal.

Please consider how you can be part of the change and expansion the Lord has in store for us. If you would like to be on either our campaign or property development team, contact Pastoral Council Chair Laura Schaefer at lauraschaefer@g.com or Business Administrator Regena Huffman at rhuffman@saintpatrickcf.org.

The committee will formally launch the initial financial campaign for the property and current needs in April, but donations and pledges for our three-year campaign are welcome at any time. Until then, for more information, visit our Foundation for the Future Campaign page, saintpatrickcf.org/foundation-for-the-future.
